Eighteen hundred and ninety-one!
The old year out, and the new begun!
A record closed with its black and white,
Of all that's wrong, and all that's right,
Never again to see the sun—1891!
Eighteen hundred and ninety-one—
The greatest deeds may yet be done—
The new white book is open wide—
The pen of gold lies at our side,
Oh, my daughter! Oh, my son!—1891!
Eighteen hundred and ninety-one!
What to count and what to shun
Seems a mystery to us all,
On this strange terrestrial ball;
How a victory may be won, 1891!
Eighteen hundred and ninety-one!
Thus bright records are begun—
Taking consience as one's guide—
Keeping fair truth at one's side—
Then the race may well be run—1891!

THE NEW YEAR'S EVE TRAGEDY.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY M. J. O'NEILL.

It was New Year's Eve, and a pleasant throng of pedestrians sauntered gaily down the brilliantly lighted main street of C——, which was lined on both sides with glowing windows, still decked out in green festoons and bright red berries, and gay with a wealth of articles, useful and ornamental; tempting, too, if judged by the pleased faces at the windows and the throngs of purchasers inside.

Conspicuous in the windows also appeared the lithograph portrait of the famous prima donna, Mlle. Celeste, who was to appear that night in "Norma," and who had, as the local critics averred with pardonable pride, "enthralled her hearers" for several nights previous. Very fair and very proud, with regular and beautiful features framed in a glossy wealth of raven hair, and lit with a most magnificent pair of eyes, as dark as the smooth hair itself, looked the sweet songstress in the picture, and many were the admiring glances cast upon it by the young men of C——, and many the jealous looks darted by the belles of the city; either of which, if bestowed on the original of the the portrait, would have made that young lady feel decidedly queer, but neither of which she encountered, fortunately.

Heedless of the falling, feathery snow, a laughing group of young girls chattered a string of comments on the lithograph, that peeped out from a nest of lace and ribbon in the window of the principal millinery store. Shudderingly they crowded back, to avoid the frantic looking, wild eyed man who forced his way into their midst, and, leaning his long neck and longer body forward, gazed fiercely out of his bloodshot eyes at the smiling face of the portrait, while he passed his fingers through his unkempt hair—aye, even tore it out of his head, and muttered brokenly to himself. Long he gazed, with that peculiar look of a famished and at once a fascinated being.

Strange were his actions, as the girls, now very quiet, looked into his woe begone and pale face, and each involuntarily held her breath and noted how the changes were marked on the varying features of the stranger. They noticed, too, how at times the sallow face lit up with a weird sort of intelligence, and then again appeared vacant, save for an odd smile which occasionally flitted over it, with just a bare tinge of recognition in it.

Suddenly a great change seemed wrought in the entire being of the gazer. Enraged, he peered into the unconscious eyes of the portrait, as though he would question their owner then and there, and once he shaded his eager eyes with a hand almost as thin and transparent as the window glass through which he gazed, and tapped his forehead, as though to recall something from the past.

"Ah, ha!" he cried, "at last! at last!" then with a laugh, loud, wild and fierce, he shouted "Norma Opera House," and forcing his way through the crowd, which his words had assailed, he fled, like one beside himself with horror, down the white street, ever muttering as he went.

* * * * * * * *

"The house closed and dark—impossible!"

"No opera? What can be the reason?"

"Shameful, and the city filled with advertisements that 'Norma' would be sung tonight; why, it cannot be!"

These and sundry other ejaculations, many of them in a different tone, assailed the ears of the local manager as he stepped from a window in the front of the Opera House, and horrified the assembled thousands by telling them that there would be no opera that night, because the fair young prima donna had been foully murdered, within the last half hour. So unexpectedly fell the horrible news upon the listening ears of the crowd that but few of them heard the concluding words—that the money for all seats purchased and paid for in advance would be refunded, in proper time.

The prima donna murdered! She, whose sweet voice had so thrilled them, and whose bright smiles had so charmed them! Dead! Well, who was the foul murderer? Where was he? Was he captured? If not, why not? These were the questions asked by excited knots here, there and everywhere. Even the children who were out shopping with parents, forgot their innocent interest in the store windows, for the time being, to look pityingly on the handsome portrait at which the elder people pointed, while they whispered: "So sudden, so young and fair—dead!"

But a whole city full cannot be long disturbed with any murder, no matter how atrocious, especially on New Year's Eve, and so the counters were soon lined again, and the windows blurred by breath, fair and foul, and things seemed to go on much as before; but back in the long, dimly lighted and narrow entrance to the stage of the opera house, just where she was stricken down, her costly and fashionable garments fouled with her crimson blood, lay the remains of the beautiful Celeste. With that incomprehensible and foolish observance of a silly law, to leave undisturbed the dead until the red tape with which our coroners' offices are hedged in should be unwound, and that august official, the coroner, could find time to "view" the body. Well, the body was viewed finally, the wise (?) head of the coroner was shaken, and all the other wise heads and wise tongues in the vicinity, but the murderer was unknown and undiscovered.

On a low stool where the dim lamps above threw a ghastly ray upon his bent figure, the heart broken father of the dead girl sat dejectedly with his sorrowful head bent on his trembling hands; nor did he give a sign of life until rude hands were about to be lain on the cold form of his daughter, to remove it to the inside of the theatre.

Then, as though he feared further violence would be offered to the inanimate clay, he threw himself with a deep and broken sob across the prostrate form. With that silent awe and respect which always makes itself manifest in the presence of grief and death, the curious crowd fell back.

Slowly the old man bent with heavy heart over the body, and tenderly he parted the tangled locks, and kissed the pallid brow; then, in a tone long to be remembered, rising to his feet, he called down the vengeance of heaven on the hand that had slain his daughter.

There was silence for a minute following the impassioned utterances of the grief stricken father, and then on the frosty night air rang out a demoniacal laugh, which froze the blood in the veins of the hearers, and with it sprang from the seclusion of a remote portion of the dark entry way, a tall form, with blazing eyes, unkempt hair falling over an uncovered head, and an arm upraised, still holding the knife which had snapped the life chords of his victim.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the frightful being. "Celeste! my Celeste! Norma, she has fled from me, but I'll follow!" and ere anyone present could prevent him, with unerring aim and a force which drove the cold steel clear through his body, piercing his heart, he fell across the body of the dead girl, just as the silver bells, high in the church spire near, rang out the midnight hour.

Loudly rang the merry chimes, and all who heard them bowed in silence, for a new year had been born.

* * * * * * *

There were two coffins and two hearses at the head of the funeral procession which wound its slow way from the opera house to the little, quiet cemetery, two days later, and such banks of flowers as never greeted even the popular Celeste on any stage, filled the sombre hearses. The bodies of the victim and the slayer were placed side by side, and that night, as the old men sat around the cheerful fire in the office of the hotel, to hear Dr. Blank, the grayhaired keeper of the insane asylum, tell the story of the tragedy, one could almost have heard the soft snow fall on the graves of the dead. The story he told was briefly as follows:

"Just twenty years ago on New Year's night, the mansion of young Harry Dunlap had been thrown open to a gay throng, who came to see the young master of the house wedded to the lady of his choice. There were music and flowers and merriment, gay and fashionable turnouts, bearing fashionable ladies and gentlemen, and the time flew swiftly by until the hour set for the marriage had arrived, but all were doomed to disappointment. Like a thunderbolt came the announcement that the young bride to be had flown at the last moment with the manager of the opera company which had just closed an engagement in the town. 'Norma' had been sung that night, and, at the close of the performance, the false young woman had decamped with the man of her choice.

"The blow proved too much for the mind of the prospective bridegroom, and the following day he was quietly taken to Dr. Blank's asylum. For twenty years he remained there, when, eluding his guards, he escaped and made his way to the city. The sight of the lithograph, the face in the portrait and the name of the opera—with one of those unaccountable turns of the human brain which science fails to grasp—brought back to the whirling mind of the madman that night so long ago, and in a frenzy he ran to the Opera House and killed the girl, as she entered by the stage way.

"The rest you know," concluded the doctor; "but you probably are not aware that the father of the murdered girl was the same manager who, twenty years ago, ran off with that girl's mother, the young woman who was to marry Harry Dunlap. The moment the manager saw the face of the suicidal murderer two nights ago, and heard his voice, as though the hand of Providence was shown in all of it, he, too, went mad, and tomorrow I take him to the cell which Harry has exchanged for a narrower, but let us hope, an easier one. Gentlemen, good night."

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY EARLE REMINGTON.

'Bout now the good young man denies
Himself his noonday lunch,
And, 'stead of Reinas, smokes cheroots
At fifteen cents a bunch.

He never rides upon the cars,
But walks the live long day,
And when it comes to ferry boats
He tries to beat his way.

And whence this new economy?
And whither does it drift?
Why? can't you see? he wants to buy
His girl a New Year's gift.

On New Year's Day she'll wear the ring
That cost him many a dollar,
While he, poor silly, gets a plated
Button for his collar.

SUSIE HOWARD.

This week we present a portrait of Susie Howard, a bright little soubrette, who has won success and respect by her careful and painstaking efforts on the stage. Miss Howard is a Cincinnatian, having first seen the light of day in the Queen City of the West. When quite young she found the stage so much to her liking that she decided to adopt it as a profession. During her career as an actress she has appeared in many notable successes. In August, 1889, Miss Howard married R. J. Sullivan, under whose management she is at present starring in her new play, "Nell, the Waif."

WHAT HE WOULD DO.

MR. BINGO.—Tommy, when you get to be the head of a family, what will you say to your sons?

TOMMY (thoughtfully).—I will tell them how good I was when I was a boy.

ONLY A PINAPEE.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

The circus and menagerie were on their annual Southern tour. They dropped into Norfolk, Virginia, which is acknowledged by all to be one of the best show towns the other side of the Potomac River. They anchored at the head of Church Street, after being escorted from the railroad depot by the usual crowd of colored people, who always go wild with delight when the animals come to town. In three hours after the tents were pitched, the artists of the ring commenced a moral entertainment for the benefit of the citizens of the "Ancient Borough."

The house was crowded with all classes of people, from the colored man, who shucked oysters during the day and did the cake walk at night, to the children of the wealthy, who longed for months to see the clown and the animals perform. Applause followed each act, thus showing that the audience had received their money's worth, but there was another star attached to the show who attracted more attention than all else combined. He was a lion of majestic size, and as fierce looking as possible to contemplate. His keeper, who seemed to be on good terms with his majesty, strode up and down in front of the cage, expatiating on the merits and peculiar characteristics of his ward, and every now and then he would get off a stereotyped speech, something like the following: "Ladies and gentlemen, this is the monarch of the forest, the king of all beasts; gentle as a child, playful as a kitten, but when tried he can lick anything in creation."

Charley Reynolds is the wag of Norfolk. He is at present a lieutenant of police, and had been in the same position before, though at the time spoken of he was idly hanging on his oars, as he was not in accord with the politics of the municipal government. Charley had time, however, to attend the circus, and after gazing on the spangles and trappings for a while he wandered in the direction where the wild animals were holding a levee and receiving the compliments of their visitors. Just as Mr. Reynolds passed the lion's cage he heard the keeper's eulogy on his pet, and, believing there was a little chance for a great deal of fun, he walked up to the speechmaker, saying, "Look here! Did you say that cur in the cage could whip anything in Norfolk?"

"That's exactly what I mean, and I'll go further by saying he can whip anything out of the city as well as in it, and I have the money to back my opinion," answered the keeper.

"Well, I have $50 that says I have an animal that can lick the life out of that cur and not half try, and I'll bet fifty more that your great fighter will take water in ten minutes after he lays eyes on my animal," said Charley in a confident manner. When asked what his fighter was named, Charley merely answered by saying: "It is only a pinapee. He is nothing to look at, but terrible to feel."

Some of the audience thought the ex-police officer was a little "off," but all laughed heartily at the idea of any living thing being able to cope with a lion. Such chances to make a $100 don't occur every minute in the day. The proprietor was sent for, and he gave permission to test the strength of the two animals, but, when asked where the pinapee was, Charley remarked:

"He's not far away. I'll go and get him, providing the lion keeper will promise to put my pinapee in the cage, for if I were to take the chances of doing so the cowardly lion might snap my hand off."

This was agreed to, the money posted in the hands of Dr. Scott, a well known druggist of the city, and Charley started off after his lion tamer. Before getting outside the canvas he heard the showman chaffing him, which caused his return to the scene of excitement with a bold offer to bet $100 more. This was taken up, as to the showman it looked like finding so much money. Charley then departed, and in ten minutes he came back, leading no animal, nor did he show any sign of having one. Uncomplimentary remarks were in order at the expense of the pinapee man, and when asked where his lion whipper was, Charley opened his handkerchief tenderly, and, taking from its folds a small specimen of nature's handiwork, said to the lion keeper: "Put my pinapee in the cage with your cur lion, and let us see which will shout first."

The general laugh which greeted this speech was all against Charley, but he remained cool and collected, awaiting further developments. The menagerie man handled the tiny little creature in a careless, confident manner, and placed it in the cage with an air that as much as said: "It's all dough with you, my little beauty." The lion looked astonished at first at seeing the lifeless seeming thing on the floor of his cage, but at last the mighty king of beasts began an investigation. Several times he placed his nose near the little mite, and at last the smelling instrument of the lion touched the pinapee, and then commenced a scene that baffles description. The lion raised his head with a howl, but he carried the pinapee up with him, as the latter held fast to the nose of the dreaded monster, and the more the lion tried to shake the pinapee off the tighter the latter held on. The crowd cheered, and the other animals shouted in sympathy with the lion, who was roaring with pain and fear, and at last his keeper said: "Take the darned thing off! He will ruin the lion!"

"I'll take him off when you acknowledge your beast is licked. This is good enough circus for me," said Charley with a smile, for he knew that he was a winner. The proprietor pleaded and begged for his lion, but it was useless, as Charley said he was after that $200, and when they consented that the stakeholder turn the money over to him, he would call his pinapee off.

"I paid a big price for that lion, and I can't have him ruined," said the circus proprietor, as he turned round to Dr. Scott, saying: "Give him the money. I confess the lion is licked, so call your darned dog, or whatever it is, away."

After the money was handed to Charley he said, in a common place manner, to the lion keeper, "Tell that man with the big drum to hit it as if he was trying to burst it open." This was done speedily, and when the noise of the drum—which sounded to the pinapee like thunder—smote upon the ears of the victor, he let go his hold and dropped to the floor of the cage, while the lion cowered in a corner as far away from his enemy as he possibly could get. Lieutenant Charles Reynolds pocketed the $400, and took his departure, leaving his pinapee—which was nothing more than a snapping turtle, which holds on like grim death when it gets a purchase, and nothing can shake it off except thunder, or something like it. Charley said to the writer that the circus people could keep his pinapee, to remind them at times that the battle is not always to the strong, nor the race to the swift.

A DOG WITH A MEMORY.

The following, remarkable at all events as a feat of memory, was told me by the owner of an Irish water spaniel, the only dog I ever knew who would perform tricks, and was good to shoot over at the same time. His master was out walking with him at the beginning of the long frost in the year 1855, which set in about the middle of January. He went on a frozen mill dam, where the water was of course very deep, and accidentally dropped his snuff box through a little round hole in the ice.

The dog was dreadfully distressed at not being able to get it, but was obliged to go home with its owner, who thought no more about the matter. Two months afterward, when the frost had gone, he and the dog passed by the same place. The dog paused opposite the spot where the box had disappeared, seemed to think intently for a minute, then plunged in, dived to the bottom and returned with the snuff box in his mouth.—The Quarterly Review.

"SET 'em up again!" is once more the cry bowling circles.

"U and I" Makes a Hit—A Theatre Changes Its Name—A Lawsuit, Etc.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—At the Baldwin, "The Private Secretary" was presented last evening, beginning the second week of its engagement at this house. Lotta comes Jan. 26.

BUSH STREET THEATRE.—"U and I" will be presented during the present week. Adelaide Moore, supported by Joseph Wheelock, Clay Clement and a strong company, will appear Jan. 12. "U and I" has scored an emphatic hit here, and its engagement has been extended a week.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The Howard Athenæum Co. have reached the zenith of success at this house, where they commenced last evening the second week of their engagement. "Little Lord Fauntleroy" comes Jan 5.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—C. D. Hess' Opera Co. remain the reigning success. They appeared last week in "Martha," "La Traviata," "Rigoletto," "Faust" and Lucia." Fred Packard, one of the tenors, was hissed off the stage and afterwards discharged, for appearing as Faust in an indisposed condition last week. M. Bovet, a new tenor, will make his debut in "Aida."

FLASHES.—There is no change in the bill at the Alcazar. ..... "The Wonderful Lamp" is still being sung at the Tivoli..... C. D. Hess has sued Fernando Michelena for breach of contract, claiming $10 000 damages. He alleges that Sig. Michelena entered into contract with him at Louisville, Ky., Nov. 26, 1889. It was stipulated in the contract that the tenor should join the plaintiff's opera company and sing for a season of ten weeks. Mr. Hess agreed to pay $100 a week for three performances, and $33 for each additional performance. Sig. Michelena was to occupy the position of "primo-tenore de grazzio," and furnish all his own costumes. He failed to keep his engagement..... The Three Marvelles and John J. Leonard made their first appearance at the Wigwam last week. Ida Siddons and her burlesque company are attracting large houses. Miss Siddons will return to the Bella Union week of Jan 6. Mike Whalen appeared at the Bella Union last week...The Bijou is to let. Manager Knapp has suddenly left town ..... There was no performance last night at the Powell Street Theatre. The name of this house will be changed to the Casino, and it will remain closed until Jan. 26, when Hess' Opera Co. will open there for a very long engagement.

TWO NOVELTIES AT THE HUB.

A Successful English Play and a Dubious American Comedietta.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

BOSTON, Dec. 30.—The Museum had a monopoly of last night's novelties. "The Solicitor," a three act farcical comedy, by J. H. Darnley (originally done May 5, 1890, at the Royal Court Theatre, Liverpool, Eng.), was performed for the first time in America, and 'Betty's Finish," a one act play, by W. Clyde Fitch, had its first on any stage. "The Solicitor" scored a pronounced hit. It has an abundance of bright dialogue, queer situations, laughable incidents and generally funny business. The play is well written, and easily achieved its purpose of creating continuous merriment. The audience was one of the largest and most brilliant at the Museum this season. I believe Daniel Frohman controls this play for America, outside of Boston. He has a winner in it. Eben Plympton had the title role. As for "Betty's Finish," its young author probably does not claim particular merit for it, and the best that can be said is that it has some bright lines, and that the dialogue is generally good. Miriam O'Leary was seen to excellent advantage, and Charles S. Abbe made a decided success as an old professor. In fact, these two carry nearly the entire burden of the piece, the other parts being of very light calibre. "Betty's Finish" was originally written for Rosina Vokes, but it is controlled now by Manager Field.....N. C. Goodwin Jr. presented "The Nominee" at the Tremont last night to a splendid house, and received a most enthusiastic welcome. The play met with favor, and the star was given several curtain calls..... The Maister of Woodbarrow" opened its second week at the Hollis to an audience that rivaled any of the big ones last week, and E. H. Sothern received his usual meed of warm applause..... R. B. Mantell was greeted at the Globe with a cordial welcome, and gave the same finished impersonation of the leading role in "Monbars." The audience was an excellent one..... The sixteenth week of "The Soudan" was inaugurated last night, and the Boston was tested to its full seating capacity, while the standee contingent was out in force..... Chas. L. Davis in 'Alvin Joslin," packed the Grand Opera House, and his entree on the stage was the signal for a spontaneous and most hearty recognition. As usual, his impersonation of the old farmer was homelike and without a flaw, and the piece, which has been somewhat revised and improved made as big a hit as ever. The support is excellent, and the stage setting is perfect ..... Monroe and Rice, in "My Aunt Bridget," had a fine house at the Park..... "The Plunger" was given by Oliver Byron at the Howard to an audience that filled every inch of room where a view of the stage could be obtained. The drama was splendidly mounted..... Keith's Gaiety and Bijou with its attractive double bill, was crowded at each performance, and the other popular priced resorts fared extremely well all day and evening

PHILADELPHIA'S OUTLOOK.

A Prosperous Week Seems Assured at the Quaker City Theatres.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—The size of last night's attendance at the theatres gave evidence of a prosperous week.. ....Mrs. Leslie Carter made her local debut at the Broad, receiving the applause of a large audience..... Stuart Robson locally introduced "Is Marriage a Failure?" before an audience which jammed the Chestnut Street Opera House, and retired the orchestra to an upper box. Play and star were enthusiastically received..... The first local production of "Superba" drew a large and responsive audience to the Arch..... H. E. Dixey, in "The Seven Ages," won liberal applause from an immense house at the Park..... "Hands Across the Sea" crowded the National to the doors..... C. E. Verner had a big audience at the People's..... "The Silver King" crowded Forepaugh's..... The Creole Burlesque Co. packed the South..... "The Ivy Tramp" had a crowded house at the Lyceum, as did "An Irishman's Love" at the Kensington..... "Around the World" had a moderate audience at Amberg's Continental..... The sale of admissions was thrice stopped at the Bijou, on account of the crush..... Carncross' and the Museum held their usual opening crowds..... W. J. Scanlan had a great house at the Walnut..... "The Merry Monarch," at the Chestnut, and "The County Fair," at the Grand Opera House continued to large audiences.

BUILT AND BURNED.

St. Paul Gains and Minneapolis Loses a Playhouse.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

ST. PAUL, Dec. 30.—Manager L. N. Scott was burned out of the Old Grand Opera House two years ago by a $180,000 fire, and at that time he promised to provide for St. Paul theatregoers, and he did. Within a week he transformed an old hall into a comfortable theatre, in which first class performances have been given, and last night saw the consummation of his pledge in the opening of the palatial Metropolitan Opera House by the nostonians. His pluck and good management were rewarded by the building, by Messrs. Kalman and Oppenheim, St. Paul capitalists, of this dramatic palace, at a cost of $500,000. It is a solidly built fireproof structure, of granite, brick and iron, lighted by 1,200 electric lights, and has 1,850 seats and twenty-one boxes. Every comfort and convenience is provided for both players and audience, and the new house is claimed to have no superior, and but one equal, in the United States, that being Chicago's famous Auditorium. The acoustics of the new house are perfect..... The Olympic turned away people last night.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 30.—Jacob Litt's Bijou Theatre was burned Sunday morning, Dec. 28. The loss is $40,000; insurance, $35,000. The auditorium and stage walls are intact and the house will be rebuilt and ready for occupancy in two months. All contracts will be filled at the Lyceum..... The Rentz-Santley Co. packed the fence last night.

FROM OTHER POINTS.

Chicago, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Etc.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—New Year's week started out with even better prospects than last. The Kendals, in "The Ironmaster," at Hooley's, were enthusiastically welcomed by the most aristocratic and best dressed audience that has been drawn out by any dramatic production this season. Standing room couldn't be had when the curtain was rung up. Curtain calls were as numerous as ever..... The German company, at the Grand, had two immense audiences, and is going to catch on big all the week..... "The Crystal Slipper," at the Chicago Opera House, and "The Sea King," at the Columbia, are still drawing crowded houses nightly..... The West Side is turning out in large numbers for two pleasant attractions—Bobby Gaylor, at the Haymarket, and "Held by the Enemy," at the Academy..... The Broom Closet," at the Standard, and Harding & Ah Sid's Co., at the Lyceum, are not far behind..... The Vaidis Sisters' Co., at the Alhambra; "The Fairies' Well," at Havlin's, and "The Australian," at the People's, had big openings. Frederick Renolds made his Chicago debut in the latter, and was given a hearty and spontaneous welcome..... "Die Olson," at the Criterion; "The Still Alarm" at the Windsor, and "The Paymaster," at the Clark Street Theatre, are strong North Side attractions.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 30.—Alf G. Wheelan, who has succeeded Will Kohnle as the comedian of the Wilbur Opera Co., ran into trouble here. His wife has been haunting the police court, asking for a warrant for both himself and Alice Vane. She claims desertion and other terrible things..... The Wilbura were welcomed back to Harris' by a splendid house..... Over at Heuck's the Hanlon-Voltier-Martinetti Co. drew a great audience..... "The Ivy Leaf," with Smith O'Brien in the heroic role, was greeted by a good crowd at Havlin's..... "Shenandoah" is in for a splendid week's business at the Grand..... R. McWade made his appearance at the Pike in "Rip Van Winkle" to an audience of fair size..... Harry Williams' Own Co. opened to the usual Sunday crowd at the People's.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 30.—This week starts in with evenly good patronage all around, and will doubtless be one of prosperity..... At the Gillis Sunday night a crowded house found "Castles in the Air" rather commonplace, but the capable people presenting it met with a cordial reception..... Two large audiences were "Held by the Enemy" at the Ninth Street..... Arizona Joe attracted a top heavy house at the Midland..... A good house welcomed Sol Smith Russell at the Coates last night. "Bewitched" scoring a firm success for him..... A good house applauded Kiralfys' "Around the World" at the Warder Grand.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 30.—"The City Directory," at Albaugh's, opened to the capacity of the house..... Marie Wainwright, in "Twelfth Night" at Rapley's National, was greeted by a house full of our best people..... Agnes Huntington, in "Paul Jones" had an elite audience, which competely filled Lincoln Music Hall..... Dan Mason, in "A Clean Sweep," at Harris' Bijou, played to an audience that filled the house..... Williams & Orr's Meteors, at Kernan's, had "S. R. O." and the burlesque and variety bill at the Globe drew its usual crowd.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30.—Reilly & Wood's Co. opened to standing room only at the Standard, and were pronounced not only excellent, but well balanced by all who saw them..... "The Hustler" drew two crowded houses to Havlin's Sunday. John Kernell still holds his own in voice and originality..... "The Fakir" caught two big houses at Pope's. Alice Harrison was in good voice, and as clever as ever..... "The Burglar" welcomed by a light house at the Grand..... Not being a Sunday night attraction, Lotta commenced a week's engagement last night to a fair house..... Helen Marlborough, of Vernona Jarbeau's Co. was married Christmas Day to Martin O'Neil, of the same company.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—"The Pearl of Pekin" filled every available seat at the Grand, but the performance was disappointing. Louis Harrison arrived yesterday to assume the leading role, and it is hoped by the patrons of the Grand that he may give life to the play..... "Shenandoah" was faultlessly portrayed by an excellent company at the Academy, before a splendid audience. The drama made a hit, and will draw big business..... "Life in the Metropolis," with Amy Russell, was given at St Charles at a large audience..... Mrs. Gen Tom Thumb and company presented "Two Strings to Her Bow" at the Avenue, to excellent business..... "L'Africaine" was sung at the French Opera to a standing audience.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 30.—All the Sunday openings were well attended..... "The Fugitive," at the Standard, was very well patronized at both performances Sunday, having a fair house last night..... At the Bijou, McKee Rankin, in "The Canuck," played to large Sunday houses, and another one last night..... "Hermisio" at the Academy, had large, top heavy houses Sunday. The attendance last night was fair..... Weber & Fields' Co., at the People's, delighted a large audience..... Lillian Stillman closed Dec. 27, with Hassett's "Braving the World" Co., remaining in this city.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore.—At Harris' Academy, Evans and Hoey opened to the capacity of the house Dec. 29. "A Trip to Chinatown" did an immense business, closing 27. Kate Claxton comes Jan. 5.

FORD'S OPERA HOUSE.—"The Prince and the Pauper" commenced the week before an audience of ratt-factory proportions Dec. 29 'Miss McGinty" did fairly well week ending 27. Agnes Huntington brings "Paul Jones" Jan 5.

ALBAUGH'S LYCEUM THEATRE.—A fine audience gave Richard Mansfield a hearty greeting in "Beau Brummell" Dec. 29. Cora Tanner closed a week of moderate business 27. J. K. Emmet Jan. 5.

HOLLIDAY-STREET THEATRE.—The California Opera Co. opened a week's engagement Dec. 29, giving "Said Pasha" to a good house. "A Fair Rebel" drew big houses 22-27. Charles L. Davis Jan. 5.

KERNAN'S MONUMENTAL THEATRE.—"The Sensational Boom" was the attraction Dec. 29, opening to the usual excellent business. The Henry Burlesque Co. closed a highly prosperous week 27. Jan. 4 Williams & Orr's Meteors.

KELLY'S FRONT-STREET THEATRE.—"Stormbeaten," with T. H. Glenny in the leading role, was well patronized Dec. 29. Large attendance ruled last week with J. J. Dowling and Sadie Hasson. Jan 4. "Myrtle Ferns."

BALTIMORE DIME MUSEUM.—New in curio hall Dec. 29: L'Amphitrite, Mons. Grion, Abercrombie and the Mexican shell workers. In the auditorium: Bingham, Bella Vera, Kitie Bingham, Malcolm and Hayes, Rudolph Brandt and Reeves and Childs. Business is large.

NOTES.—Sadie Hasson met with a painful accident 27 by falling upon the icy pavement.....The Masonic Temple, in which was Forepaugh's Theatre, was completely destroyed by fire on Christmas Day. The fire originated in the ceiling of the theatre above the flies, and was discovered by Harry Likes, the stage carpenter, a short time before the doors were to have opened for the matinee. Mr. Likes was badly burned about the hands in his efforts to extinguish it. Gray & Stephens' Co., who were playing a two weeks' engagement, lost the scenery of "Vesper Bells" and a few costumes. The dogs and ponies as well as most of the costumes, were saved. Forepaugh's loss was not large, and was covered by insurance. No arrangements have been made by Mr. Forepaugh for completing his season, and it is not known whether he will continue or not. The lease of the theatre expired next year, and would not have been renewed. A portion of the site for the Masonic Temple was purchased in September, 1865, and in April the following year the whole of the ground was secured. The corner stone of the Temple was laid Nov. 20, 1866. There was a grand civic display, participated in by Masons and Knights Templar in the Eastern States. President Andrew Johnson, who was a past grand master of the order, was present and took part in the cere monies The oration was delivered by the venerable John H. B. Latrobe. The hymn sung on the occasion was composed by Brantz Mayer The gavel used at the time by Grand Master Coates was the one used by George Washington in laying of the corner stone of the first national Capitol in 1793. The gold trowel was the one used by Lavin Winder, the Grand Master of Maryland, in laying the corner stone of the old Masonic Temple, on St. Paul Street, fifty years before, and was also the same used in laying the corner stone of the Washington monument and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. In December, 1867 the old Masonic Temple was sold to the city for $45,000 and is now used as the City Court. In January, 1868, the order took up temporary quarters on Baltimore Street. They formally took charge of their new building in 1869. The Temple was built at a cost of $300,000 by a stock company. Most of the stock was taken by members of the order. There has been a heavy debt resting on the building, which was greatly reduced, however, by the success attending the recent Masonic fair. With the receipts of this fair applied to the liquidation of the debt the amount will be brought down to between $35 000 and $40 000 Before the Masons leased the auditorium for theatrical purposes the hall was used by large political and other assemblages. Lectures and public school concerts were given there, and it was frequently used for balls. The late Patrick Harris first leased it for theatrical purposes. He was followed by Forepaugh & Connelly, and then by John A. Forepaugh

CHRISTMAS PRESENTATIONS.—Robert E. Davey, manager of Front Street Theatre, was presented with a handsome diamond ring by the employes of the house. C. M. Cole made the presentation speech.....Mrs. Willis, wife of the manager of the Museum, received a beautiful pair of diamond earrings, the gift of her husband. James McIntyre made the presentation.

MONTANA.

Butte.—At the Grand Opera House, Goodyear Eilitch & Schilling's Minstrels opened to a crowded house Dec. 22. Herrmann's Trans-Atlantiques open 25, for three evenings. "Little Puck" comes Jan. 6.

AVALON.—Under John Cort's management the Adah Richmond Co. will open 5. The theatre is doing well under the new auspices.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—There is nothing new at this resort, but business continues fine.

CLIPPER POST OFFICE.

☞ A STAMPED ENVELOPE, plainly addressed, must be inclosed for each and every letter, and the line of business followed by the party addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

NOTE.—Professionals and others should bear in mind that all letters, etc., in transit between the United States and Canadas must be pre-paid, otherwise they are not forwarded.

THE NEW YORK STAGE.

The New Bowery Theatre (Continued.)

Mrs. W. G. Jones took her benefit Oct. 3, 1862, and presented the following bill: The spectacular drama, "Outlaw of the Adriatic, or The Female Spy and the Chief of the Ten." This was followed by "Little" Fannie Beane with a Highland Fling, and a comic song by Thomas Donnelly, after which came the minstrel scene from the "Three Fast Women," followed by the dramas of "The Wizard Skiff" and "Jack Sheppard." There were three Jacks during the piece. In the first act, Mrs. W. G. Jones; second act, Fanny Denham; third act, Geo. C. Boniface. At the end of the first act Mrs. Jones was called before the curtain and literally covered with boquets. The performance was over at quarter to two o'clock. Oct. 6 the Webb Sisters—Emma and Ada—made their debut here, Emma appearing as Parthenia in "Ingomar" and Ada in the protean vaudeville, "In and Out of Place," in which she sustained five characters, sang four songs and danced a jig. "Raymond and Agnes" was the afterpiece. Ada Webb retired from the stage several years ago, marrying William Conner, at present proprietor of the St. James Hotel, this city; 7, "Orphan of Dowray, or the Soldier's Trials," "Actress of All Work" and "Wizzard Skiff" were acted; 8, "Bride of Lammermoor," Emma as Lucy Ashton, "The Manager's Daughter," Ada, in five characters, and the farce "Milly," Emma as Juliana in 'The Honeymoon," Ada in "In and Out of Place," and the drama entitled "Incendiary;" 10, Emma as Smike, in "Nicholas Nickelby," to G. C. Boniface's Mantilini, and the first appearance of Miss M. Clare as Kate Nickelby. Ada Webb acted Mrs. Hardress Cregan and Thomas Donnelly Myles na Coppaleen, in the farce of "The Colleen Bawn;" Ada Webb also acted six characters in the protean farce, "A Day Too Late." "The Irish Doctor" was the closing farce. "Kitty, or Out of the Street," was a drama written for the Webb Sisters by Charles Gayler, and acted for the first time Oct. 13. "Jocrisee the Juggler," with Geo. Boniface in the title role, and "The Irish Doctor" was the programme; 15, the programme was "A Husband at Sight," the farce "The Young Tragedienne" and the drama "Gitanilla." Miss E. James, danseuse, made her debut Oct. 17 in a national medley dance. These sisters, who did a very large business during their engagement, closed here Oct. 18, when four pieces were offered, viz.: The protean farce, "Four in One," with Emma in four characters; the burletta, "Woman's Whims," Ada in five characters; "The Blacksmith of Antwerp" and the nautical drama, "Ben Bolt." Oct. 20 the oriental spectacular drama entitled "The Armorer of Tyre," with Geo. Boniface as Glo; the burlesque, "Beauty and the Beast," Fanny Denham as Beauty, and "The Limerick Boy." The performance was over at half-past twelve o'clock; 22, "Walter Brand, or the Mendicant of St. Paul's" was first acted here; 23, "The Three Guardsmen," Boniface as D'Artagnan. Saturday night, 25, there were four pieces, as follows: Three act drama, "Nautical Jack;" Rosa Cerito, Parisan danseuse; first and second tableaux of "The Sea of Ice;" Irish songs, by Thos. L. Donnelly; "Robert Macaire" and the comic drama, "One Glass More." The historical drama, written expressly for this house by G. L. Aiken, entitled "Claude Duval," was first acted Oct. 27, Boniface as Claude Duval. The farce of "Our Girl" was the last piece, in which Fanny Denham acted Caroline Morton and sang "Annie Laurie" and "My Johnny Was a Shoemaker." The melodrama, "The Monk, the Mask and the Murderer," was given in addition to "Claude Duval" Nov. 3. "The Idiot of the Mountain" and the French drama, "Halvei," were acted for the first time Nov. 5. "Zincali's Revenge," "The Flying Dutchman" and "The Irish Tutor" were acted Nov. 6. Another half past twelve o'clock bill was that of Nov. 7—"The Sea of Ice," "The French Spy," and, for the first time here, "The Bath Road." A pictorial advertising curtain, illustrating all professions and trades, was shown for the first time Nov. 7. "Blueskin," a new drama by John F. Poole, was first acted Nov. 8. Geo. Boniface played Jack Sheppard; J. W. Lingard, Blueskin; J. Nunan, Jonathan Wild; Mrs. W. G. Jones, Edgeworth Bess, 10 Theodore Edward Hook's drama, "The Hungarian Chief, or the Heroine of Mootgatz," was given in addition to "Blueskin." "The Death Plank," a nautical drama by G. A. Somerset, was first acted Nov. 17. Julia Christine (now Mrs. Harry Miner) commenced an engagement, dancing between the pieces. The spectacular drama, "The Naiad Queen," rewritten by Joseph C. Foster, was first acted 24, cast as follows:

Count Rupert	Geo. Boniface	Colman	D. Oakley
Rinaldo	T. Donnelly	Rodolph	W. Stanton
Winkleman	G. Lingard	Farcuas	J. Winter
Schnappa	Geo. Brooks	Grimalkine	Page

Lurline	Mrs. W. G. Jones	Lady Una	Mrs. Boniface
Ouraline	Fanny Denham	Flavia	Louisa Eldridge
Dora	Miss Adair	Cora Shell	Miss Clare
Bridget	Miss Hathaway

"Knights of the Mist, or Jack Sheppard from His Cradle to His Grave," was acted Nov. 29. John F. Poole's dramatization, "The Scourge of Damascus," was first acted Dec. 1. Tony Denier, the inimitable clown, commenced 8 in Joseph C. Foster's comic pantomime, "Harlequin Jack Sheppard, or All Right, My Covey." It was cast as follows: Jack Sheppard (afterwards Clown), Tony Denier; Jonathan Wild (afterwards Sprite), Hernandez Foster; Thames Darrell (afterwards Harlequin), W. Stanton; Winny Wood (afterwards Columbine), Julia Christine; Joe Blueskin (afterwards Pantaloon), George Brooks. A sketch of Tony Denier never having been published, I wrote to him a short time ago for a few facts concerning his "earthly career," and received the following characteristic reply:

FRIEND TOM: I have always thought (and acted upon it) that the time to publish a biography was after the party had gone to the "hence." so have never given mine away. I have it written, and when I go it is yours if you are on top; if not, it goes to THE CLIPPER. You know how adverse I am to notoriety, and I really do not care about any long winded mess of flattery and all such stuff, for you know how modest and sensitive a young fellow I am. However I will break the rule for once, and give you a few facts which you can use if you want to. Yours, TONY.

Anthony (familiarly known as Tony) Denier is one of the oldest living representatives of the pantomimic art in America, and has been connected with the stage in an active and managerial capacity for nearly half a century. Mr. Denier is a resident of Chicago, has lived in that city since 1876, and, aside from his profession, is known in the community as one of the few representatives of the stage who have devoted the results of theatrical enterprise to the substantial wealth and growth of the city. Endowed with a reputation that is national in his peculiar line, he also enjoys the distinction of being one of the wealthiest retired theatre men in the West, and his varied career leading up to this histrionic and business success possesses many points of general interest. Mr. Denier, at the age of thirteen years, ran away from home with a circus, accompanied the show to Philadelphia, and, after traveling with various enterprises of its class, at last became a member of the noted Ravel troupe of pantomimists, mimics and acrobats. With them, for several years, he traveled all over the country, mastering the different details of the art with comparative ease, having a natural adaptability for the same. In 1855 he went to England, and for two years played at European theatres. Returning to America in 1861, he opened in a star part at the Cremorne Garden, this city, and later at the New Bowery Theatre. At the Old Bowery Theatre he met the veteran clown, George L. Fox, and got up several pantomimes with him. He then went to Barnum's Museum, and in 1866 removed to St. Louis, where he remained a year, engaged in managing the spectacular play of "The Black Crook." He made his first appearance in Chicago at McVicker's Theatre, in 1867, and his second in 1868, at Crosby's Opera House. Returning to this city, he and Mr. Fox constructed the great novelty of "Humpty Dumpty," which was first presented at the Olympic Theatre, on March 10, 1868. This play had a run of four hundred and eighty-three performances. In July Mr. Denier went to Cleveland, and with John Ellsler organized a pantomime company, with which he traveled two years. He managed various enterprises until 1876, took "Grimaldi" on the road for two years, and, later, Charles W. Ravel, the clown. During these years he played not only in his own specialties of pantomime, but also, at Albany, under his own management of the Capital Theatre, took part in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Octoroon," "Rob Roy" and as the demon and other characters in spectacular and comic representations. After organizing a company for "Jack and Jill" in California, in 1876, Mr. Denier went to Chicago and began a permanent managerial career, practically abandoning the stage proper. Here he formed a partnership with J. H. Haverly, and was manager of the old Adelphi Theatre for one year. He then leased Wood's Museum, which was destroyed by fire in October, 1877. He purchased a residence at Englewood, but in 1876 returned to Chicago, and for three years operated a pantomime combination with George H. Adams, the clown. When that engagement terminated, Mr. Denier decided to take up a permanent residence at Chicago, and, having accumulated a fortune, set about its judicious investment. His shrewd business capacity made these ventures exceedingly profitable, and he now owns nineteen pieces of fine improved property and a large amount of unimproved real estate in that city.

The true secret of Mr. Denier's success on the stage was the adoption of original and ingenious mechanical devices in the representation of his plays. He is a natural mechanic, and planned and built some of his own houses, among them his fine residence at No. 19 Congress Street, directly opposite the main entrance to the Auditorium, Chicago. Here he has a workshop, where he makes the scenery for any company he may operate on the road. Mr. Denier was married on Jan. 24, 1861, to Mlle. Auriol, the danseuse, and niece of the noted French clown of that name. They have one child, Lydia Denier. As a pantomimist Mr. Denier took rank with any in the country, and as a gymnast he had few superiors.

Wm. McFarland made his debut here as the Stranger Dec. 9, it being his first appearance in New York in eighteen years. "Robert Emmett" was also played, with Mr. McFarland in the title role, and the first appearance on the stage of a young lady billed as Mary Curran. Wm McFarland was found dead in the County Jail at Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 31, 1888. He was an old actor, and had supported Macready, the elder Booth, Edwin Adams and Edwin Forrest. He had been confined in jail for intemperance. N. B. Clarke took a benefit Dec. 20, when five plays were acted, and the performance was over at 12.15. The entertainment was as follows: "The Wraith of the Lake, or Brownie of the Brig;" the drama "The King, the D—— and the Deserter," followed by the burlesque of "Othello," by Frank Brower and Eph Horn, scenes from "Harlequin Jack Sheppard," and the farce, "The Illustrious Stranger." "Ivanhoe" was acted for the first time here Dec. 22.

Tony Denier reappeared in the pantomime, "Harlequin Jack Sheppard." Tony played Jack Sheppard and Julia Christine, Winny Wood. 31, Tony Denier produced his Chinese pantomime, "Kim Ka." Jan. 6, 1863, Mons. Marzetti, Mme. Marzetti and Mons. Tophoff commenced an engagement in "Jocko, or the Brazilian Ape." 12, was the first night of Harry Seymour's dramatization of Hugo's "Les Miserables," entitled "Jean Valjean," with Geo. C. Boniface in the title role. "The Two Drovers" and "The Dumb Belle" were also performed, and the performance was over at 12.30. Joseph C. Foster took his benefit Jan. 16, and his flash drama of "Bob Covey, the Newgate Jester, or the Daring Housebreaker of 1798," was acted the first time, cast as follows: Norman Fitzhazard, G. C. Boniface; Stephen Stoneheart, M. Lanagan; Grumby, S. Wright; Dr. Thurston, D. Oakley; Bob Covey, Geo. Brooks; Robt. Kidman, P. Connelly; Quintim Nosey, Mr. Page; Martin Filewood, J. Winter; Dick Blackrig, Mr. James; Aby Hounsditch, Mr. Hart; Tom Crossgill, Mr. Stone; Family Ned, Mr. Wilson; Tim Meagles, T. Donnelly; Miles the Reylock, Hernandez Foster; Dick the Tramper, Frank Foster; Drag, J. Nunan; Eaton, Wm. Marden; Emily, Mrs. W. G. Jones. 17, the bill offered was: "Boby Covey;" "Harlequin Jack Sheppard," cast as follows: Industry, Mrs. W. G. Jones; Knowledge, Mrs. Geo. Boniface; Idleness, Miss Hathaway; Ignorance, Louisa Eidridge; Jack Sheppard, afterwards Clown, Tony Denier; Thames Darrel, afterwards Harlequin, W. Stanton; Joe Blueskin, afterwards Pantaloon, Geo. Brooks; Jonathan Wild, afterwards Sprite, Hernandez Foster; Winny Wood, afterwards Columbine, Julia Christine; Owen Wood, M. Lanagan; Sir Roland Trenchard, G. Lingard; Mendez, J. Winter; Shotbolt, Mr. Wright; Executioner, Mr. Stone; Mrs. Wood, T. L. Donnelly; Edgeworth Bess, Miss Adair; Poll Maggott, Miss Clare. The drama of "Olimpia, or the Brigands of Alrizi," with the following cast: Olimpia Cignani, Mrs. W. G. Jones; Spalatro, J. Nunan; Salvator Rosa, W. Marden; Corney Brady, T. L. Donnelly; Captain Robusto, Mr. Stanton; Gilfardo, Mr. Ferdon; Gaoler, Mr. Wright; Jacopo, J. Winter; Tomaso, P. Connelly; Bianca, Miss Adair; Gianina, Mrs. Boniface, and concluding with the farce, "Hide and Seek," cast as follows: Quake, Mr. Lanagan; Simon, Geo. Brooks; Smart, W. Stanton; Charles, J. Winter; Bolding, Mr. Page; Rose, Miss Hathaway; Lucretia, Mrs. Boniface; Sophia, Miss Denham. The engagement of Geo. C. Boniface for three years at this house, as leading man, terminated with a complimentary benefit Jan. 24, when the following bill was presented: The four act play, "Retribution;" the petite comedy, "Married Rake;" dance by Julia Christine; first act of "Robert Macaire" and the comic drama, "The Sky Rocket."

AMONG THE PLAYERS EVERYWHERE.

— Several hundred holiday greetings have been received from managers of traveling companies and opera houses, extending to THE CLIPPER the compliments of the season. They have come by mail, by telegraph, by express and in person. THE CLIPPER acknowledges these kind remembrances, and extends to all its fervent wishes for a Happy New Year.

— The mechanical horse race effect used by Neil Burgess in the play of "The County Fair" is of his invention, and is secured to him by several patents. The race effect is a prominent feature in the play, and has done as much as anything to make "The County Fair" a permanent attraction in New York. The great success of the piece tempted others to use a mechanical horse race effect, and Chapman & Sellers revived Dion Boucicault's old play, "The Flying Scud," and introduced the apparatus in one of the scenes, opening at Boston last September. Mr. Burgess claimed that that apparatus was an infringement on his patent, and brought suit at once against the managers of the theatre and of the play. On Dec. 20, Judge Colt, of the United States Circuit Court, at Boston, granted a motion for a provisional injunction, which will compel the defendants and all others to stop the use of the infringing apparatus. The attempt was made to show that the device was old, but Judge Colt held, after a study of the evidence, that no one before Mr. Burgess ever constructed an apparatus to produce the effect of a horse race upon the stage. Simonds & Burdett are counsel for Mr. Burgess, and the case was argued on his behalf by Mr. Burdett of that firm.

— The profession came to the front in great shape at San Francisco, on Dec. 23, at a benefit given to the dependent children of that city. The local press instituted the affair, and the profession, with their proverbial readiness in doing kind things for the cause of sweet charity, immediately joined hands with the promoters of the benefit, and to those who volunteered in any way to make the affair a stupendous success the comforting thoughts of an added good deed to the many already recorded in their honorable history is their only recompense. Harry Mann gave the use of the California Theatre, and his services as manager of the benefit. James T. Powers and the "Straight Tip" Co. made a special trip from the interior of the State, in order to appear. Gillette's "Private Secretary" Co. gave one act of that play. Gus Williams and John T. Kelly, of the "U and I" Co., appeared. The Hess Opera Co. and the Howard Athenæum Co., together with the Tivoli Opera and the Powell Street Theatre Cos., also gave their valuable aid. Manager Walters, of the Orpheum, was also prominent in the good cause, and, with the hearty co-operation of all who could manage to, in any way, push the affair to success, it resulted in large pecuniary returns.

— Charles Frohman has engaged, for the balance of the season, Johnstone Bennett, who will appear in New York in comedy.

— Walter Darrell has retired from the "Tom Sawyer" Co., and joined "The Australian" Co., for the balance of the season, opening at Chicago Dec. 28.

— Although Frank G. Cotter no longer holds the post of business manager for Margaret Mather, he does not admit that he has been discharged by that actress or her present manager, T. H. French. Under the assumption that Mr. French had no right to discharge him, Mr. Cotter will appeal to the courts for his rights. He was engaged to superintend Miss Mather's starring tour by her former manager, Arthur B. Chase. Mr. Cotter says that Miss Mather expressed her satisfaction with the engagement at the time it was made, and subsequently declared that she was pleased with Mr. Cotter's services. In the transitory period of the Mather company from the management of Chase to French, the recent engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre was ended. It was in the last week of that engagement that Mr. Cotter was supplanted in the business management of the Mather organization. Mr. Cotter's contention is that Mr. French did not discharge him, for, at the time of his discharge, Mr. French was not Miss Mather's manager, and that, if Miss Mather discharged him, he is not aware of it. Therefore he was not discharged at all. And yet another man is in his place, and another name has been substituted for his on the pay roll. Mr. Cotter is somewhat puzzled by this condition of affairs, and threatens to appeal to the law to define his exact standing with the Margaret Mather organization.

— Matilde Herz was married Nov. 27, at Florence, Italy, to Napoleone Zardo, who came here in the Patti Opera Co. last season.

— A despatch from Chicago says that E. B. Ludlow and George T. Clapham have signed papers securing George F. Marion for a period of five years to appear in a comedy written by Mr. Marion in collaboration with some one else. The piece, it is promised, will be produced in this city.

— The receipts and scenery of John L. Sullivan's Co. were attached at Troy, N. Y., on Dec. 23, because of Duncan B. Harrison's failure to pay a gambling debt of $160, incurred when he was there with "The Paymaster." Mr. Harrison claimed that it was a skin faro game, but the sports whom Sullivan sent for vouched for its fairness, and the champion decided that Mr. Harrison must settle. He settled with Edward Crannell, who took the proceedings, and who said he would not have called on the sheriff had Mr. Harrison not treated him with contempt.

— At Chicago, Dec. 22, Helen Mowatt was divorced from her actor husband, Hal Clarendon. In court, she was Mrs. Rolinda H. Smith, and he was Henry C. Smith. They have six children, of whom Little Dot Clarendon is known to the stage.

— Mrs. John Drew's diamonds have been found. They had been tucked away in the pocket of her wrapper.

— Will P. Webster has resigned as general agent of Geo. Wilson's Minstrels.

— Arthur Dacre will retire from Mrs. Leslie Carter's Co. after this week, and will sue for breach of contract.

— James R. Adams, who is suffering from a sprained knee, laid off the members of the "Crazy Lot" Co. for a week on Dec. 17, but resumed his tour at Lockport, N. Y., 25.

— Mrs. Milton Nobles joined her husband's company at Hot Springs, Ark., week of Dec. 15, and made her reappearance at Little Rock.

— Harriet Ford has been engaged to play Esther Vandervere, in "The Inspector." Byron Douglas, formerly of the "Nero" Co., has also joined "The Inspector,"

— May Haines, Henry Holland, Sydney Drew, Louis F. Massen, Frank Lamb and Thomas Jackson are among the engagements made by Frank W. Sanger for the production of "Mr. Potter of Texas," at the Star Theatre, this city, in February.

— Lillian Richardson has retired from the profession, and is said to have engaged in the photographic business at Louisville.

— Roster of the "Midnight Alarm" Co.: A. Y. Pearson, manager; Gus Munzer, business manager; W. W. Bittner, stage manager; Professor Gude, musical director; Frederick Julian, Neil Florence, George Scott, Charles Rollins, W. W. Bittner, George F. Hall, Katie Pearson, Cassie Francis, Ella Bittner, Marie Leroy, E. M. Leroy, Harry Thompson.

— The Lew Palmer Comedy Co. closed a successful season at Manistee, Mich., Dec. 18. The closing was due to the continued ill health of Manager Palmer, who, with his wife, will play dates for the remainder of the season. After the concluding performance Mr. Palmer invited the company to a repast of oysters and other good things, when the company reciprocated in turn by the presentation to Mr. Palmer of an elegant gold headed cane. It is now the intention of Manager Palmer to re-engage the same company for a tour next season, under canvas.

— C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger have concluded an arrangement by which James A. Herne will, in conjunction with Mr. Jefferson, direct the rehearsals and superintend the production of all the pieces that will be presented under that firm's management next season. Suitable offices are being fitted up for Mr. Herne in the Klaw & Erlanger building, this city, for occupancy while he is not upon the road.

— Edwin Cleary is paying this city a visit. He returns shortly to London, where he opens Feb. 15.

— Lillie Flossy Muir, one of the successful Lord Fauntleroys, has been engaged by Aug. Daly.

— A special company, including Harry Courtaine, Charles Foster, Edmund Collier, John E. Ince, May Wheeler, Lizette Le Baron, Mrs. Frank Roberts and Mrs. Ince, were gotten together for a Christmas and New Year's weeks' production of "Woman Against Woman" in several New England cities.

— Prof. Lohman, musical director at the Grand Opera House, Columbus, O., leaves Jan. 1 for Denver, to accept a similar position.

— Charles E. Borgman has retired from the directorship of the W. J. Gilmore Opera Co.

— Louis Lombard, director of the Utica, N. Y., Conservatory of Music, is spending the holidays in this city.

— Jack Tucker is playing Asa Beck with Bishop's "Muggs' Landing" Co. Jeppe and Fannie Delano are no longer with that company.

— G. Herbert Leonard has joined Hoyt & Thomas' "A Silent Partner" Co.

— The Ruble & Taylor Co., supporting Gertie Ewing, closed Dec. 12, on account of the serious illness of their leading lady, Mrs. Annie Harrison. Mrs. Harrison is down with typhoid fever at Kaufman, Tex. C. S. Ruble, J. T. Williams, W. U. Page and Gertie Ewing are engaged for the stock at Hamlin's Theatre, Dallas, where the latter has succeeded in establishing herself as a popular favorite.

— John B. O'Hara was a CLIPPER caller Dec. 24. Mr. O'Hara has only recently recovered from a severe illness. He intends taking out his own company, supporting Purity Vamtess, of Galesburg, Ill., who has met with much success as an elocutionist. The piece, "Ben Loch," is from Mr. O'Hara's pen. The plot is laid at Ayr, Scot., during the reign of James I. Mr. O'Hara will play an "Auld Scotch Laird." The company opens its season at Logansport, Ind. Feb. 5.

— Al. Harris joined W. G. Fleming's "Around the World" Co. Dec. 25, at New Haven, Ct., to manage the stage. H. H. Minnick has been re-engaged for his old roles in this company.

— Hattie Harvey began her tour Dec. 25, at Meriden, Ct., in "Jessie Daw," then acted for the first time under that title. As "The Little Tramp," Miss Harvey played the piece at the Academy, Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17, 1889, for the first time in America, when she made her stellar debut. As "A Young Tramp," Mrs. Langtry gave the piece its initial presentation at the Princess' Theatre, Bristol, Eng., Sept. 12, 1885. It is from the pen of W. G. Wills.

— Roster of the Lytell Dramatic Co.: W. H. Lytell, J. L. Edwards, D. M. Murray, Carl Smith, J. C. Kline, J. Sutherland, Sam E. Ryan, Marie Celeste, A. D. Beebee, H. Brown, J. Mordaunt, Catherine Goode and Emilie Edwards. The members report good business through the Canadian provinces. The work of J. L. Edwards is said to be strong, and is winning considerable praise for him.

— "T. S. Dare, Artiste, Theatre," is the stamp on a bunch of eight keys, on a heart key ring, now in possession of J. T. Higgins & Son, druggists, Owensboro, Ky. The keys were found in the Temple Theatre, that city.

— THE CLIPPER has received a neat little pictorial pamphlet of the Mora-Williams Co. The pamphlet contains pictures of all the plays the company produce, and gives some excellent press notices.

— J. G. Stuttz played his Bastelle and Magdalene Cos. alternate nights, at Dublin, Tex., last week, in order to pass Christmas together.

— S. Miller Kent sailed for England last week. McKee Rankin has bought his interest in "The Canuck."

— Bert Gonden and Criptie Palmoni's engagement with the Agatha Singleton Co. is off, and they are now resting.

— T. A. Sweeney has retired as manager for Frederic Bryton.

— Ethel Langdon and Willard Wright have resigned from the Roberts-Sailer Co.

— Jennie Witherell, wife of Manager G. E. Witherell, is seriously ill at Battle Creek, Mich. Her recovery is said to be doubtful.

— Lillian Markham leaves the Evans & Hoey Co. Jan. 3.

— Murtha Porteous goes to New Haven and Hartford with Margaret Mather's Co. The engagement, however, is only a temporary one.

— Harry M. Allen has joined Marlande Clarke's Co., at the new Olympic Theatre, Hot Springs, Ark.

— Edward Holland joined the "Shenandoah" Co., No. 1, at Cleveland.

— Leonora Bradley has signed with T. Henry French to play the leading business with Margaret Mather for the rest of the season.

— Lida McMillan, who was engaged to play Iza in one of W. A. Brady's "Clemenceau Case" Cos., has been transferred, and will play the leading part in "The Inspector."

— Marie Atchison has signed for the stock at the Lyceum Theatre, Grand Rapids. Miss Atchison is to play leading roles.

— Hopkins' Opera House, Lyons, Ia., was destroyed by fire Dec. 22. Several business buildings were also burned.

— The Margarette D'Estes Co., under the management of E. M. Jewell, began their interior Western tour last week, at Eureka, Cal.

— Chauncey Pulsifer has become manager for McKee Rankin's "The Canuck."

— Arthur Percy, baritone, sailed for England Dec. 27. For the balance of the season he will sing in concert and oratorios.

— Roster of Browne's New Idea Comedy Co.: W. G. Browne, manager; Jas. H. Slater, stage manager; Harry Leslie Lee J. Kellam, Dudie S. Bryce, Jas. Black, W. C. Raymond, W. C. Cole, Ed. Gifford, in advance; Helen Russell, Leo Dillon, Myrtle Stewart and Mabel Reno.

— Eugene Tompkins has assumed the management of "Mankind" for two months, beginning Jan. 5. Henry A. Weaver Sr., Frank Lander, E. T. Webber, Geo. W. Heath, E. H. Stephens, Tillie Antonia Barnum, H. Dowling and Mrs. and Gertie Boswell have been engaged. The company left this city Dec. 27, for Boston, where they rehearse for one week.

— Kate Blanckie has joined 'The Great Metropolis" as leading lady.

— Lin Hurst has tendered his two weeks' notice to N. C. Goodwin Jr., taking effect the first week in January. Willis Granger goes with Mr. Goodwin for the balance of the season.

— Charles Connolly, leader of orchestra, and Florence Campbell, juveniles, who left Tony Farrell's "Irish Corporal" Co., at Keene, N. H., Dec. 20, rejoined the company 25, at Concord. Charles Osgood and Nora Muir, who had succeeded them 20, closed 21.

— Francis Xavier, Owen Bartlett, Mrs. Owen Bartlett and Alice Cook recently joined Clint G. Ford's Dramatic Co. Business is reported good through Illinois and Indiana. Con. T. Murphy is rewriting a piece for Mr. Ford.

— The Turner Opera House, Findlay, O., is finished, and will be dedicated Jan. 2, by "A Pair of Jacks." The house is said to be supplied with all the modern improvements.

— Horace Cone takes the road Jan. 19 under the management of May, Baron & Roak. The company includes Ida Walling, Dora May, W. D. Roark, Will A. Baron, Richard Sands, Chas. May, T. Cooney, Harry Southwick, Frank Elsworth and Horace Cone. A uniformed band will be carried. They play South.

— Frank Chapman has succeeded A. P. Dunlop as advance representative for Mrs. Leslie Carter.

— Walter Hawley is playing the land agent in Bishop's "Muggs' Landing" Co., No. 2.

— Manager W. A. Thompson's brother, Philip, writes to THE CLIPPER from Sydney, Aus., anxiously desiring his relative's address, and adding that their father and sister have recently died.

— Agnes Robertson and her daughter, Nina Boucicault, sailed from this city for England, Dec. 24.

— Harry L. Hamlin seems determined to secure excellent farce comedy talent for "The Fakir." The latest engagements announced are Mark Sullivan, Rosa France, Jeanette St. Henry and Max Arnold, stage manager. Alice Harrison, Jennie Eddy, Helen Reimer, Mollie Sherwood, Dudie Tracy, Getie Lehman, John Bunny, George Mitchell, John Gilroy, Fred Rankin and Chris Berger have been retained.

— The marriage of Annie Brooke with Claude H. Brooke, which took place at Adelaide, South Australia, on Christmas Day, 1884, was annulled at the wife's request, Dec. 26, by Justice Pratt, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, on the ground that Mr. Brooke had a wife and family living in England. Mrs. Brooke (Annie Leaf) was singing in Australia, at the time of her marriage, in an opera company. Mr. Brooke was a young English actor. The couple came to this country, and played together at some of the theatres in this city and vicinity. While they were living in this city a burglar broke into their rooms and carried off a number of things, including the Australian wedding certificate. Last Summer Mrs. Brooke learned that her husband had a wife living in England, and she visited that country to make a personal investigation. She found the first wife and four children living at 21 Dombey Street, Liverpool, and learned from her that Mr. Brooke's real name was Robert T. Johnson. They were married late in the seventies, and soon after the marriage he took his family to New Zealand, where he deserted them. Mrs. Brooke No. 2 brought back to America copies of the marriage register containing the record of the first marriage, and an affidavit from the first wife. Mr. Brooke did not appear to defend the suit.

— Orson Clifford has signed with C. A. Dixon's "Clemenceau Case" for the balance of the season. Mr. Clifford will begin his starring tour Sept. 12, next, at the National Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., and travel West to the Pacific, returning East by way of Mexico and the South, closing his tour in this city.

— Clever Lee Harrison, who is among the hundreds that have wished THE CLIPPER a bright New Year, sends from far away Colorado a dainty collection of pressed flowers from the Rocky Mountains—a refreshing and beautiful souvenir of a lovely country.

— A wedding of sensational and romantic features was solemized at Cleveland, O., Dec. 25. The chief actors were Edward J. Henley, now with Mrs. Leslie Carter's Co., and May Hampton, of the "Shenandoah" Co. Mr. Henley was divorced from his first wife, Grace Pedley, of the London Gaiety Co., two years ago. The divorce was secured by the wife, and was a matter of mutual consent. Seven months ago the divorce was legalized in this country in a New York court. Fourteen months ago Mr. Henley was married to Miss Hampton. Ever since that date insinuations have from time to time been made that the marriage was not legal, since it was but seven months ago that the divorce of the actor from his English wife was legalized in the United States. These rumors and insinuations were very annoying, and on 22 Mr. Henley secured leave of absence from his manager for the avowed purpose of making the marriage legal. Rev. W. J. Campbell, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, was summoned, and, upon seeing the license issued by Judge White, in a brief ceremony pronounced the couple man and wife. Frank Burbank and his newly-made wife, Nannette ..ostock, of the "Shenandoah" Co., witnessed the ceremony.

— The burning of Forepaugh's Theatre, Baltimore, Dec. 25, is detailed in our letter from that city. It was a Christmas afternoon that was not wholly agreeable to John A. Forepaugh or to the Gray & Stephens Co.

— Florence Hastings, the vivacious soubrette, is now filling a special engagement with "The Two Old Cronies," during the illness of Norma Wills. Miss Hastings writes that she has gained a victory in her suit against Chas. McCarthy, judgment in $500 having been awarded her in the Boston Municipal Court last week.

— Mabel Draysey and James Goodwin, of the Francesca Redding Co., were married at Troy, N. Y., Dec. 18, and left that company 20 to join Cordray's stock at Portland, Ore.

— Mary Patrice Whitbeck, daughter of ex-Judge Whitbeck, of Hudson, N. Y., and known in the theatrical world as "Patrice," has commenced proceedings in the Superior Court of Chicago against A. P. Blakeslee, a Board of Trade man, for breach of promise, claiming $20,000 damage. Two months ago Patrice began her Chicago engagement, but, on account of bad business and poor health, she closed, and had been resting for four or five weeks until Dec. 21. Mr. Blakeslee, it is said, became smitten with her, sought an introduction, and soon established himself as her accepted lover. At least, this is what Patrice says. For a month or more, as the story goes, he has been constantly by her side, and always manifested great anxiety to make her his wife. At one time they went away to Waukegan for the purpose of getting married, but discovered that a license would be necessary. Mr. Blakeslee took out the license, and went with Patrice to a minister. But, when he found that the clergyman would have to return the paper to the County Clerk and have it recorded, he backed out, and took the girl back to Chicago. He promised that they would go to Kenosha next day and be married under the Wisconsin law, but, on divers pretexts, he postponed the performance of that

VAUDEVILLE, MINSTREL AND CIRCUS.

THE ADAH RICHMOND Co., under the management of Bert Klunk, will start this week for John Cort's circuit, opening at Butte, Mont., Jan. 19, and playing through to San Francisco. Several marriages have occurred in this company recently. Eddie Silbon, of the Silbon Family, and Josie Casselle were to have been married in this city Dec. 24. Gus Mortimer Jr. and Bessie Wilcox were married in this city 15. Ella Wilson and Mr. Grapewin were married at Bridgeport, Ct., last month.

THE following, from Chas. Andress, will explain itself: "I have finished augmenting my new opera house show, and will be ready for the road after the holidays. My show will be similar to my old time show before I embarked in the circus business—trained birds, dogs, mind reading, magic, etc. Dick Beemer will have the advance work to look after, and, with the exception of two people, myself and wife will give the entire show. The claims of Sells & Andress (defunct) are now being paid at St. Joseph, Mo. I have aided all I could to adjust all claims, and I understand there is about $2,400 remaining from the sale of my personal property."

TRACY AND PRICE have dissolved partnership. Mike Tracey writes us that he is meeting with success in his single dancing specialty.

FRED MORTIMER has purchased the Theatre Comique, Little Rock, Ark. Opening Dec. 22: Howard and Allen, J. C. Murphy, Billy Sheridan, Moore Sisters, Daisy Raymond, Louise Adney, Tony Hounett, Lou Prentiss and Prof. J. W. Eicherly's brass band and orchestra.

KITTIE LOVE AND MAY CLINTON have dissolved partnership. Miss Clinton has joined hands with Pauline Cook. They are with the Rose Hill Co.

FRANK W. WURTELE is now in advance of A. O. Babel, the cowboy pianist, touring Canada. They expect to be in the United States before very long.

J. FRANK LEAKE will shortly put Lillie McHenry's Gaiety Boys and Girls on the road, with Lillie McHenry at the head. The company will carry twenty-five people, and will have excellent printing and plenty of it.

BARNEY FAGAN, who is to be featured next season as one of the stars of the new spectacular farce comedy, "A High Roller," has been obliged to withdraw temporarily from Cleveland's Minstrels on account of severe throat troubles. Mr. Fagan is now under the care of a physician of this city.

SHELBY'S WORLD OF WONDERS report excellent business through Texas. The company now number ten people, and carry a band of sixteen pieces.

LEE MOSES, well known in the profession, is confined at the hospital, Burlington, Ia., where he is to undergo an operation for a complaint of long duration, and trusts to be about in six or eight weeks. He is not in need, but would be pleased to hear from friends.

WALLACE & Co. are adding new features and building new chariots and vans for their tour next season. The leading lithographers of the country are getting out special paper. The show will be enlarged to double its former size, requiring forty-four cars to transport it. Three advertising cars will be used, and the surroundings will be characteristic of its title, a model modern show. Fine horses will continue one of the show features. Two car loads of picked draught stock have already arrived at Winter quarters, making a total of one hundred and seventy-five head of exhibition horses.

HI HENRY'S MINSTRELS have turned their faces from the Sunny South, where they met with success. Mr. Henry is still suffering from a severe cold, while five or six of the boys are under the weather. Alba Letour, juggler of Roman war implements, is the latest addition. Mr. Hayden is still sick, but hopes the cold weather will bring him about again all right.

PROF. AL. CLARK, magician, was accidentally shot in the left leg, at the Alhambra, Ironwood, Mich., Dec. 16. He is now in the doctor's care, and will shortly be around again.

MAY T. LAWRENCE character change artist, has returned from a vacation tour in Europe in excellent health.

AL. G. FIELD'S MINSTRELS are touring the South. A curious incident of their tour is noted in the booking of Jackson, O., Nov. 1, Jackson, Tenn., Dec. 1, and they are to play Jackson, Miss., Jan. 1. These dates came in the regular order of bookings. Ernest Mignani is arranging the music for next season's first part, and new costumes are being furnished from designs by Manager Field. A. P. Scott, the advance agent of this company for three seasons past, will have the management of the company after Jan. 1.

THE FOLLOWING PEOPLE appeared at the Novelty Theatre, Ogden City, U., week of Dec. 22: De Bolieu Bros., Marshall and St. Clair, Nellie Markham, Williams and Hait, Oatley Sisters, Sallie Clinetop, Grace Mouron, and Waldo Whipple.

JOSEPH F. VION, manager of the Henry Burlesque Co., received a telegram Christmas morning from Pittsburg, notifying him of the arrival of a ten pound baby boy. Mother and son are doing nicely.

MASTER EDDIE ABBOTT, boy necromancer, and Prof. H. J. Abbott closed their fourth and last week Dec. 27, at Cordray's New Theatre, Seattle, Wash., and join Harry Williams' Vaudevilles at Chicago, Jan. 12, for the balance of the season. Master Eddie and Prof. Abbott have in preparation some new tricks.

LIEUTENANT THOMASO is ill at the St. Claire Hotel, Keokuk, Ia., with diphtheria. He is a member of Merritt & Stanley's Minstrels.

COINING WORDS began when the English language (which, by the way, is an endless conglomeration of curious words) had its birth, and, consequently, when the press agent of the big Forepaugh Show coined a word brand new from his visionary department, and coined it, too, in keeping with the best known form, it should have been allowed to escape the scathing criticism of other agents. But, alas! it did not. Last season Press Agent O'Neill, of the Forepaugh Show, "sprung" the word "perpetuator," and had it duly placed beneath the portraits of James E. Cooper, in titular contradistinction to the word "founder," which appeared under the portrait of old Adam Forepaugh. All season the word "bobbed up serenely" in the columns of the newspapers throughout the land, in local notices and advertisements. None of the philomaths of the press took exception to the word, until recently it occurred to a would be enterprising, never entertaining and wofully deficient genius (?) of another circus to cry the word down as being a wrong one. Of course, it then devolved on Mr. O'Neill to square himself. This is what he said recently: "The word perpetuate means to continue indefinitely, and that is what Mr. Cooper proposes to do with the Forepaugh Show. To place him properly as so doing before the public, I gave him the title 'perpetuator' for these reasons: First, because the word tells wisely what he does; second, because the etymological affix, 'or,' meaning 'one who,' added to 'perpetuate' is the only proper ending to the word, and fills, I modestly believe, a long felt vacuum in our patch work language; and third, to make busybody agents ask questions. I am now in correspondence with the president of Yale College—the prince of lexicographers, Noah Porter, D. D., L.L. D.—and the result will be that the word 'perpetuator,' meaning 'one who perpetuates,' will appear in the coming revised edition of Webster's Dictionary. Managing Editor Fenno, of The Philadelphia Times, is with me. So was Horace Greeley, when he caused the word 'miscegenation;' The Detroit Free Press with its word 'erenot;' and further information may be had in the 'Terner's Term Thesaurus, or Press Agent's Instructor.'"

THE CLUB THEATRE, Centralia, Wash., was dedicated Dec. 15. Robinson & Pearsall are the proprietors, and John Mulligan is manager. The opening company: Bob Branigan, Minnie Pierce, Hanson and Hewitt, Sherwood and Meredith, Mullen and Morris, Annie Dare, Lulu Stanford, Etta Fern, Harry De Vere, Carrie Linton, Mary Moore, Edith Vance, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lang, and John Mulligan.

HARRY J. HOWARD, tenor of Cleveland's Magnificent Minstrels, in endeavoring to stop a runaway horse Dec. 23 at Washington, D. C., was thrown to the ground, and his right arm was broken.

CLIFF DEAN AND CHARLEY REGAN have dissolved partnership. Mr. Dean has been engaged for the season at the Royal Palace Theatre, New Orleans.

JOHN CORREIA, of the American Japs, returned from Port Au Prince, Hayti, last week. He reports excellent business for Donovan & Lowande's Circus. Mr. Correia is here to negotiate with some more circus performers, and to engage a band for Donovan & Lowande.

FRANK HARDING has purchased the exclusive rights to the songs, "Come Down, Mrs. Flynn," by J. W. Kelly, now being sung by Maggie Cline, and "Sentenced to Death," descriptive song, words by W. C. Robey, music by Will H. Fox. Mr. Harding has copyrighted both songs.

BLACKMORE'S HUMBUG MINSTRELS AND SPECIALTY Co. assembled for rehearsal at Morrison, Ill., Dec. 22. The roster: E. A. Macomber, Jerry Dashington, Walter Dashington, Alvin Dashington, Albert Dashington, Prof. Chas. F. Shaw, Prof. Ward, Lon Hoddy, Jerry Tobin, Chas. Berkell, Rose Leon, Lena Kline, J. C. Wood, O. O. Randall, Geo. Macomber, H. L. Gifford, Harry Mulvey, A. C. Blackmore, F. L. Blackmore, Master Arthur Blackmore, Little Geraldine Blackmore, Mrs. S. T. Blackmore and S. T. Blackmore.

GERTIE HALLIE has retired from the profession, and her former partner, James Hallie, has doubled with Jennie Harrigan. The new team will be known as the Hallies.

ADA PRICE has rejoined her husband, Harry M. Price, after an absence of four years from the stage.

FRANK MOORE, of Moore and Kennedy, 'lately with the May Davenport Co., is very ill at the Homeopathic Hospital, this city.

THE BELLE STEVENSON Co., now playing through Canada, includes the following people: Belle Stevenson, C. J. Stevenson, Taly Stevenson, Mamie Bertand, Harry C. Todd, Jas. Howland, Chas. Wakefield, James Wallbrook, E. J. Sanford, J. Millman, Chas. C. Lindsay and Sanford H. Lindsay.

MAY CLARK (Mrs. Robert Van Osten) has entirely recovered from her recent severe illness, and rejoined the Lilly Clay Co. at New Orleans.

THE THREE COSTELLO BROS., acrobats, and Minnie Costello, aerialist, are successfully playing Cort's Pacific Coast Circuit. They will return East in April, to go out with F. I. Taylor's Great American Circus.

FRANK RAYMOND has joined hands with M. R. Sinclair, and the team will be known as Raymond and Sinclair.

THE GREENES, illusionists, have closed with the De Vere Concert Co., and are now touring Canada.

ROSTER OF G. W. MOORE'S FLOATING PALACE: Prof. C.W. Mitchell, Milleo Thelo, Sallie McCallister, Seaman and Harrison, Thomas Winters, a band of twelve pieces, Thomas Dolan in charge of the advance, Prof. Moore, proprietor, and C. W. Mitchell, manager. The show plays the river towns. Opens Jan. 1, at Florence, Ala.

A NEW MUSEUM is to be opened at Pittston, Pa., shortly.

HARRY LEOPOLD and his wife, May Guichard, are now with the Lilly Clay Burlesque Co. Mr. Leopold has succeeded Geo. Leslie in the olio.

THE WALLACE SISTERS—Hattie, Grace and Mable—close a twenty one weeks' engagement at Loeb's Novelty Theatre, Leadville, Col., Jan. 4 and, after playing a fortnight at Colorado City, will return East to their home at Allegheny City, Pa.

J. W. DEMPSEY, late stage manager of Morris Theatre, Columbus, O., was married to Clara Herbert, of the Herbert Sisters, Dec. 17, at the above city.

DICK HUMM is gradually improving in health at Jacksonville, Fla., where he will probably remain until next April. Mr. Hume hopes to resume work next season.

MRS. OLLIE HALL, wife of the vocal director of W. S. Cleveland's Colored Minstrels, died at her home, Batavia, Ill., Dec. 22.

OTTO, the young son of Prof. Maurer, is giving magical entertainments, and seems to be a successful performer.

FOREPAUGH NOTES.—W. H. Barnum fills the position of superintendent of the Port Richmond Winter quarters very acceptably, and often gives evidence of being one of the best posted men in his line. The names of Bobbie Burns and Tom Moore have appeared regularly on the pay roll at Winter quarters for seventeen years. Old Charley Carroll is still on deck, and is one of the busiest men at headquarters. He can give pointers enough to a naturalist to fill a big book on natural history. J. B. Gaylord, who has circumnavigated the globe three times, was a visitor last week, and regaled the boys with interesting anecdotes. Mr. Gaylord's description of how King Theebaw can manipulate a jackpot is charming, indeed. His account of a visit to the King of Burmah's stables, in search of the white elephant, is also highly entertaining, but his story of a banana peddler's visit to the royal palace takes the whole bakery. In fact, there are few more interesting yarn swappers than Mr Gaylord, whose years of travel and experience have furnished a world of incident. Every week adds new tricks to the list of accomplishments possessed by young Adam Forepaugh's educated bronchos. The new railroad cars being built at Point Breeze for the big show are said to be the best ever constructed. They are being furnished with all modern improvements. Manager James E. Cooper is in constant demand at Point Breeze and Port Richmond, owing to his extensive acquaintance with every detail of the work. Another big shipment of animals arrived at Port Richmond Dec. 26, and were immediately housed. Mike Strebig has taken up quarters at the Lafayette for the Winter, and is said to be very Quakerish. Mike was always brotherly. Fred Walter is assistant to Pat Forepaugh, and reports great progress from the elephant house. The elephants are at work on new tricks.

ROSTER of Healy & Bigelow's Kickapoo Indian Co., No. 7: Matt McCormick, manager; Dr. J. H. West, lecturer; Frank Gordon, stage manager; Prof. Gordon's dog circus, J. H. West's Royal Marionetts, F. G. Moore, and four Kickapoo Indians. Business is reported good through South Carolina.

CHARLES STEELE, late drummer at the Howard Athenæum, Roston, and who died suddenly in that city of heart disease last week, was an Englishman by birth, about thirty six years of age and had been a resident of this country nearly fifteen years. He had served in the Eighty-seventh Foot Regiment of the English army, and was a member of the New York Musical Mutual Protective Union. Mr. Steele was a steady, sober man, and had accumulated quite a snug sum. He had no relatives in America, but it is understood that some members of his family live at Bermondsey, London, Eng., who may probably be entitled to the inheritance. Prof. Louis Baer, leader at the Howard Athenæum, has charge of deceased's effects, and would like to hear from any of his relatives.

THE following people were stationed at the Fashion Theatre, San Antonio, Tex., last week: Carrie Abbott, Ed. Hogan and Dot Fisher, Dixie Hargrave, Ed. Carey, Woodburn Sisters, Jennie Davis, Elsie Smith, Minnie Dwyer, the Powers, J. G. Fletcher, Dollie Williams and the regular stock.

AT the Central Theatre, Zanesville, O., week of Dec. 29: The Chicks, Wm. and Jennie Stanford, Harry Ainsley, Minnie Stoddard, John H. Fay and Mamie Sullivan.

ANNIE BELL will spend the balance of the Winter at her home, St Louis. She has been re-engaged for the Forepaugh Show for next season.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—Heretofore Christmas week has been a proverbially poor one in this city for our playhouses, but the week just passed was an exception, and good business generally prevailed. Evans and Hoey, at Rapley's New Theatre, were received with the friendly welcome usually accorded them as old friends. "Poor Jonathan," by the Casino Road Co., held the boards at Albaugh's Grand Opera House. Large and well pleased audiences greeted the opera with every indication of approval. Camille D'Arville, who assumed the role of Harriet for the first time here 22, replacing Marie Halton, made a pronounced hit. "After Dark," at Harris' Bijou Theatre, had excellent business. Cleveland's Magnificents, at Lincoln Music Hall, did not have the patronage they deserved, owing to the fact that this hall, being comparatively new, has not yet become one of our regularly well known places of amusements. The Sensational Boom, a new variety organization under the management of Ed. S. Newman and Harry S. Van Auken, had splendid business. They have a first class roster of specialty people. The Globe Theatre, the existence of which on its present site will be a memory of the past, after the close of the season, had its usual crowded auditorium at every performance.

RAPLEY'S NEW NATIONAL THEATRE.—Marie Wainwright Dec. 29-Jan. 5. E. H. Sothern 5-10.

ALBAUGH'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Russell's "City Directory" (not "Miss McGinty," as the types made me say last week) Dec. 29-Jan 3, the Amberg Theatre Co. 5-10.

HARRIS' BIJOU THEATRE.—Dan Mason in "A Clean Sweep" Dec. 29-Jan. 3. "A Royal Pass" 5-10

KERNAN'S NEW THEATRE.—Williams & Orr's Meteors Dec 29-Jan. 3, the City Club Burlesque Co. 5-10.

LINCOLN MUSIC HALL.—Agnes Huntington in "Paul Jones" Dec. 29-Jan. 3.

GLOBE THEATRE.—"Wild Cat Nell," by George France, with the following new specialty people: Geo. Whitford, Louise Crollus and the Goldens. Holding over: Mable Hudson, Sato, Bowers and Hazleton, Lillie Weldon, Alice Linden, Nellie Fox and the four pairs of twin sisters—the Shepperds, the Althears, the Wardes and the Starrs—with John Grieves as general manager.

NOTES.—W. W. Rapley, owner of the New National Theatre, has secured a lease of Lincoln Music Hall for a term of years. It will be rechristened the Academy of Music, and will be opened as a regular theatre next September, playing first class attractions only. His son, Harry Rapley, will manage the New Academy of Music in addition to his present duties as manager of the New National.....What might have been a serious fire was prevented by its timely discovery on the roof of Harris' Bijou Theatre Dec. 27 between the matinee and night performances of "After Dark." A few pailfuls of water extinguished the flames. If it had happened an hour or two earlier, or later, a panic would have been the result, notwithstanding the house is amply supplied with means of exit.....Manager Harry Fisk, of Albaugh's Grand Opera House, was agreeably surprised Christmas morning by being presented, by the attaches of the front of the house, with a magnificent solid brass standing parlor lamp, with all the latest improved attachments and silk embroidered umbrella shade. The stage attaches gave him a heavy oak office chair, upholstered in embossed leather, and a handsome waste paper basket.....The custom of giving and receiving Christmas presents, so universally indulged in by members of the theatrical profession, was fully observed last week. The people at the Globe fared as follows: John Grieves received a heavy gold headed cane. Althea and Warde Sisters each a silver manicure set. Millie Fox a gold watch and chain, Alice Linden diamond solitaire ear drop, Managers Koop & Nopper gold lockets, Starr Sisters each a fine bracelet, Sheppard Sisters each a solitaire ring, Bobby Murray a gold locket, Emily Althea a set of elegant furs and a theatrical trunk. Lillie Welden a necklace. At Harris' Bijou Theatre, Manager Easton was remembered with a solitaire diamond ring.

The Antonio Sisters, due 22 disappointed. Mons. Mansulla and wife and Kelly and Bertha are retained. The last four people had the whole burden of the show on their shoulders week of 15, owing to several people failing to connect. Business has been fair.....John Burns, formerly of Edson and Burns, who has been out of the business for the last five years and living in this city, will next month return to his old love and rejoin his former partner, Mr. Edson.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—The old woman of the sky spent the entire day on Christmas "picking her geese." Not in years had the Queen City ever seen such a snowstorm, and the day which promised such great things in the way of coin for the managerial stockings only brought a great deal of "frost." The snow was in such drifts that the home, and not the theatre, proved the great attraction of the holiday. No poorer Christmas haul had been made here in years. One sensational fairy tale, that lived one day and then was stamped as false, dealt with the Pike Opera House. John R. Rogers arrived last week to secure that Opera House for Prof. Cromwell, and he succeeded in getting time. On that foundation the story was built that Mr. Rogers was to succeed Louis Ballenberg. Both gentlemen pronounced it absurd.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Shenandoah" came Dec. 29. H. E. Dixey did as well as anybody in town. "Miss McGinty" Jan. 5.

HUCK'S OPERA HOUSE.—The Hanlon-Voltet-Martinetti Co. opened Dec. 28 for New Year's week. "A Midnight Bell" did well until the blizzard struck it. "The Burglar" comes Jan 4.

PIKE OPERA HOUSE.—Robert McWade appeared Dec. 29 in "Rip Van Winkle." "The U. S. Mail" did a nice business last week. Marie Wainwright Jan. 5.

HAVLIN'S THEATRE.—"The Ivy Leaf" was put on Dec. 28. "A Pair of Jacks" was lively enough to draw crowds in rubber boots and snowshoes last week. "My Jack" Jan. 4.

HARRIS' THEATRE.—The Wilbur Opera Co. returned Dec. 28 after a week in the Falls City and appeared in "The Mascot." Nelson's World Specialty Co. did nicely last week. P. F. Baker Jan. 4.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Harry Williams' Own Co. succeeded Reilly & Wood's Co. Dec. 28. The latter did a splendid business. The Elliott Vaudevillers Jan. 4.

ODEON.—The Harvard Glee Club opened Dec. 29, closely following the Princeton Banjo and Glee Club, that gave a concert 27. The Yale Glee Club comes Jan. 2.

KOHL & MIDDLETON'S MUSEUM.—There was a convention of lady whistlers in curio hall Dec. 29, in addition to the monster headed man, the Lucasies, the Indian Band and "Rattlesnake Tom." The Queen City Lady Minstrels occupied the stage in the auditorium. Business was good last week.

GERMANIA HALL.—Over at "Gabe's" the aces seen Christmas week were Emma Sunlin, Lillie Masson, Mc Coy and Francis, Della Foster, Bobby Raynor, Tom West and Rose Ward.

GOSSIP.—The Price Hill Opera Club went up to Hamilton, O., 27 and presented "The Pirates of Penzance.".....The Bottom of the Sea" laid off here 22-24, and opened at Lima Christmas Day.....Madge White Webber was the soloist at the "Sunday pop" 28.....Mrs. Eliza Ferhide, the mother of Bessie Hall, was found dead in bed 26. Her body was taken to the Morgue. She was the widow of a soldier.....John A. Avery has returned from Chicago.....The Little Goliath" was the New Year's booking at the Pike, but it had to be canceled.....Charles H. Hoyt and C. W. Thomas spent Christmas here.....Charles Van Sicklen, of Harry Williams' Co., and Manager Boyd, of "Shenandoah," dropped in at the same moment.....W. W. Black, of "The Seven Ages," ran up to Columbus to enjoy a few days with old friends.....H. J. Savers, of Thatcher's Minstrels, was in town 25.....The biggest professional matinee ever given here was at the People's 22 when nearly every actor and actress in the city appeared in the acts on the Reilly & Wood programme.....The tops of all the box stalls at the Pike have been "amputated," and the effect is electrical.....Mique O'Brien has so many bolts his friends here titled him "Job." Mr. O'Brien, by the way, was presented with six silver match boxes on Christmas. He will never want for a light.....Tom Hampton, a veteran actor, was once in Wood's stock.....Susie Kirwin remembered all the attaches at Harris' on Christmas Day.

Columbus.—At the Metropolitan Opera House, Thatcher's Minstrels had large houses Dec. 25, 26. Elliott's Voyagers gave a performance 28 to fair business. Maggie Mitchell comes Jan 1-3.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Evangeline" opened a week's engagement Dec. 28. "The Clemenceau Case" (Brady's No. 1) had good houses 21-25. Brady's "Bottom of the Sea" had fair audiences the balance of the week.

PARK THEATRE.—Harry Webber's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" week of Dec 28-Jan. 3. J. Z. Little's "World" Co. had good business Dec 21-27.

BIJOU THEATRE.—Opening 29, the Lillie Hall Burlesque Co. Business has been good.

MORRIS' THEATRE.—New faces 29: Collins and Madell, Lizzie M. Hanley, John M. Traynor, McCorgen Sisters and the Wright Sisters. Business is good.

EICHENLAUB'S AMUSEMENT HALL.—Opening 29: Annie Sylvester, Wood and Beasley, Gannon and Reynolds, and the stock.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Elliott's Voyagers refused to play at this theatre week of 22-28 as announced, owing to some disagreement with the management regarding a guarantee. The car in which they travel was attached, and is held on a judgment. Opening 29: Eva Vincent, Eddie Harris, Harry Kelly and Ella West.

Toledo.—At the Wheeler, "The Clemenceau Case" Dec. 31, Frank Mayo Jan. 3.

PEOPLE'S.—"The Blue and the Gray" did a fair business, notwithstanding the distractions of Christmas week. Charles A Gardner opened Dec. 29 for six nights and three matinees. Brady's "Bottom of the Sea" follows week of Jan. 5.

DIXON'S STANDARD.—This week: John and Rena Sanders, Geo. F. Dougherty, Monroe and Devine, Nellie Baker, Raymond and Sinclair, Leroy and Burns, and Ada Gilmore.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans.—It was a merry Christmas all around at the theatres here, and Santa Claus did not forget the various managers, treasurers and artists. Business was excellent, and Conried's Comic Opera Co. in "The Gypsy Baron" and "The King's Fool" made an artistic success, as did "The Little Tycoon" Co.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"The Gypsy Baron" was handsomely put on, and from the outset won favor with the New Orleans public. Every feature of the performance displayed evidence of the most careful and intelligent training. The choruses were superb and the drills remarkable, not only for the beauty of those who participated in them, but also for the great variety and grace of the evolutions executed. "The Pearl of Pekin" is due 28. Primrose & West's Minstrels Jan. 4.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"The Little Tycoon," produced under the direction of its author and manager, made a charming entertainment at this house, to large audiences. "Shenandoah" is due Dec. 28.

ST. CHARLES THEATRE.—Edwin Arden's engagement at this house, in "Raglan's Way," was a profitable one. "Life in the Metropolis" 28.

AVENUE THEATRE.—Rose Osborne gave excellent performances of "Satan," to a large week's business. Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb's Co 28.

ROBINSON'S DIME MUSEUM was largely patronized Christmas week. Among the new attractions in the museum are a mother and daughter, whose hair resembles moss, Mme. De Vere (bearded lady) and Stendell's Kaleidoscope, illusions of Rock of Ages and other curiosities. In the theatre the programme shows Prof. Haine's Venetian Nights—a series of pretty and interesting lantern slides—Hattie Neville, Albene, Will E Conkling, Lee Mitchell and Fred McClelland.

NOTES.—The employes of the Grand Opera House presented Manager Henry Greenwald on Christmas with a most elegant driving outfit, composed of a handsome gold handled whip, plush robe, horse blanket, rug and gloves, as a token of their affection. The stage hands gave Stage Manager Thomas Boyle a crayon portrait of himself and wife and Assistant Manager H. H. Jacobs was remembered in a substantial manner; even the ladies thought of him.....Manager Eugene Robinson, now at Detroit with his "Paul Kauvar" Co., did not forget his attaches here. He sent them all a valuable present, as usual.....Mrs. David Bidwell saw fit to carry out the deceased venerable manager's custom of giving a toy gift matinee on Christmas at the Academy of Music. The house was packed.....Manager Dunin also gave a gift matinee at the French Opera House.

TENNESSEE.

Memphis.—At the Grand Opera House, James O'Neill comes Dec. 29-31, Janauschek Jan. 1-3, "Spider and Fly" 5-7, "The Little Tycoon" 8-10. Milton Nobles did fairly well Dec. 18-20. The Carleton Opera Co. had large audiences until inclement weather set in 24.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The house remains dark 29-31. "The Nabobs" come Jan. 1-3. "Si Perkins" drew moderately until Dec 24 when business was correspondingly bad with the other houses.

MEMPHIS THEATRE.—"Beacon Lights" 29, 30, "The Stowaway" 31-Jan. 3, the Lilly Clay Co. 5-7. "The Two Johns" 8-13. P. F. Baker opened Dec. 22 for a week, and did fairly the first two nights.

GENTRY'S THEATRE.—Horace Cone, in "The Passion Slave," 29 and week, assisted by the stock.

UTAH.

Salt Lake City.—At the Salt Lake Theatre, Cleveland's Minstrels played to miserably poor business Dec 18, 19, 20. Louis James came three nights last week.....At the Franklin Theatre crowded houses have been the rule ever since the place opened. The people last week: The Bickel Bros., Minnie Bickell, Flynn and Walker, Laura Ashby, Millie Davenport, Colton and Winchell, Clara Morris (song and dance), Serpentinello, Durell Twin Bros., Mabel Rivers, Lillie Hastings, Ada Armour, Nora Williams, Billy Kennedy, Kittie King, Pearl Stevens, Jennie Kimball, Al. Newton, Clara Edwards, Fannie Gorman and Dalton and Boyle.

NEW YORK CITY.

Review of the Week.—The holidays have brought no novelty of greater importance than the Sardou-Moreau "Cleopatra," which, on Tuesday night, Dec. 23, was presented for the first time before an American audience. The FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE was brilliantly crowded, and there was a warm welcome for Fanny Davenport, who, with this costly and careful production, opened her tour for 1890-91, under the management of Mayer & Stern. As indicating the strength of her new company, we append the speaking cast of "Cleopatra:" Cleopatra, Fanny Davenport; Octavia, Ida Frohawk; Charmian, Blanche Moulton; Iras, Lillian Burke; Kephren, Theodore Roberts; Demetrius, William Flynn; Thyseus, George Osbourne; Dercetas, H. B. Bradley; Dellius, J. H. Hollingshead; Octavius Cæsar, J. Finch Smiles; Mark Antony, Melbourne MacDowell. We probably express the fairest verdict when we attribute to Miss Davenport's venture the credit of a relative success. There had been wide promises of a most picturesque and effective mounting of the new tragedy, and those promises were agreeably fulfilled. Messrs. Clare, Witham, Maeder, Hoyt and Schaeffer had wielded their clever brushes on the scenery, which was excellent, and the costumes, rich in color and accurate in design, were genuinely from Paris—as Miss Davenport gave us good reason to believe, for they were not permitted to pass the customs authorities until a heavy bond had been put up by her. At the opening performance, indeed, the costumes were worn by courtesy of Uncle Sam. Special Agent Wilbur, of the Treasury Department, seized the costumes 22 for evasion of duties, and put Inspectors Booth and Kerrigan in charge. The costumes are worth about $10,000, and the duties will be between $3,000 and $4,000. Special Agent Wilbur says he has evidence that the costumes were paid for by Miss Davenport personally, and, as she did not bring them across the ocean in her personal "luggage," they must pay duty. Ex-Judge A. J. Dittenhoefer and Marcus Mayer, representing Miss Davenport, called on the Collector 24, and agreed to give a bonus sufficient to cover the value and duties of the costumes. The goods were released on the execution of the bond, and Miss Davenport will have the use of the costumes in "Cleopatra." The question at issue will be decided by the United States Circuit Court. Should Miss Davenport be held responsible to the charge, she cannot obtain the dresses except on paying the appraised value of the costumes and their duty. This little incident played its part in gratuitously advertising the production, of course. During the week the audiences were quite large. Miss Davenport's conception of the Egyptian queen seems to have been modeled after that of Sarah Bernhardt, who created the role in the Paris production of the play, Oct. 23 last, at the Porte St. Martin. She at least realized M. Sardou's heroine in dramatic fire, though she did not express the witchery or the tenderer sentiments of the sorceress with all the subtlety and delicacy that could have been wished Mr. McDowell made an impressive Antony, and praise is also due to Theo. Roberts for an admirable performance as Kephren. The others in the cast were generally competent and conscientious. Lillian Burke, we believe, on this occasion made her debut on the stage. Xavier Leroux's original incidental music was played, with some interpolations by Miss Davenport's leader, W. W. Furst. At the Christmas matinee a panic was very narrowly averted. The covering of some electric wires running on a pipe in the left side of the Twenty-eighth Street lobby caught fire, causing considerable smoke. Two or three men ran at once to block the exits of the balcony and gallery in case of a panic. Just as one of the men reached the gallery, a brawny fellow shouted out at the top of his voice: "Fire!" A blow on the jaw from an usher laid him low. People rushed to the exits, and the ushers tried to stop them, telling them that everything would be all right in a minute. In the excitement a lady jumped through a stained glass window in the balcony, and fell on a fire escape below, unhurt. The noise of the crashing glass made matters worse, and put a stop to the performance. In the meantime some paper flowers which had caught fire had been torn from the pipe and stamped out. Mr. McDowell was quickly apprised of the cause of the trouble, and stepped forward and begged the audience to remain quiet. He made a neat little speech in which he assured the audience that there was no danger, and those present became quiet and returned to their seats. The performance was then continued, and a big sheet of muslin was nailed over the broken window to keep out the air.

.....These were the theatres at which there was a continuance of the preceeding week's bill: THE UNION SQUARE ("The County Fair"), the ACADEMY ("The Old Homestead"), the STAR, ("The Senator"), FOURTEENTH STREET ("Blue Jeans"), BIJOU ("A Texas Steer"), DALY'S ("The Last Word"), STANDARD ("Ship Ahoy!"), NIBLO'S ("My Aunt Bridget"), CASINO ("Poor Jonathan"), PALMER'S ("The Middleman"), PROCTOR'S ("Men and Women"), HERRMANN'S (Prof. Herrmann), MADISON SQUARE ("A Pair of Spectacles" and "Afterthoughts"), LYCEUM ("The Idler") and the GARDEN THEATRE ("Dr. Bill" and "Sunset"). At Palmer's "The Middleman" was acted for the last time Dec. 27, having lasted since Nov. 10. Mr. Willard remains, but changes his play Dec. 29, to "Judah," as elsewhere noted in detail.....The week stands finished 27 were as follow: "Good Old Times" at the WINDSOR, Ada Gray's "East Lynne" Co. at the EIGHTH STREET, Prof. Kellar and the educated lions at the HARLEM OPERA HOUSE, Kate Claxton's "Two Orphans" Co. at the COLUMBUS, Pauline Hall's Opera Co. at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE and John A. Stevens' "Wife for Wife" Co. at H. R. JACOBS' THEATRE.....At the AMBERG familiar German plays were revived all the week. The house was closed 24. "Cinderella" was sung 25. On 27 "The Haunted Castle" was sung, and as Andredi, Franz Josef Brackl, a tenor from Munich, Bav., made a very successful American debut. He has a clear, sweet voice, which he uses with admirable intelligence. He was very warmly applauded.....Hebrew drama prevailed at the THALIA and the ROUMANIA (PILLING'S).....Duff's Opera Co., headed by Lilly Post, and comprising A. W. F. MacCollin, C. Bainbridge, Wm. McLaughlin, J. C. Fay, J. E. Stille, Minnie De Rue, Fanny Edwards, Chas. Bassett, Cornelia Bassett, Annie Cameron and others, sang "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Patience" at the BROADWAY to fair sized audiences during their first week. Mr. Stille, as the Duke in "Patience," made his New York debut afternoon of 25..... The "True Irish Hearts" Co., at the HARLEM THEATRE, the German Liliputians, at the NEW PARK, and J. M. Hill's "Money Mad" Co., at the PEOPLE'S, had profitable patronage 22-27, and each remained this week.....LENOX LYCEUM and the BERKELEY LYCEUM were used for miscellaneous entertainments, concerts, etc., of not more than local importance.....The German opera season at the METROPOLITAN continued brilliantly, but there were no novelties or debuts.....The MADISON SQUARE GARDEN AMPHITHEATRE remained in darkness.....Variety reigned profitably at TONY PASTOR'S, the HARLEM OLYMPIC, MINER'S BOWERY, the LONDON and the EIGHTH AVENUE.....All the theatres save Palmer's gave a Christmas matinee, and a number of them celebrated the day by presenting to the many children who attended gifts in the shape of toys and candy. At the Casino three hundred and fifty children enjoyed "Poor Jonathan," and were made happy by receiving some mechanical toy each. At the Harlem Opera House a variety of dolls, tool chests, HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM.—Enterprise, with a big E, is the watchword of the management for the new year. The initial bill for 1891 certainly bears that stamp, too. The double company is to be continued, having proved a signal success since its introduction, just before the holidays. The opera company will present the ever acceptable "Pinafore" for week of Dec. 29, and the alternating specialty company will consist of the Excelsior Quartet, Brevort and Wilson, Markley and Hughes, Christie and Pearl, Ada Gilbert and the Lees. J. A. Dewey still directs the stage performances with care and intelligence. Princess Lucy remains the chief novelty in the curio halls. The new features include Andy Gaffney, strong man; Amelia Hill, fat girl; Admiral Dot, midget; P. J. Kenyon, equilibrist; the Hildebrants, tattooed people; Lozardia and her trained birds, Ida Williams, Flossie Le Blanch, Walter Wentworth and others. Business keeps up to the top notch, and all moves smoothly.

"THE SENATOR" is nearing the close of its prosperous career at the Star. The first New York production of "Mr. Potter of Texas" will be given at this theatre early in February.

"MONEY MAD" is in its second and final week at the People's, where the houses have been large since its opening.

LITTLE CHILDREN OF THE STAGE.—A Christmas festival and a good time generally was extended to the little children of the stage Dec. 28 at Tony Pastor's Theatre and Tammany Hall. A splendid performance was given in the theatre, followed by the presentation of gifts and a banquet in the hall. Among the children who contributed to the performance, with either recitations or songs, were: Grace Hafen, Lillie Heckler, Mabel Earle, Irving Pinnover, Eddie Widmere, Johnnie McKever, Little Tuesday, Clifford Roberts, Annie Ryan, Anna Bishop, Grace Sherwood, Chip, the boy wonder, Annie Burnside, Baby Juliet, Ilma Pratt, Gertie Boswell, Pettie Dunn, Gertie Barrison, Roy Scott, Flossie Ethel, Hattie and Kittie Hughes and little Harry Kernell. Little Tuesday and Chip made very distinct hits, the former fairly carrying the house by storm with her clever and graceful skirt dancing specialty. She was carried off the stage on an immense hobby horse, presented to her by the committee. After the performance the children indulged in turkey, ice cream and sweetmeats to their heart's content, and then they gathered before three mammoth Christmas trees in the large upper room of Tammany Hall, where they were treated kindly and generously by a score of Santa Clauses. "Aunt" Louisa Eldridge was the president of the committee, and had general supervision of everything, while Tony Pastor officiated as master of ceremonies, with able assistants in Mrs. E. L. Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Burgess, H. S. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harrigan, Mrs. Tony Pastor, Mrs. Julia H. Percy, J. E. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bowron, Mrs. D. H. Roberts, Mrs. George Stoddard, David Towers, Judith Beroide, Celie Ellis, Maude Harrison, Mrs. Mallon, Mrs. Lester Gurney, Mrs. General Ferraro, Nellie Lingard, Lillie Eldridge, Laura Burt, Sylvia Gerrish, Mrs. Edith Widmere, Louise Allen, Maggie Cline, Joseph Arthur, Jennie Yeamans, Jesse Williams and others. A pin, patterned after the American flag, and set with thirteen diamonds, was presented to "Aunt Louisa" by the members of the committee, and Mrs. E. L. Fernandez received a brooch of enameled forget-me-nots. The festival proved a thorough success, and was enjoyed by upwards of half a thousand children.

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—The Parisian Folly and Spectacular Co., under the management of C. W. Williams, opened the week here Monday night, Dec. 29, to a good house. The company are composed of some clever people, and their merits were fully discussed in these columns upon their recent city appearance. Next week, Irwin Bros.' Specialty Co.

A BENEFIT was given to Henry W. Johnson at the Bijou Sunday night, Dec. 28, when Jennie Yeamans, R. C. Hilliard, H. S. Hilliard, Katherine Howe, Tim Murphy, Anna Boyd and others volunteered. There was a large attendance. Mr. Johnson has been quite ill of late, and is now at the Brower House in a crippled condition.

WINDSOR THEATRE.—The number of people who gathered on Monday night, Dec. 29, to witness "The Charity Ball" at this house fully attested Manager Murtha's good judgment in varying his class of plays. The house was full, notwithstanding the disagreeable weather and bad walking, and it was an intelligent audience withal, no good point in the play (which ran a season at a city theatre) being lost or failing to receive recognition. Following is the cast: John Van Buren, Boyd Putnum; Dick Van Buren, Henry Herman; Judge Peter Gurney Knox, Thomas H. Burns; Franklin Cruger, Harry J. Morgan; Mr. Creighton, John S. Hale; Alex. Robinson, Walter Thomas; Mr. Betts, A. W. Gregory; Paxton, Frank Lawrence; Cain, Master Vaughn; Jasper, Robert Tiffany; Ann Cruger, Ruth Carpenter; Phyllis Lee, Frances Gaunt; Bess Van Buren, Bessie Tvree; Mrs. Camilla De Peyster, Ethel Greybrooke; Mrs. Van Buren, Eliza Logan. The company is one of Daniel Frohman's road troupes. Next week, "A Tin Soldier."

GAIETY MUSEUM.—Business at this house was above par last week. On Christmas Day sixteen performances were given. Manager Bernstein has made some changes in the upper curio hall, adding a new stage, upon which specialties will be given. For New Year's week, Sitting Bull's pony, upon which he sat when killed, will be on exhibition. Other attractions are: Alice Williams and May Morgan (wrestlers), Sam and Sadie (whittlers), Young Albertus, Susie Conreid, Miss Milton, Prof. Gooddo, Mme. Goe Yura, Prof. Campbell's Punch and Judy, and numerous wax figures. Stage: Harry Thompson, supported by the stock, in "Kansas Kit."

H. R. JACOBS' THEATRE.—"The Great Metropolis," under the management of Klaw & Erlanger, was produced on Monday night, Dec. 29. The many strong situations and decided pathos of this well known melodrama were warmly applauded by the large audience. The cast is uniformly strong, and received the heartiest approbation. Forrest Robinson, as Jack Holt, played the honest, straightforward sailor to perfection. Clarence Heritage, as Walter Mowbray, was the accomplished villain, and Harry A. Weaver Jr., as Capt. Will Webster, gave an excellent interpretation of the role. Jay Mowbray was a lovable Neil Carr, and Carrie Jackson as Gertrude, the victim, lent much feeling to her rather trying role. Alfa Perry, as Clara Maitland, also did well. The comedy part was quite well sustained by Wm. Friend, as Bert, the real estate agent. The rest of the cast are as follow: Capt. Carr, H. D. Byers; Edwin Holt, Thomas Young; Harry Vansittart, J. C. Callahan; Tom Kelly, Martin Cody; "Dook," Emma Chase; Matthew Quinn, Arthur Edwards; Dally, Master Murdock; Mrs. Carr, Mary Lee; Pantine, Alice Mansfield. The scenery and mechanical effects were excellent, especially the lighthouse scene and the life saving apparatus, the expert handling of which latter caused great enthusiasm. The executive staff is: James E. Nugent, manager; Fred McCloy, business manager; Martin Cody, stage manager. "One of the Finest" comes next week.

LONDON THEATRE.—Whallen & Martell's Mammoth Co. started in Monday, Dec. 29, to entertain the patrons of this house. They scored a success. The performance opened with the popular magician, Rouclere, who mystified the audience by the dexterity with which he produced all sorts of unexpected results, and the way in which he juggled cigar boxes, lighted lamps, etc. Maude Revelle, in songs and dances, during which she makes several surprisingly rapid changes of costume, scored a decided hit. Prof. Wm. Kappes performed on the slack wire, and balanced himself gracefully. The Nawns, in their sketch, "Rinklets," were very amusing. Sep Earl performed on several musical instruments, including the familiar sleigh bells, Golden and Quigg, in their specialty, "Celtic Aspirations," did some very funny knockabout business. Dan Regan, banjo comedian, amused with his monologue and songs. The Martell Bros. gave an exhibition of gymnastic and acrobatic feats with success. Brown and Harrison in their act, "Married by Proxy," were very well received. Lucille and Revelle's all sorts of terpsichorean isms pleased greatly. The Only Hunn, as he is billed, next appeared successfully. Dixon and Lang, in "Scenes on the Bowery," making several changes, brought down the house. Their act is really good. Emerson and Cook, the well known black face comedians, came next with some jokes and general fun. The Martell Family, in feats on the bicycle, held the beholders breathless during their skillful evolutions. It will readily be seen that this show, in variety and the number of its acts, is as good as any that has appeared here. Business has been uniformly good during the tour, and the season's promises are encouraging. Whallen & Martell are proprietors, John Hammond is the advance, and Harry Brown is stage manager. Hyde's Big Specialty Co. has a return date next week.

THE SUPREME COURT, GENERAL TERM, on Dec. 29, affirmed the decision of the lower court sustaining the action of the Mayor in refusing to issue a license to Prof. Worth for his new dime museum at Sixth avenue and Thirtieth Street. Mr. Worth has therefore withdrawn his application, and a new one has been filed by Carroll Cudneen, a liquor dealer, of this city, to whom the Mayor will probably issue the license.

HARRIGAN'S NEW THEATRE.—After a series of postponments made necessary by unlooked for and vexatious delays on the part of architect, builder and workmen, Edward Harrigan's New Theatre, on West Thirty-fifth Street, near Sixth Avenue, was formally dedicated Monday night, Dec. 29, when Mr. Harrigan for the first time in his long career found himself the sole owner of a playhouse bearing his name. The occasion was notable, and it was made brilliant and impressive by the presence of a crowded and enthusiastic audience, comprising many political magnates, a host of inveterate playgoers, the usual sprinkling of men about town and an army of Mr. Harrigan's personal friends and admirers. THE CLIPPER has already made known that the house for the first night—the gallery alone excepted—had previously been sold at auction, and that a handsome sum had been realized from the premiums. Manager M. W. Hanley's foresight enabled the press representatives to find themselves in choice seats. The boxes were occupied by gay and richly attired groups of pretty women, while through the auditorium and balcony there was a good sprinkling of the social element. The gallery was packed, of course, tickets having been sold in the usual way. From tier and from parquet alike there were demonstrations of approval at the initial sight of the new house. In another column we fully describe its architectural and decorative features. It is a cosy, well appointed and artistically equipped little playhouse, of which Mr. Harrigan and Manager Hanley have every reason to feel proud. Its delicate colors, picturesque construction and manifold conveniences quickly caught the fancy of its inaugural audience, and the applause started early. It swelled into an uproar when the familiar pate of David Braham appeared from under the stage on its way to the leader's chair, with his excellent musicians following him, and it became a thunder when the curtain went up and the favorites of the Harrigan company began to appear. For Mr. Harrigan there was a long continued demonstration, ceasing only when the actor manager came forward to speak. He did not talk long, but he spoke to the point, assuring his friends of the delight he felt at facing them again, and especially in his own theatre. He then brought out Philip A. Smyth, a real estate agent, to whose energy, he said, was largely due the founding and completion of the new house. Mr. Smyth made a n at response, urging his hearers to continue faithful in their allegiance to Mr. Harrigan and his company, and so make the new theatre a permanent and a successful home. For Mrs. Annie Yeamans and John Wild, who made their reappearance in Mr. Harrigan's company after a long and regrettable absence, there was a special welcome, as hearty as it was noisy, and forcing Mr. Wild to verbally express his pleasure in being back among his old associates. Joseph Sparks, George Merritt, Harry Fisher, John Decker, William West and James Burke also were greeted with loud plaudits on their first appearance. The play was Mr. Harrigan's latest work, "Reilly and the 400,' a three act local drama, and this was its initial performance on any stage. We give the full cast: Wily Reilly, Edward Harrigan; Salvator Magnus, John Wild; Lizzie Calhoun, Jos. Sparks; Commodore Toby Tow, James Radcliffe; Herman Smeltz, Harry Fisher; Jeems Jaijers, Geo. Merritt; Ned Reilly, Harry Davenport; Percy Oggles, Fred Peters; Mrs. Jackson, Chas. T. White; Cream Cooler, Peter Goldrich; Milkman, Hippolite Duval, Richard Quilter; Valentine McClinchy, Dan Burke; Bessie Bowlow, John Decker: That's What, James Burke; Jimmy the Con, William West; Roundsman Moran, James McCullough; Iceman, James Rennie; Butcher, Alfred Waite; James McGoudrick John Walsh, Dionysius Dorrigan, Chas. Coffey; Slattery, Edwin Murphy; Ignatius McCune, Edward Gorman; August Shutzer, Jos. Williamson; Emil Shutzer, Master Tony; Lavine Gale, Hattie Moore; Emiline Gale, Isabelle Archer; Maggy Murphy, Emma Pollock; Kittie Lynch, Ada Lewis, Maryann Dooley, Mrs. Annie Yeamans; Guests, Daisy Andrews, Lorraine Dreux, Margery Teel, Miss Martinez, Fannie Batchelder, etc. Five sets of scenery had been painted for the piece by Mr. Harrigan's new artist, D. Frank Dodge, whose work proved to be careful, accurate and very effective, the views of downtown places being especially fine. The play moved somewhat slowly, owing to the frequent interruptions of applause for the actors, and later in the week a brisker and smoother performance will undoubtedly improve the piece. It is constructed after the model of Mr. Harrigan's earlier local plays, and contains a vast amount of its author's epigrammatic wit, in addition to some very graphic pictures of life among the East side lowly. A sketch of the plot must be reserved for our next issue. Suffice it to say at this writing that "Reilly and the 400" pleased its spectators, and that it is likely, after compression and the usual touching up, to have a good lease of life at the new house. The seven songs by Mr. Braham are: "The Jolly Commodore," "Uncle Reilly," "I've Come Home to Stay," "Jim Jam Sailor Superfine," "Maggie Murphy's Home," "Taking in the Town," "The Four Hundred." All are in their clever composer's sprightliest and most enticing vein, and at least five of them will quickly gain popularity. The dance movements in the piece were under the direction of Dan Burke, whose talent in this line is worth praising. Special commendation, however, must be awarded to Emma Pollock, a new and young member of the company, but one who is sure to become a favorite for her dainty ways, her prepossing face and her remarkably graceful and skillful dancing. She is a pupil of Ed. Collyer, and she certainly did her tutor proud, winning abundant applause and flowers at the conclusion of her jig contest with John Decker in the Hester Street ball room scene. The other new faces in the company were those of Chas. T. White, the veteran minstrel, who did a neat "bit" as an aged negro woman; James Radcliffe, who gave an artistic and finished performance of a bluff old sea dog; Harry Davenport, who was a manly and good looking son of the elder Reilly; Hattie Moore, who played a society lady with good effect; Isabelle Archer, who was a rather gauche heroine; and—last, but by no means least—Ada West, who made a positive and signal hit by her impersonation of a "tough" young girl from somewhere back of the Bowery. She was so careful and accurate in her elaboration of this sketch that it stood out vividly among all the minor characters, and won for Miss West constant and sincere applause. Mrs. Yeamans was as dryly comic as usual, though her role did not give her particular prominence. Mr. Wild, however, had one of his old time successes in a black face part that was abundantly funny, and which he interpreted in his most irresistible manner. Mr. Merritt deserves praise for a graphic portrayal of a countryman, and Mr. West, Mr. Coffey, the Burke Brothers, Mr. Williamson, John Decker and Mr. Peters also come in for commendation. Mr. Peters and Mr. Radcliffe had each a solos, as did Miss Pollock, while the other songs were rendered by Mr. Harrigan and the company. The first performance was prolonged until nearly midnight. Flowers were handed over the footlight to the principals of the company, Mr. Harrigan receiving a laurel wreath, and Mr. Braham also being remembered with a wreath of the same description. All the songs were heartily encored, and the night was a gala one, indeed. We need only add that the scale of prices observed at Mr. Harrigan's former theatres (ranging from $1.50 to twenty-five cents) is retained in the new house; that matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday; that Manager M. W. Hanley will have sole charge and direction of affairs in front of the house, and that his executive staff comprises the following: William J. Hanley, treasurer; E. Harrigan Jr., ticket seller; Eugene Callahan, principal doorkeeper; Edward Brady, gallery doorkeeper; H. C. Merritt, janitor; D. Frank Dodge, scenic artist; Robert Cutler, master machinist; John Whalen, electrician and gas man; Ed. A. Willoughby, engineer, and Louis Filber, master of properties.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—The return of Thomas' ideal Gaiety Burlesque Co. was sufficient to crowd the house at both performances Dec. 29. Several changes have been made in the roster since the company appeared on the Bowery earlier in the season, and the result is an excellent performance. The roster: Emma M. Bell, Mlle. Theo, the Five Zephyr Dancers, the Fly-Bells, Phyllis J. Allen, the Hewlettes, Macklin and McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Edison, the Julians and Mlle. Zittella. These people are too well known to need comment. The performance went with a snap that was a credit to the performers as well as the management. A house company appears next week.

THE ACTORS' FUND will have a benefit Jan. 15, at the Garden Theatre, when the Manhattan Athletic Club will furnish the entertainment.

THIS is the last week of "A Pair of Spectacles" and "Afterthoughts," by the stock company at the Madison Square. Rosina Vokes' four weeks engagement opens Jan. 6 (Tuesday), and during her occupancy Mr. Palmer's company will go on the road. When they return they will present a new play by an English author.

EIGHTH STREET THEATRE.—A new management assumed charge of this house Dec. 28, when they gave a sacred concert. A big audience was present, while the talent was of the best, and included the Venetian Lady Orchestra, Sig. Clemente Bologna, the Jaez Sisters, Sig. Nicolas Gorski, Mlle. Augusta Yendick and Mlle. Emma Rosenheld (Romeldi). Prof. Felix Jaeger was the director. On 29 a slim audience attended the first regular performance of the new management. Aside from the first part, the programme was a good one. The bill opened with the pantomime, "Humpty Dumpty on a Farm," which did not go very well, being entirely too slow. Lina Lewis, a clever serio comic, followed. Then came the Days, in their black face turn. Anita, a Spanish dancer, assisted by Senor Allio, received considerable applause. She is a graceful dancer. Others on the bill were Frank Moran, De Barr, Billy Courtright, Frank and Clara Marion, Viola Clifton and Jule Keen, Buffalo Bill's Dutchman, assisted by the stock, in "To the Front, or Dutch among the Indians." Executive staff: J. Borro, lessee and manager; Pasquale and Ramondi, assistant managers; P. Anzelone, treasurer; Fred J. Mackley, acting manager; E. C. Chamberlain Jr., press agent.

GRAND MUSEUM.—This popular East side resort did an immense business last week. The crowded condition of the street, with holiday shoppers, aided materially in causing big audiences to be present at every lecture. The people of this part of town have always patronized the house well, and when the Grand Street stores turn out their multitude of shoppers the Grand Museum benefits. Millie Christine, the two headed nightingale, is the principal card on the bill this week. A good performance is given on both stages.

GEORGE W. PECK, of Peck & Fursman, was a CLIPPER caller Dec. 30. He reports excellent business for their road show. On Jan. 3 Mr. Peck leaves for Pittsburg, to spend a few days with their "U. T. C." Co., No. 1, from whence he will go to join "Daniel Boone."

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—A splendid bill had been prepared for the week ushering in the new year, and a large audience was on hand Dec. 29 to give it their hearty approval. The performance began with some clever and amusing hat and handkerchief spinning by the Fowlers, a pair of finished and acceptable performers. Maude Bevington next made her initial bow before an American audience, scoring a very satisfactory hit. Miss Bevington is a comely and pleasing little vocalist, who long ago gained an excellent reputation in the English music halls for her earnestness and agreeable methods. She will very likely prove a substantial favorite with Pastor's patrons. Nick Hughes then won much applause for his interesting plantation sketches, and was ably assisted by Clare Farron, whose rendition of "The Old Home on the Suwanee River" was truly remarkable. Jose Lewis followed with some first class hand balancing and ingenious contortions, winning marked approval. The jolly and inimitable Tony then opened a mine of mirth with his batch of New Year's songs. Morrissey and Proctor, a couple of very neat and artistic dancers, next secured no end of favor for their fine exhibition of sand and wooden shoe dancing. The ball of fun was kept a-rolling by the sturdy and incomparable Maggie Cline, whose new costumes and new songs were generously applauded. Clark and Williams next scored a genuine success in their new specialty, "Colored Nurses," and as an encore, executed a refreshing song and dance, costumed as coachmen. Those prime favorites, John and James Russell, then amused as "The Irish Lillies," and they were followed by Raflin's educated monkeys, who performed some very clever feats in balancing, rope walking and dancing. The American Four next made their appearance after an absence of over two years, and won plenty of commendation for their comic specialty, entitled "Scenes in a Beanery." Joseph Pettingill, Chas. De Forrest, J. Welch and Pete Gale compose the quartet, and a good one it is, too. O Brien and Reno ended the programme with some novel and absurd acrobatic work. The management announce Feb. 9 as the date for the appearance of Jenny Hill, a popular English character singer who has been specially engaged for the Spring season at this house.

J. K. EMMET, in "Uncle Joe," attracted an excellent attendance at the Grand Opera House Dec. 29, when he commenced a week's engagement. Mr. Emmet again gave his popular impersonation of Fritz, and his clever singing and dancing afforded evident delight to the audience. "Dr. Bill" and "Sunset" will be presented here Jan. 5, with J. B. Polk and Sadie Martinot in the cast.

"JUDAH," Henry Arthur Jones' three act play, which was a London sensation of last season, was acted for the first time in America Dec. 29, at Palmer's, by E. S. Willard and his company. It scored a success, and Mr. Willard added valuably to his American laurels. We defer a review of the performance for our next issue.

"SHIP AHOY!" continues to be hailed with delight by audiences of evenly good size at the Standard Theatre. The nautical opera now runs with ageeable smoothness, and there is no hint as yet of its successor. Bertha Ricci retired from the cast Dec. 27, and Addie Cora Reed is now filling the vacated role very creditably and intelligently. Frank Blair will join the cast, to play the impresario.

Harlem.—At Hammerstein's Opera House last week business was good after Dec. 25. Kellar and the lions being the attraction. This week Marks & Shafner's Internationals. The company includes Cazmann, Jaco and Coco, Master Avolo, the Natuski Xylphone Trio, Lottie Gibson, Chas. Kirk, Minnie Cunningham and Delhauer. This is the last appearance of the Internationals.

COLUMBUS THEATRE.—"Mr. Barnes of New York" opened 29 to a good house. "The Inspector" is next week's bill.

HARLEM THEATRE.—"True Irish Hearts" remains another week. Business last week was quite satisfactory. "Hilarity" next week.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—"The City Club" played to good business last week. The Henry Burlesque Co., No. 1, opened 29 to a big house. Manager J. H. Smith has a company this season equal to any of the road in the burlesque line. The show is filled with new and catchy music. There is nothing about the performance which calls for the chestnut bell. The opening of the show is a novelty in this line of attractions. It is not the usual introduction of shapely forms, encased in beautiful costumes. "A Reception at the Hotel Garnd" started the performance in admirable style, and partakes more on the order of a clever farce than a burlesque. Good singing is introduced by the ladies, all of whom appear in street costumes. This was followed by Texarkanas an easy, graceful dancer. Nothing is more pleasing than to see the lithe form of a beautiful young lady, bending and twisting with all the ease and grace of an Apollo, while her daintily sandaled feet trip lightly over the board to sweet music. Her dancing is as near perfection as any of the numerous fancy dancers we have seen. She is a big card with the Henry Co., and scored a hit at the Olympic 29, when she made her metropolitan debut. She was followed by Will West, an English singer, in his pleasing specialty. McIntyre and Heath were next. Their black face turn is too well known to need comment. Herbert Crowley displayed some beautiful new costumes in his female impersonations. He is a favorite in Harlem. Chas. McDonald, a clever singer and dancer, was next on the bill, and pleased his audience. One of the strongest acts on the programme was the juggling of Eidora and Mlle. Norina, who introduced many new and novel tricks. Fred White's burlesque on "The Goudoliers," entitled "The Gon-Do Lais," closed the show in fine style. Here was introduced the female form divine, draped in gorgeous silk tights and trappings, the colors blending like those of a beautiful rainbow on a clear Summer's day. The scene was bewildering. The singing of the company, and the sweet music introduced, is beyond the usual line of the burlesque companies appearing in the regular vaudeville theatres. Next week, Lester & Allen's Picked Stars. Prices, after Jan. 1, will range from fifteen to fifty cents.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—On Christmas Day Manager Toovey had to close the doors several times, so great was the crowd. This week's bill: Curio halls—Cunningham's troupe of Samoan warriors, Geo. Kennard's cage of rattlesnakes, Edward O'Dell (human snake), Colorado Joe and Herr Wenzell's Punch and Judy. Stage—Lew Baker, Bob Barron, Geo. Coffey, Kittie Goodman, Arthur Kherns, Dora Cole, Millie Olive, Harry and Dan Gardner and John McGrath.

DORIS' MUSEUM.—Business the latter half of last week was the best the house has yet known. This week's bill: Curio hall—Mme. Rosa (bearded lady), Prof. Wallace (silk king), the Miramba Band, Mme. Seymour (tattooed lady), Herr Dreyezer (Hercules), Prof. Harry Allen's Punch and Judy, Prof. Angelo's trained birds, Zulu Zingara (moss haired lady) and Annie Nelson (midget). Stage—Harry Gray, Tom Flynn, Phil Gibbons and Burke and Ryan.

NEW YORK STATE.

Brooklyn.—Besides the black eye received from the three dull days preceding Christmas, it looked as if business last week would be completely knocked out when the heavy storm of Dec 26 set in. However, we escaped the threatened blizzard, and, as Christmas patronage was large, the passable weather of the last day of the week enabled local managers to report business as fair. This week's list of attractions is a good one, the weather of the opening date was favorable, and, if our people are at all theatrically inclined quite a little boom should result. From the appearance of the different houses 29 it looked as if the little boom had come, and, unless the elements form an opposition combination, it will, it is hoped, stay six days.

PARK THEATRE.—A flattering turnout greeted Annie Pixley 29, when the ludicrous errors of "22 Second Floor" were depicted. N. C. Goodwin Jr. closed a fair week 27, although the engagement was not "A Gold Mine" in results. Next week, "A Trip to Chinatown."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—A merry New Year bill has been provided for his patrons by Col. Morris. "Later On" opening 29 to an audience that filled the house. The admirable setting and rendering of "The Great Metropolis" last week was worthy of large patronage, but the effect of the existing handicap was felt, although the business done was far from small. "The Two Sisters" Jan. 5.

STAR THEATRE.—If Manager Holmes does not corral the people this week, it will not be for the lack of a deserving effort. In addition to "The Inspector," the performing lions will receive New Year's week. That the effort is appreciated was evidenced by the full house Dec. 29. Considering the drawbacks of the season, the week of "Grimes' Cellar Door" was satisfactory. Jan. 5, "The U. S. Mail."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—This building figures in the list of houses catering for the trade of holiday week. "From Sire to Son" is the bill, and opened Dec. 29 to a fair audience.

HYDE & BEHMAN'S THEATRE.—The combination holding the boards this week is profuse in title. Unless I have left out a word or two more or less, the full advertised appellation is "The William Muldoon & Jake Kilrain's Athletes, Filson & Errol's 'Chicks' Co. and World's Star Specialty Co." However, the kernel is worthy the hard shell surrounding it, the show being a good one. The opening matinee 29 was packed and the house would not contain all who desired to attend in the evening. The combination has a cold riveted "cinch" on holiday money. Holiday shopping and threatened blizzards had no effect on the crowds which filled this house last week. "The Night Owls" were there, and, while they made merry at the stage end, the dollars flowed in at the box office end of the building. The week was a large one. Whallen & Martell's Co. Jan. 5.

AMPHION.—"Siberia" is Manager Knowles' New Year's attraction. The opening Dec. 29 was to a large house. The International Vaudevilles met with success last week. Jan. 5, "Jessie Daw."

LEE AVENUE.—"Good Old Times," with the same people that produced it in the Western District a few weeks ago, opened here Dec. 29. It was warmly received by a large audience. "Aunt Jack" played to good business week ending 27. "The City Directory" Jan. 5.

PROCTOR'S.—This will be a week of vaudevilles here. Gus Hill's World of Novelties are the attraction. They amused the capacity of the house the opening night. "Alvin Joslin's" business last week was good. C. A. Gardner 5.

GRAND.—The Fay Foster English Gaiety Co., in burlesque and vaudeville, played to a large house opening night 29.

LYCEUM.—"One of the Finest" opened well 29. Jan. 9, "An Irishman's Love."

HUBER & GERHARDT'S CASINO.—Holiday business at this resort seems to be flourishing. Callers this week are furnished entertainment by the Three American Jacks, the Whippler Twins, Frank Armstrong, Wesley B. Norris, Jennie Pickert and Minnie Schult.

FELTMAN'S TIVOLI.—The advertised people this week are Taggett and Stewart, the Dalys, Ed. Parker, Mme. Olive, Maggie Webb and Edith Mason.

BOUQUET CASINO.—Week of 29: The Blacks, Little Primrose, Sophie Thorne, Lew Johnson and Dave Conkling.

NOTES.—Several large theatre parties will witness "From Sire to Son" at the Academy during the week. The National Provident Union, of which order Milton Nobles is a member, have engaged a large block of seats for 30, and on Jan. 2 the veterans of the old fire department will applaud the play.....There will be New Year matinees at all the theatres.....A theatre party of forty boys, members of St. Paul's Church Choir, attended the matinee of "A Gold Mine" Dec. 24.....The first rehearsal of "Sunset Rock" was held in this city last week. The author is Harry Meredith, who is to be the star. N. D. Roberts will be the manager.....Agreeably to custom, every employe of the Park Theatre, from scrub woman up, received a turkey with "the compliments of the season" from Manager Sinn 24.....When the curtain for the last act of "Aunt Jack" was about to ring up 23 at the Lee Avenue Academy, it was discovered that ten of the jurymen in the trial scene were delinquents. Manager Larry Howard did some tall hustling, which resulted in the impressment of a sufficient number of gentlemen well known in the neighborhood. The appearance of the struck jury on the stage created more of a sensation than that of the original would have done.....The attaches of the Lee Avenue Academy will give their annual ball at Knickerbocker Hall, Jan. 22.....On Dec. 28, P. M. Murphy, of Kenny & Murphy theatrical billposters, was made a member of Brooklyn Lodge of Elks. He was warmly received.....The "Aunt Jack" co. presented Treasurer Buckley with a magnificent set of diamond sleeve buttons on Christmas night. The presentation speech was made by Joseph Haworth, from the stage of the Lee Avenue Academy, between the acts..... Managers Woglom & Richards have decorated the lobby of Proctor's Theatre with evergreens for the holidays. The effect produced is very pretty.

Syracuse.—At the Wieting Opera House Dec. 29, 30, "Grimes' Cellar Door;" Jan 1, 2, 3, "Yon Yonson," Jefferson and Florence. Dec. 24 played to the capacity of the house. Rose Coghlan drew large audiences 25, 26, 27.

H. R. JACOBS' OPERA HOUSE.—Dec. 24, Cleveland's Consolidated Minstrels; Jan. 1, 2, 3, "Wife for Wife." Frank Evans, in "The Runaway Wife," gave excellent satisfaction and played to large business Dec. 25, 26, 27.

STANDARD THEATRE.—Dec 29 and week, "Grogan's Elevation." The Venetian Troubadours closed a successful week 27.

NOTES.—Manager H. R. Jacobs remembered all his employes on Christmas. His representative, Charles H. Plummer, received a fine alligator hand bag and a valuable walking stick from the ushers.....Manager Geo. H. Wright, of the Standard, received an elegant cluster diamond ring from members of the Standard Theatre orchestra and other friends.....Manager H. W. Stetson, of the Wieting, was substantially remembered by his friends. A beautiful alligator club hand bag from the attaches of the house were among the gifts.....A pleasant incident occurred at the Wieting during the Christmas matinee performance of "Peg Woffington" by Rose Coghlan's Co. During one of the entre acts Manager Philip Simmonds was called upon the stage and presented with a massive tea service of seven pieces, with salver.

Buffalo.—Nobody expected to see a very busy week at the houses last week, and therein was no disappointment. In fact for quietude nothing so far this year could touch it. The Christmas matinees were not largely patronized, but things brightened in the evening. "The Fast Mail," at the Star, had a little the best of the high priced attraction, the first of the week. Jefferson and Florence Dec. 26 27 easily discounted everything in the way of receipts and brilliancy of the season. Rhea did fairly well at the Academy, but was severely treated by the critics. "My Jack," at the Corinne, had its full quota of the week's theatrical cash, and Lester & Williams' Co. did moderately well at the Court Street.

STAR THEATRE.—"The Two Sisters" are due Jan. 1-3. "Nero" and Herrman's Vaudevilles were near bookings, but of course their premature closing caused a cancel. Carleton's Opera Co. are due week of 12. Jefferson and Florence departed Dec. 27.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Cora Tanner opened 29 for three nights. Cleveland's Magnificent Minstrels have the last half of the week. Rose Coghlan next week.

MUSIC HALL.—Sullivan and Harrison Dec. 31-Jan. 1.

CORINNE LYCEUM.—"U. S. Mail" began Dec. 29 for a week's run. Next week, James H. Wallick. "My Jack" departed 27.

H. R. JACOBS' COURT STREET THEATRE.—Sam Devere's Specialty Co. started 29 for a week. Next week, Harry Kernell's Co. The London Specialty Co. left 27.

WONDERLAND THEATRE AND MUSEE.—In the Musee this week: Zulu Tompson (strong man), Madeline (sword climber), Nellie Youngs (Albino) and two children. Theatre: J. H. Graham Flick, Hadley and Emery, the Two Carlos and Eddie Edwards and the stock.

SHEA & SCOTT'S MUSIC HALL.—This week: Inman Sisters, Bison City Quartet, Amy Graefe, and Ella Carlington. Remaining: Emma Harold. Next week New York Opera Co.

NOTES.—Rhea and W. J. Florence were guests at the Buffalo Club ball 26.....Simon Fleischman is mourning the death of his mother.....Members of "The Fast Mail" and "My Jack" Cos. had a jolly Christmas. Gifts were exchanged.....Nearly all the houses were made merry by the presence of the mysterious old-fellow of the chimney..... The Wonderland and Shea's have been beautifully decorated for the holiday season.

Rochester.—Christmas week, the bete noir of all theatrical managers has come and gone, and they now look forward to better business. The Lyceum's attraction for the first half of the current week is Effie Ellsler, and for Jan. 1, 2 Wilson's Minstrels. Coming: 5-7, "Yon Yonson;" 8-10 Rose Coghlan. Hallen and Hart left Dec. 27, playing to good business.

THE NEW GRAND presents "The Dear Irish Boy" this week. Jan. 5 and week, Sam Devere's Co. Sam Jack's Creole Burlesque Co. played to large business. They had the largest first night house that the New Grand has had this season, the house being packed.

AT H. R. JACOBS' ACADEMY, "The Runaway Wife" this week. Last week, Mme. and Augustin Neuville did good business. Jan. 5, three nights, "Wife for Wife;" 8, three nights, "Woman Against Woman."

NOTES.—During the Christmas matinee, at the New Grand, Manager J. D. Hopkins was presented with an elegant gold watch and chain by the attaches of his theatre. While the intermission curtain was down he was enticed upon the stage by Sam Jack, manager of the Creole Co. Before he was aware of his position the curtain was rung up, and Treasurer Sam Gumpertz, in a neat speech, presented Mr. Hopkins with the gift. Although taken by surprise Mr. Hopkins responded in brief and graceful manner. The audience caught on at once, and the band played "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." All the attaches of the New Grand were remembered by Mr. Hopkins in a substantial manner. The attaches of the Lyceum and H. R. Jacobs' Academy were also remembered Christmas Day by their respective managers. Your correspondent had the pleasure of an interesting interview with Sam Jack, manager of the Creole Burlesque Co., in which he related some interesting incidents reminiscent of his tour through Mexico with the Lilly Clay Burlesque Co., from which he has lately returned. He reports good business, and managed to obtain some elegant gems in the shape of diamonds during his trip; one of them, he claimed, weighed eleven carats. Manager Hopkins, of the New Grand, was also presented with a pair of gold sleeve buttons with diamond settings, by Melville and Stetson, of the Vanity Sisters' Co.

Troy.—At the Griswold Opera House, "A Dark Secret" Dec. 29, 30, 31. "Aunt Jack" Jan. 1, 2. W. S. Cleveland's Minstrels 3. "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" had fair houses Dec. 22 23. "All the Comforts of Home" had a good house 24. Frederic Bryton had good houses 25, 26, 27 in "Jim" and "Forgiven." On Christmas Eve the employes of the house, through Col. McEwan of Gov. Hill's staff, presented Manager Henry P. Soulier with a handsome French clock, and Grant Riggs, the treasurer, with a fine gold handled umbrella.

HAND'S OPERA HOUSE.—"Faust Up to Date" comes 29, Effie Ellsler Jan. 1, 2, 3. "Yon Yonson" was given Christmas to big business. The blizzard Friday prevented many who had reserved seats from attending. The piece is a decided novelty, and Gus Heege is great in the title role. The company and scenery are excellent. The cast: Yon Yonson, Gus Heege; Amos Jennings, Chas C. Maubury; George T. Holloway, William Lee; Gerald Harcourt, W. K. Wilson; David Garrick Spooner, Wendell Phillips Simpson. Frank B. Hatch; Squire Vanderbilt Bolts, John Savage; Lucullus Jones, John W. Lanice; Mister McSorley, George Harding; The Major, Fred L. Hill; The Town Constable, M. H. Milton; The Hypochondriac, K. L. Decker; Grace Jennings, Helen Lowell; Roly, Marion Elmore; Jeannette Morosini, Lena Merville; Fuchsia Ophelia La Flin, Maud Mason. The piece was originally acted at Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 24.

GAIETY THEATRE.—The Irwin Bros.' Specialty Co. fills New Year's week. Business is good.

NOTES.—Duncan B. Harrison had

Arch Museum, received on Christmas a handsome umbrella from the orchestra, a valuable cane from the chorus and a beautiful smoking set from the stage hands. .....Philadelphia Lodge, No. 2, B. P. O. E., will receive its friends on New Year's Day at its handsome club house.....During his recent engagement at the Grand Opera House, R. L. Downing commissioned E. F. Moore, the clever director of the orchestra at that theatre, to write the incidental music for 'The Saracen," which Mr. Downing has recently produce'.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—At the Boston Museum Dec. 29 will be presented for the first time in this country the farce comedy by J. H Darnley, entitled 'The Solicitor,' which comes here heralded by very favorable notices from across the big pond, where it enjoyed a long run. It will be preceded by a new comedy under the title of "Betty's Finish," written by W. Clyde Fitch, and in which Miriam O'Leary is cast for a part that is said to fit her to perfection. "Little Em'ly" closed a week of good business 27

TREMONT THEATRE.—N. C Goodwin Jr. opens 29, presenting, for the first time in this city, "The Nominee." That the popular star will make an undoubted success in his new venture is assured in advance. He is billed for two weeks. Stuart Robson closed a fine week 27 in "Is Marriage a Failure ?"

GLOBE THEATRE.—"Monbars" is booked for a week at Manager Stetson's house, with that excellent actor, R B. Mantell. The gentleman's reputation and ability are well known and firmly established here, and I need only predict that his brief engagement will be a success. I may add, however, that since its last production here the play has been entirely rewritten and arranged, and the alterations, it is said, have improved it wonderfully. It will be magnificently staged. "Superba" closed its last week 27 Jan. 5, W. J Scanlan.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—The second week of E. H. Sothern in "The Maister of Woodbarrow," opens Dec 29, and, if the success which attended this charming work during the week past is any criterion to go by, we will certainly see another succession of large and brilliant audiences at Manager Rich's beautiful theatre. The play has been received here with an hysterstic favor, and the star's impersonation of Allen Rollit is acknowledged to be without flaw and above criticism. The underline for week of Jan. 5 is "All the Comforts of Home."

BOSTON THEATRE.—"The Soudan" still draws them in by thousands at every performance; but all things theatrical have a limit, and this fine production is no exception to the rule. Its presentation here Wednesday, Dec. 31, will be the one hundred and twenty-fifth performance, and on that occasion Manager Tompkins will present to his lady and juvenile patrons a souvenir, surpassing in beauty any that he has heretofore bestowed upon them. "The Crystal Slipper" is booked for Jan. 12.

PARK THEATRE.—Monroe and Rice, with their mirth making play, "My Aunt Bridget," occupy the stage of the Park this week Their last engagement in Boston was at the Grand Opera, which they filled to overflowing at every performance. "The Clemenceau Case" was retired 27, after a very successful season of two weeks.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Alvin Joslin" as interpreted by the well known comedian, Chas L Davis, will form the attraction at Proctor & Mansfield's house this week, and will be staged with all the admirable accuracy of detail which marked its former productions here. If the present engagement proves as successful as his former visits to the Grand, it simply means a 'barl'l" of money for Mr Davis and the house Nellie McHenry closed a fine week 27. Jan. 5 Lewis Morrison in "Faust."

HOWARD ATHENÆUM.—Manager Wm Harris gives us this week Oliver Byron, supported by Kate Byron and an excellent company in 'The Plunger," which will be produced with scenic effects and stage settings never excelled at the popular Howard In the fourth act, especially, will realism have full swing, the scene representing one of the platforms of the L road in Park Place, New York, where a regulation locomotive rushes across the track as the "bad man" in the play endeavors to throw a girl in front of the iron horse. Edgar Selden in "Will o' the Wisp" closed a good week and his tour 27. Next week, Katie Emmett in "The Waifs of New York."

GAIETY AND BIJOU.—Even the most captious critic cannot, with any show of fairness, dispute the assertion that Manager B. F. Keith is in the very front rank of successful purveyors of amusements at popular prices. Always on the alert he is in the van in providing his patrons with the best class of entertainments in his line, and the result is seen in the huge audiences—composed of our best people—who crowd his handsome house at every performance. This week he presents a varied double bill of opera and specialty, leading off with the National Trio, F. D. Bryan, Nellie Forrester and G. E. Moulton. R. M. Carroll (an old time Boston favorite), John and Edna Videocq, Mlle. Beatrice, Rawson and Edna Monk, Chevriel Campbell and Kenney, Ianaka, the Devene Trio, Ed. Rogers, La Petite Kitty, J. H. Jennings and Mlle Eugenie Natowitz. In addition to the above strong array of attractions, Manager Keith presents the farce comedy, 'A Dark Night in Chelsea," brimming over with local hits, in the cast being Ed. Christie, A. J. Talbot, Larry Tooley, Jerry and Mrs. Cohan, and Josie Cohan.

GRAND MUSEUM.—Manager Lothrop is abreast of the times in catering to the lovers of dramatic and variety novelties as a perusal of his programme this week will make apparent. His entertainment opens with the sensational drama, "Escaped from Sing Sing," H. Percy Meldon and Stella Ainsworth leading (Mr Meldon being cast for seven different characters), and the remainder of the cast being drawn from Mr Lothrop's stock. The stage effects are novel and sensational, and the scenery has been provided In the olio are: Salib Ben Hommed, Mlle Francilla, Wm. Johnson, James and Ora Nesbit C Dale Armstrong, G. H. Diamond and Chas. Lorraine The broken-to-harness triplet steers are still a strong card in the natatorium, where Santa Claus still dispenses gifts to the ladies and children

DALY VS SHELBY.—Manager Daniel Shelby, formerly manager of the Chicago Academy, and now of the "Will o' the Wisp" Co., was the defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages, brought in this city 23, for an assault alleged to have been committe'l on Thomas A. Daly, of the Daly Brothers' Co., when the latter was playing at Chicago two years ago. William Daly Jr., brother of Tom, is the plaintiff. Tom Daly now lies ill at the McLean Insane Asylum, suffering from prostration brought on, his brother says, by the assault made by Mr. Shelby and his friends in Chicago, two years ago. "My brother Tom was then playing" said Mr. Daly, "in 'Upside Down.' At Chicago, he played at Mr Shelby's house. Early in the week, on Monday night, I think it was, my brother had some words with the stage manager and as Mr. Shelby interfered he had some words with him also The affair passed off, and he played without any difficulty till the end of the week. On Saturday night, after the performance, my brother was in his dressing room, packing his costumes, preparatory to leaving, when the lights were suddenly extinguished and four or five men rushed in armed with sticks and clubs and pieces of gas pipe. They beat my brother until he became unconscious and they left him on the floor. When found he was covered with cuts and bruises. Eight of these wounds had to be sewed up Since that time my brother has never been the same. Signs of nervous prostration began to show themselves and he is now at the McLean Asylum. One of the assailants was recognized as the policeman employed by Mr. Shelby at the Academy as a 'bouncer'" The bail in this case was at first fixed at $20,000 which Mr. Shelby failed to procure. Later in the week it was reduced to $5,000, but Mr. Shelby was still unable to find a bondsman. In this dilemma, the "Will o' the Wisp" Co. had nothing to do but to close its tour. Manager Shelby denies that he assaulted, or caused the assault on, Mr. Daly.

AUSTIN & NICKLODEON.—Business was unprecedented during the past week, the audiences having been the largest of the season and on Christmas Day the attendance was really enormous. Austin & Haynes present another big bill this week, and every lady and little one present will receive a handsome New Year's souvenir. In the curio hall are Capt. C. H. Ureck, Lu'u La Tosca, Sig. and Minnie Dodretti, and other novelties. Stage; Geo Sun. Daly and O'Brien, Jessie Lake, Master Kenno. Wilson sisters, Albert and Bennie Lamont, Jennie Lamont, Kennette and Mathews. Bob Lawrence Laura Joyce, Ed. Carvie, Jas Campbell and Julia Redmond.

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—Stone & Shaw certainly have no reason to complain of any lack of patronage. They did a phenomenal business last week, and, judging from the programme they announce, this week will no doubt prove another crowd catcher. The Oregon stallion, Linus, has been one of the greatest attractions ever presented at any museum in this city. So keen is the desire to see him that his stay has been extended six days In the lecture hall are the dozen tattooed males and females, Sig and Signora Montagna, the Fijiquartet of cannibals. Beatrix and her snakes and the frans Atlantic musicians. Stage: Blanche Andrews, Harry and Bannon Bros. Barcliffe, Bros. Spaulding, Frey and Evans, Dalton and Watts, Sisters Godfrey, the Ventinis, Camochi, and Carrie and Ed. De Haas.

WORLD'S MUSEUM.—Like other similar establishments in town, this house received a liberal share of patronage during holiday week, and, in order to hold it, Manager Pilling puts up a very attractive bill this week. His latest innovation, in presenting a drama in connection with a specialty show, has been eminently successful, and will be continued. This week he gives us "Our Railroad Men," with Katherine Howe in the soubrette part, and the remainder of the cast from his stock. In the variety portion of the entertainment are Chas. H. Duncan, Moreland and Thompson, Al. Darcy, Byron and Holly, W. F. Danny and others, while in the curio annex can be seen the Sioux Indian Troupe, Zamora the triple jointed wonder, and a Kentucky incubator, which hatches out a hundred chickens per diem.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS.—Last week was made very pleasant for many theatrical people hereabouts. Especially so was it to the attaches of the Gaiety and Bijou, to all of whom Manager B. F. Keith presented substantial tokens of his regard. Press and Advertising Agent J. C. McGarry, of the Grand Opera, was among the lucky ones on Christmas Eve, when his subordinates in the advertising department presented him with a beautiful silver mounted silk umbrella. Chief Doortender A. G. Pond, also of the Grand, was kindly remembered by his associates in the theatre, who gave the genial gentleman a handsome gold headed cane of rare wood. Engineer Boyd, of Austin's Nickelodeon, was the recipent of a fine silk umbrella from the house employes, and Charles Devine, who has just returned after a long absence, was presented with a diamond pin by J. C. Campbell. Lawrence J. McCarty, stage manager of the Boston, was very pleasantly remembered Christmas Eve. The ladies of "The Soudan" Co., Misses Moretti, Osterle, Rose, Balfe, Jean Harold, Portia Lewis and Mrs. W. G. Jones, furnished his office with a splendid rocker easy chair in plush trimming, and Henry Nevile placed on 'Larry's' desk a beautiful bronze inkstand H. M. Pitt was presented with a very fine cane by his pupils.

GENERAL GOSSIP.—In consequence of the constant increase of business, and the overflowing audiences of the Gaiety and Bijou, Manager B. F. Keith has been compelled to increase the capacity of the theatre annex, by removing the superintendent's office, which has heretofore been at the left of the main entrance. This will give quite an addition to the floor space, but eventually Mr Keith will have to devise other means to accommodate his steadily increasing patron age..... Agnes Booth is in town with her husband, Manager John B. Schoeffel, for the purpose of making requisite arrangements for the first mid Winter tour of the Madison Square Co., which comes to the Tremont in a few weeks..... Ordway on big Sucei at the Nicsteodeon last week won words of warm praise from his thousands of listeners, to whom he presented in a most interesting and entertaining manner the various phases of the big starvation record. Christmas Day, with twelve lectures to enormous houses, was a most trying one, but he proved fully equal to the occasion, and held his voice through all. Prof. Ordway was for years with the Barnum Show..... Manager Isaac S. Rich is happy over the conclusion of negotiations which enable him to present "A Straight Tip" at the Hollis again this season

Lynn.—Business the past week was rather slow, and with the exception of Christmas night the theatres were poorly patronized. The Lynn Theatre management has been changed. A. H. Dexter has left Lynn to become connected with Stone & Shaw's Museum at Providence. The Lynn Theatre and Music Hall are now under the immediate control of the corporation which leased them in May last Wm. L. Boynton, a gentleman of experience and tact, is the business agent for the theatres. The effort will be to improve upon the past management and to run the theatres in the interest of the public. Many first class attractions have been booked for the Lynn Theatre

LYNN THEATRE.—Edgar Selden, in "Will o' th Wisp," comes Dec 29 30, followed by Lewis Morrison's "Faust" Jan. 1-3. Hyde's Specialty Co. gave an entertainment to a fair house Dec 23 H. F. Chanfrau played to the largest house in the history of the theatre 25. "Old Jed Prouty" opened for three performances 26, but owing to a severe snowstorm there was a slim attendance. "The Kindergarten," with Stanley Macy at its head, drew a packed house 25. Hardie and Von Leer will sail for England about March 25, to produce 'On the Frontier." Twenty-four people, including the Indians, will be carried..... Parson's Hall, our old variety theatre, formerly the People's and the Lyceum, is to be reopened temporarily and perhaps permanently Jan. 12-17. It is to be known as Parson's Theatre Comique.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—Business averaged good the first half of the past week. On Christmas Day extra performances were given at all the theatres to immense attendance, which continued remarkably large the remainder of the week. "A Dark Secret" closed a successful week at the Providence Opera House Dec. 22. "The Limited Mail" opened at Keith's Gaiety 22, to a house packed to the doors. Two performances were given on Christmas Day to overflowing houses. The Westminster Musee opened with a strong bill 22, to good attendance, which increased perceptibly at each performance during the balance of the week. The place is fast regaining its old time popularity, and the efforts of the new management, certainly deserve the success the success that now seems assured. At Lothrop's Providence Museum, "A Great Wrong," with J. Gordon Edwards and Kate Glassford in the leading roles, and the usual specialty list drew crowded houses.

PROVIDENCE OPERA HOUSE.—"A Trip to Chinatown" opened a week's engagement Dec. 29. Annie Ward Thiedy Jan 5 6, 7, "Mr Barnes of New York" 8, 9, 10.

KEITH'S GAIETY OPERA HOUSE.—Katie Emmett opened a week's stay in 'The Waifs of New York" Dec. 29 "The Great Metropolis" week of Jan. 5

WESTMINSTER MUSEE.—The second week of the Musee under its new management opened with a long list of features in each department. In the curio halls: The Live Roosters Orchestra, John Alexander Cooper (Yorkshire giant), Nellie Carlisle and her dog circus, Nelson Sinclair, Reno and Anna, and Prof. Harry Everett and his wooden headed midgets. Lillie Ioma (snake charmer) and several other of last week's attractions hold over. In the Opera House: The Zuhlins, Gies, Prof. Henri Sieges and his mechanical diorama, Walters, Gray and Llewellyn. Wm. Mitchell, Claud Lorraine, J. W. Andrews, La Belle Bijou, the Bros. Henry and Lillian Randall.

LOTHROP'S NEW PROVIDENCE MUSEUM.—Kate Purssell began a week's engagement Dec. 29. The specialty people: Herman, Al Emerson, Lovett, Elmourn, J. C. Kennedy and Maggie Moore and Madden and Watson.

NOTES.—A man claiming to be a representative of the Kirafly Bros succeeded in imposing on the management of several of the local theatres last week. His name is Joseph D Zeffe, and it is understood that he was formerly connected with a variety theatre at Paterson, N. J He is now traveling for a New York notion house and during his stay in this city devised a scheme to provide himself with free amusement. On Dec. 22 he appeared at the box office of the Providence Opera House and presented Treasurer Harry Callender with a card upon which appeared the following: 'Season '91-'92. Premier Spectacular Burlesque Co. Joe O. Zieffe, business manager Kirafly Bros' Spectacular attractions" Of course he was given a choice seat. He next visited the Gaiety Theatre, where he was also treated with every courtesy. Later in the week, however, he was turned away from both houses. Mr. Zieffe presented his card at the door of the Musee afternoon of 24, but Manager Dexter, having had some experience with him at Lynn last season, refused to pass him. Later in the day he paid his way in, and, meeting Ella Fay, one of the performers in the lecture hall, represented that he was engaging people to go on the road, and made an appointment to meet Miss Fay at six o'clock that evening at the Hotel Perrie. Miss Fay kept the appointment by advice of Ex-Manager Dessauer, of the Westminster, who with two local reporters, confronted Mr. Zieffe in Miss Fay's presence, when he readily admitted himself to be a fraud..... The free entertainment tendered the poor children by Manager B F. Keith, at the Gaiety, afternoon of 25, was a rousing success, especially in point of attendance, there being nearly two thousand children present..... Kate Glassford, of Lothrop's stock, was obliged to succumb to illness 26. Her part in the cast of "A Great Wrong" was acceptably filled by Estelle Keene for the rest of the week.....Stage Manager Wm. Monroe, of the Musee received a beautiful gold headed cane from the attaches of the house. Manage r Wm. C. Chase, of Lothrop's Providence Museum, found in his office a beautiful calendar clock, a present from the employes. Stage Carpenter Nick Wilmouth received an elegant gold watch, chain and charm from the same source. Prof. Hutchins, lecturer at Austin & Stone's Museum Boston officiated at the Musee last week.....Manager A H. Dexter, of the Musee, has decided to reside in this city permanently, and will shortly remove his family here from Lynn, Mass.....Leonard and Flynn rested in town last week. They joined the Lucier Family at Mansfield, Mass., Dec. 29, for a tour of the New England circuit.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—The week in Chicago, although an uneventful one, and characterized by only one novelty, "The Sea King," was a very profitable one. Sunday and Monday openings were big, and although the attendance flagged for a night or two thereafter, the two performances which nearly all the houses gave on Christmas Day brought the week's average away up to par, and in many cases above par. As much amusement was caused off the stage as on it by Patrice, who, while playing last week in "A Midnight Call" at Clark Street Theatre, improved her spare time by bringing suit for $21 000 damages against A P. Blakeslee, a well known Chicago Board of Trade man.

COLUMBIA.—"The Sea King" has been most favorably received by large audiences, and is good for a profitable second week. "Shenandoah," Jan. 4, for one week only,

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—"The Crystal Slipper" enters its third and final week with undiminished patronage. Joseph Doner helps out Eddie Foy, who is still far from well, with so faithful and clever a characterization that only the personal friends and admirers of Mr Foy would notice the difference. Aronson's Opera Co. in "Poor Jonathan" Jan. 5.

PEOPLE'S.—Frederick Renolds opens Dec. 28 in "The Australian" New scenery for the piece has been furnished. 'The Clemenceau Case" closed to two weeks' good business "Hearts of New York" Jan. 4.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Die Muenscheners open Dec 28 in a repertory of Alpine plays and farces. "A Brass Monkey" played to overflowing houses all last week

HOOLEY'S.—Joseph Murphy's holiday season of two weeks was a whopper in the way of receipts, and is followed by the Kendals "The Ironmaster" holds the boards the first week, with the exception of a special New Year's matinee, when 'Gatherwool." "My Uncle's Will" and "It Was a Dream" will be presented.

H. R. JACOBS' CLARK STREET THEATRE.—"The Paymaster," which has been drawing quite as well as of yore over on the West Side at the Standard, moves over Dec 28. Patrice, in "A Midnight Call," had a fairly good week. "Master and Man," Jan. 4.

HAYMARKET.—Gilmore's "Twelve Temptations" caught some crushers last week. Bobby Gaylor in "An Irish Arab," which was taken off at the Grand Opera House long before people had tired crowding the house to the doors, opens Dec. 28, and is sure of big business. The Hanlon-Volters and Martinetti Pantomime Co. Jan. 4.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Held by the Enemy" over from the Windsor, Dec 28. James H. Wallack closed his Chicago circuit with the best patronage he has yet had in this city. The Valdir Sisters Jan 4.

EFSTRAN'S NEW DIME MUSEUM.—Bella Carter, a Kentucky girl with long hair (her first appearance). Chief Debru's Esquimaux Family, the American Syndicate Novelty Co in Theatre No. 1 and Juvenile Musical Wonders in No. 2.

CRITERION.—"Ole Olson" opens Dec 28 for a big week, the Criterion being admirably situated for the Swedish dialect drama. William Redmund and Beatrice Lieb had a profitable week.

TIMMERMAN GRAND OPARA HOUSE, ENGLEWOOD.—Manager Thearle's complimentary entertainment 24, reopening the house, was largely attended. The interior is even prettier than before the fire destroyed it, and in a few days the exterior will show no signs of the wreck. John Dillon in "Wanted the Earth" opens New Year's Day. He was booked for Christmas, but supposing the house could not be reopened in time, made other bookings. "Town Lots" was presented instead. Kiralfy's "Water Queen" next attraction

EDEN MUSEE.—Cyrena, a Spanish dancer who has won much praise during her first week, presents "The Toreador" for her second week. Hoffman in new illusions. Frank Oakes Rose in illustrated Dickens lectures and the Gypsy Band.

KOHL & MIDDLETON'S DIME MUSEUMS.—Col. Shields and wife, giant and giantess; Neri the blind sciniter, and Young Sampson, the chain breaker. Byron Sisters' Specialty Co. in Theatre No. 1. Jerry Keating's Majestics in No. 2 and Belmont's Meteors in No 3 West Side—Kennedy, the giant, in his dumb bell exhibition, the spotted boys; the Tallyho Trio in Theatre No 1. Paddy Miles' Hibernicon in No. 2 and Ray's Consolidated Vaudevilles in No 3.

HAVLIN'S.—"The Fairies' Well," which always draws good houses at this theatre, opens 28. 'The Fat Men's Club" had an uproarious week to big and highly amused audiences. "An Irish Arab" Jan. 4

MADISON STREAT OPERA HOUSE.—Hannah & Hogg's new venture is not yet an assured success, although it looks as if it may be in the end. Cushman's Minstrels are faring well so far as the box office business is concerned and for the second week will present an entire new change of bill, by Frank Cushman, Lew Hawkins, Bunnell and Rankin the Lenton Brothers, E. M. Kayne, Eddie Magee Eddie Manning, Harry Raymond, J. F. O'Keefe, Fred Malcom, the Philharmonic Quartet and the Fauntleroy Madrigal Boys.

WINDSOR.—"The Still Alarm" opens 28. "Held by the Enemy" played to magnificent business all the week. Maggie Mitchell Jan 5

ALHAMBRA.—The Vaidis Sisters open Dec. 28. N. S. Wood completed the Chicago circuit with "Out in the Streets," to a big paying week. "Jim the Penman" Jan 5

OLYMPIC.—Frank Cushman's New Departure Co. played to crowded houses all week, and is succeeded Dec. 29 by Frank Pilling's Boston Novelty Co. which comprises the Rexford Bros, James H. Cullen, Brannan and Bailey, Kate Farley, Cecil Lane and Mlle. Verona, Robert Bruce, Holmes and Davis the Gleason Children, Fonda, the two Waldrons, John Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hanley in "A Sour Mash."

STANDARD.—James Reilly, in "The Broommaker," Dec 28. It was at the Standard that this play met with its first Chicago success. Lettie Allen, of this city, joins the company, which has been greatly strengthened and improved since last here. "The Paymaster" closed to profitable business.

LYCEUM.—Harding & Ah Sid's Laughing Sensation Co opens 29. Besides "Fun in a Chinese Laundry," the catchy specialty of the principals, the programme includes Mme. Rhinehart, Stella Beatrice, Leonard, Minnie Rhinehart, Connie Leslie, Louise Montrose Annie Girard and Laura Hutson, Retlaw and Alton, Mitchell and Love Pearson and Phillip and Thorn and Wilson. Weber & Fields's Big Specialty Co. closed to big houses.

CHAT.—Mrs. Leslie Carter spent the week in the city, having come to visit her son, who is in the keeping of his father, and to bring him numerous presents. Her visit gave rise to talk of a compromise between husband and wife, but friendly as they this is no longer possible .....Christmas was observed by more than crowded houses at all the theatres. In accord with custom, every employe at Manager Jacobs' three theatres received a turkey, and Manager Litt, of the Standard, through telegraphic instruction to George W. Reed, had the front of his theatre profusely decorated with evergreens and mottoes in observance of the Christmas season, and in further observance gave to each one of his employes a turkey, a can of oysters, a box of candy, and a box of cigars..... "The Crystal Slipper" made presents by right and left, and when they got through everybody had a half dozen or more, from the manager down..... 'Drink' will be produced at the Grand Opera House next Summer, from June 7 to the middle of August. E. J. Henley will play the role of Coupeau, and a fine company has been engaged to support him.....A new programme has been designed for the auditorium. A cut of the building is seen as the centre of a unique design on the front cover, and there is also shown a handsome monogram The two inside pages contain the programme proper, printed in large clear type, and undisfigured by advertisement The Auditorium is given over to concerts and lectures at present.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark.—Christmas caused quite a boom at the theatres here, all the houses being crowded at the matinee and evening performances; especially so at Waldmann's, where they were obliged to give an extra matinee Dec. 26, to accommodate the crowds.

MINER'S THEATRE.—An extraordinary business was done here last week with "The Inspector." The drill of a number of Newark policemen proved a good card, and certainly drew a large number of people independent of the play itself. Dec 29, "A Fair Rebel." It had never been seen in Newark before. It opened to a good house. Jan. 5 Mrs Leslie Carter, in "The Ugly Duckling"

JACOBS' THEATRE.—You made a mistake in the last week's bill for this house. I sent you 'The Charity Ball" Dec. 22, not 'The County Fair." "The Charity Ball" played to good business all week. Cleveland's Minstrels this week. Jan 5, 6, 7, "The Prince and the Pauper;" 8, 9, 10, "Siberia."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Dore Davidson and Ramie Austen, in "Guilty Without Crime," satisfied the patrons of this house in every way. Dec 29 Lottie Church in "Unknown." Jan 5, Adah Richmond's Burlesque Co.

WALDMANN'S.—Whallen & Martell's Co played last week to "S. R. O.," thus proving the quality of this combination. Dec. 29, Hyde's Big Specialty Co opened to a full house. Jan 5, Gus Hill's World of Novelties.

GAIETY.—Business has been brisk here last week, and Manager Georgi predicts the same for this week. New faces: Lillie Shubert, Rose Hall, Annie Reed and Billy Wilson.

CASINO.—The patrons of this house were entertained last week by McCarthy and Cremine, Minnie Price Williams, Jones and Scanlan, Olive Dean, Ben Casper, Eva Marsh, Mons Diablo. New faces 29: Flora Temple, Fannie More and Mrs. Delmore.

GLOBE THEATRE.—This place is doing a flourishing business, the house being filled nightly. Manager Richards was disappointed last week J. W. Williams' Co. failing to appear, but he secured the Bennett & Stone Brilliants, consisting of Frank Bennett, Sadie Rice, Bertie Stone, Frankie Martinet, Maggie Williams, Alfraunso, Bobby Carson and James Dunn. This company will appear this week and next.

Trenton.—At Taylor's Opera House, "The County Fair" Co., No. 2, played Dec. 23 and week to large business and gave satisfaction. Marie Bates' Abigail Prue was a go. This was the first attempt to run one play for a week here at high prices, and the results were satisfactory, although 'the smell of hay and clover" is not a novelty The race track machinery worked well, and three horses were run. As it was practically the opening week of the company, I append the cast: Otis Tucker, Thomas McGrath; Tim, the Tanner, Walter Perkins; Solon Hammerhead, Wallace D. Shaw; Joel Bartlett, George C. Robinson; Bill Barker, James White; Jockeys, John Harris, Oscar Smith; Abigail Prue, Marie Bates; Targa, Dolly Kline; Sally Greenaway, Rebecca Warren; Maria Perkins, Kate Rice. Quartet—Wm. Connor, W. S. Laird Harry Turner and Geo. Bowman. Executive staff—Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger, proprietors; L. G. Hanna, acting manager; Chas. Osgood, business manager; T. C. Campbell, agent; Wallace D Shaw stage manager. Coming: "Two Old Cronies" 30, "The Wife" 31, Gormans' Minstrels Jan. 1, Dowling and Hasson 5, Pauline Hall 9.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—"Carmencitada," an operatic burlesque in three acts and four scenes, by J. J. Goodwin and Marino Delaur, was given its premier Christmas night, and proved a good drawing attraction for the balance of the week. The company is large and capable, and the dresses are new and elaborate. Between the acts Jennie Joyce gave clever imitations of Carmencita's dancing, and Annie Tatali, C. C. Moore, Delaur and Debrimont, Louise Atwood and Baron and Coffey did specialties. The cast: Carmencita, Alice Debrimont; Don Jose, Jennie Joyce; Mike Ella, Don Jose's beloved, Louise Atwood; Escamillo, M. Marius Delaur; He Don't Care, Bobby Baron; He Remains a Dude George Coffey; Mercedes Lillie Larkelle; Frasquita, Florence Bell; Zuniga, Gertie Sharpley; Frasquella, Sadie Dean; Morales, Neva Tatali; Pedro, Lillie Davis; Piquillo, Maud Tempest; Andres, Pauline Buckner; Guanes, Carrie Leslie; Ribeiro, Rosa Hart; Mannelita, Kittie Warren; Josepha, Edna Eyre; Amanda, Bertha Rossi; Cora, Lillie Monford. May Buckingham did well 23-24. Fayette Welsh and Dottie Pine opened in "Pert" 29 and week to good business.

CLEO CLAY, late of "Rip Van Winkle," is resting here.

Hoboken.—Kate Claxton, in "The Two Orphans" will fill Eva Mountford's date at H. R Jacobs' Theatre Dec. 29-31. "A Silent Partner" Jan. 1-3, Marks & Shaffner's Internationals 4, Lizzie Evans 5-7. Business last week was good

CRONHEIM'S THEATRE.—The Brotherhood Co. not existing a house company will be here Dec. 29-Jan 4, comprising Ida Howell, Arlington and Wentworth, Mlle. Verona, T. C. Lance, Prof. Glenfield Davenport Bros; Collins and Welsh Lizzie Howard, Tom Carter, the Korns, Adelade Martinette and the Taylor Twin Sisters—their first Eastern appearance. Mabel Hudson was sick last week and cancelled. Dave Conkling, Cesdo, Mlle. La Tena, Brilliant Quartet—C. O. Marsh, F. Mitchel, H. Willie and J. H. Rapp—Lucille Greeves and Maud Revelle, were added to last week's bill. Business has been good.

NOTES.—Frank Cotton and his donkeys have got over the pneumonia. He joins "An Irishman's Love" shortly for the balance of the season When the tenting season opens he will join Wallace & Anderson's Circus, having signed contract 21..... Lucille Grieves and Maude Revell rejoin Whallen & Martell's Co. 29. Lucille Grieves will hereafter be known as Mlle. Lucille. John Whallen will star her next season in a play suited to her varied accomplishments..... Pierce Jarvis is no longer connected with 'A Silent Partner"..... Albert Bokert, well known in the profession, and lately pianist at the Knickerbocker, is lying very sick at his home. Geo Welsh is filling his position.

Paterson.—At H. R Jacobs' Opera House, "A Silent Partner" comes Dec 29-31 Kate Claxton in "Two Orphans" Jan. 1-3 Marks & Shaffner's Internationals 5, 6 Barry and Fay 7, Lizzie Evans 8-10. "All the Comforts of Home" drew fairly well Dec. 22 The house was dark 23, 24. "The Wife" played to the capacity 25-27.

MARTELL'S PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Gowongo Mohawk comes Dec 29 and week Jan. 5-10, Fay Foster's Burlesque Co. Williams & Orr's Specialty Co. closed a satisfactory week Dec. 27.

Jersey City.—"McKenna's Flirtation" is at the Academy week of Dec. 29 To follow, 'The Prince and the Pauper." Marie Wainwright closed her week 27 to excellent business Everybody was remembered at the Academy 25 by Manager Frank and Mrs. Ettie Henderson, and in the evening enjoyed an excellent collation at their invitation..... Manager Daniel John Langdon has secured the contract for furnishing a new house now being erected at Tabora N. C., with all the necessary scenes, including the curtain. The building when finished will take in an entire block, the theatre proper, however, being only a portion there of, the rest of the structure being used for municipal offices. Rueste and Volz, of this city, are the scenic artists..... Marie Wainwright's two daughters occupied a box 25.

Plainfield.—Alberta Gallatin opened her regular season at the Music Hall Dec. 25 appearing in 'Ingomar" at the matinee and in "As You Like It" at the evening performance. She made an excellent impression, and was well received.

VAUDEVILLE, MINSTREL AND CIRCUS.

THE BRILLIANT QUARTET, consisting of Messrs. Marsh, Mitchell, Wille and Rapp, have added two new songs to their repertory, with which they are achiving pronounced success. The ballads are "The Song of the Steepie," by Monroe H. Rosenfeld, and "A Bunch of Shamrock from My Dear Old Mother," by the same author. The rendition of these compositions is ably made by this quartet, whose original and unique management of both songs is attracting universal attention.

ROBINSON'S NEW MUSEE THEATRE at Toronto, Can., has proved a splendid success, and Manager Robinson is very jubilant over his lucky selection of the site for his latest enterprise. He already contemplates adding another theatre to his circuit are the close of the season.

CHAS. H. DEAN and wife, Florence Harrison, have purchased a handsome residence at Gales Ferry, Ct., where they will rest a while

QUERIES ANSWERED.

No Replies by Mail or Telegraph.

Addresses or whereabouts not given. All in quest of such should write to those whom they seek, in care of THE CLIPPER Post Office. All letters will be advertised one week gratis. If the route of any theatrical company is sought, refer to our list of routes on another page. We cannot send routes by mail or telegraph.

THEATRICAL.

S. A.—The advertisement would cost sixty cents.

F. & W., Eau Claire.—Thanks, but we cannot spare the space just at present.

"THESPIAN."—It will close within a year.

"SHENANDOAH."—All we can inform you is that he is a native of Connecticut, and that his stage name is not his right name. He has been before the public as an actor five or six years.

J. F. N., Port Jefferson.—1. For published and unpublished plays write to H. S. Taylor, 1,193 Broadway, this city. 2. "Among the Breakers" is his most popular work.

Y. O.—1. Marie Tempest. 2. She is not married, so we can't tell you "the stage name of her husband."

MRS. P.—See the notice at the head of this column.

C. J. F., Detroit.—Our route list on another page will inform you of its movements two weeks ahead.

R. P., St. Louis.—See answer to "C. J. F., Detroit," and the notice at the head of this column.

J. W. L., Danville.—The play of "Joshua Whitcomb" is the property of Denman Thompson, to whom you must write. See the notice at the head of this column. For information as to other plays, published and unpublished, write to H. S. Taylor, 1,193 Broadway, this city.

MISS L. L., Brooklyn.—Your query concerns the private life and antecedents of that actress, and we therefore cannot answer it, preferring that you write to the lady herself, who may, if she considers the question pertinent, reply to it.

THOS. E., Ossian.—That play is private property, and is copyrighted. It is now being toured, as our route list will tell you, and we doubt if it is for sale. However, you might write to the manager of the company, as per the route ahead.

T. W. T., Buffalo.—We believe he did contribute a series of letters of that character to some newspaper. Write to him in care of THE CLIPPER, for further information.

SUBSCRIBER, Bridgeport.—From $15 to $30 a week, railroad fares and meals, according to his position.

J. B., Chicago.—The first issue of THE CLIPPER ANNUAL was in 1874. We cannot supply a complete file, several numbers being out of print.

READER, Baltimore.—You are right. We printed the news as it came to us from the management of that company. Mr. D has withdrawn from the cast since you saw the piece, and the paragraph as we published it is now strictly correct.

J. C. P., San Antonio.—He is interested in the tour of "The Corsair." See our route list.

UNION.—He is not dead, to our present knowledge. He retired from the world of freaks a year or two ago.

O. P. P.—1. We will answer such a query if it is important that you shall know. 2. Of that memorable cast Harry Hawk, John Matthews, W. J. Ferguson and Mrs. J. H. Evans are alive.

C. N., Pawtucket.—Write to any of the music publishers who advertise in this issue. They will get it for you.

CAPT G. W. M., Boston.—See the notice at the head of this column.

E. H. H., Sing Sing.—The Buffalo Courier Printing Co. will supply you with such a book.

A. H.—See the notice at the head of this column.

J. M. H., Troy.—You can legally effect that change, under certain conditions and circumstances, which a lawyer will explain to you. You had better consult an attorney.

J. R., St. Louis.—1. In this city; about ten years. 2. Yes, but she is not starring. 3. Consult our route list from time to time for all dates.

J. M. M., Jersey City.—Thank you. We will use it at an early date.

MRS. W. D. G., Philadelphia.—Address them in care of THE CLIPPER.

W. H. P., Springfield.—Forty-three years and two months old.

MINNIE O'B.—1. They can duplicate those titles because they do not also infringe upon the subject matter of the plays. 2. Most of his songs are in print. Write for them to any of the music publishers who advertise in THE CLIPPER. 3. Probably they can, on royalty. Write to Mr. M. about the matter. 4. Either may be correct, according to the sense in which the words are used. 5. Yes. 6. We believe they are not published. 7. Not in print. 8. See answer to No. 2. 9. Eight words per agate line.

"NEW BOWERY."—Answer next week, probably. We are searching for it.

SUBSCRIBER, Brooklyn.—We will answer only the first of your questions, to wit: The Metropolitan Opera House. On the other points we do not consider that we possess sufficiently reliable data to give what you would doubtless consider an authoritative and final decision. The trouble is, and has always been, that it is well nigh impossible to get accurate figures and measurements; besides, changes are being frequently made, which materially affect previous measurements. Yours are among the very few questions which THE CLIPPER has constantly sought to avoid answering, rather than answer approximately. We never "guess at things."

CORA, Boston.—The letter was sent to Chicago Dec. 22.

"XMAS."—Write to him in care of THE CLIPPER, as per the instructions at the head of this column.

G. M. P., Syracuse.—She is still traveling under that stage name. That is all we can say.

W. H. M., Detroit.—We published its roster some time ago, and we cannot reprint it in this column. Write to Miss G., and ask her to send you a programme. You will then be fully informed.

D. C.—Most of the real clever ones seem to be starring. Of those who remain in the vaudevilles, the majority have "doubled." We do not know how to account for their scarcity, unless on the ground of the act's old age and general lack of novelty. The salaries have not perceptibly diminished.

R. L. Y.—Fanny Davenport Asa played Lady Teazle in "The School for Scandal" at that theatre, and at many others, prior to 1883.

CONSTANT READER, Brooklyn.—The team consists of one male and one female performer.

A. T. G., H. R. and N. H., and W. K. H.—Answer next week.

SUBSCRIBER, Washington.—In "The Great Metropolis," and for several years in the stock at the last Wallack's, this city.

L., New Orleans.—Offer it, for a reading, to such managers or stars as you think it would best suit. If it is as good as you say it is, it ought not to wait long for a purchaser. You might also advertise it through THE CLIPPER.

CARDS.

G. A.—No one point scores or counts out before another. The first making the requisite number of points and calling out, is out.

B. O. J., Peabody.—The five not being led he was not compelled to play the knave.

W. K. H., Kansas City.—A is set back one point. B was right in his claim according to your statement.

PETERSCHOP, Bloomington.—You are right. It was not a tie. B loses.

F. A., Cleveland.—The bet, as stated, cannot be decided. Give full particulars of the point in dispute, and we will gladly arbitrate the wager for you.

C. R.—A was right. His play was perfectly proper. He was the one to lose in the event of his miscalling game—not his opponent.

J. G. W.—A was wrong in his claim. B could legally call.

JACKPOT, Wilmington.—You win. A no longer had any interest in that particular pot.

R. B. T., Washington.—1. You can score only two. 2. No answers by mail or telegraph.

DES MOINES, Des Moines.—It can count both ways, but in the hand cited, it ranks as low, or one, numerically speaking.

TOM, Savannah.—It depends entirely upon the existing circumstances.

J. P. K., Ottawa.—Any five cards of one suit running in regular order. It does not necessarily have to include an ace or a face card.

R. F., Kendallville.—The left pedro, or five of clubs, in the case cited.

J. S., Chicago.—A wins. The points score in their consecutive order—game before pedro.

S. L. T., Cincinnati.—B was right in his argument, according to your statement.

A. D. M., Chicago.—The cards should be dealt face downward. Though there was legally no harm in the dealer's action such methods are not practised by men. Children might be excused for indulging in a pastime of that kind.

M. K., Sunbury.—1. See ball answers. 2. Certainly, provided he holds the necessary cards to take both piles.

BILLIARDS, POOL, ETC.

CONSTANT READER, Nashville.—It is immaterial what course a ball takes that has been called by a player for a certain pocket, provided, of course, that no unfair means are employed in such play. The fact that the ball, before being pocketed, kisses against one or more balls has nothing to do with the play, unless it had been distinctly agreed between the players that such conditions must govern.

C. D. M.—The ball belongs to A, who had it originally. His oversight does not make it his opponent's ball.

D. H. C., Camden.—As you were merely calling the ball, and not the ball and pocket, A is certainly entitled to the ball.

POOL PLAYER, Trenton.—According to the latest rules of pool, the player who leads off must hit the balls in the triangle before taking a cushion, to effect a fair stroke.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

H. R.—Roger Connor filled the position of first base for the New York Club, of the National League, in 715 out of the 828 championship games he took part in from 1883 to 1889, inclusive. He played second base in 67 of these games, third base in 12 games, and was in the outfield in the 34 remaining games. Connor played first base for the New York Club, of the Players' League, in all of his 123 championship contests in 1890.

W. R. W., Philadelphia.—Indoor baseball was played in your city at least fifteen years ago.

M. K., Sunbury.—1. It is a matter of opinion merely, and we prefer not to express ours. 2. See Card answers.

L. W. S., Trenton.—There are several "heavy weights" playing professionally, but they have never played together as a team, and we have no record of any "heavy weight" team playing regularly.

ATHLETIC.

J. L. M., Eureka.—1. William Cummiegs, the Scotch runner, was born at Paisley, Scotland, June 10, 1858. 2. His best record for ten miles is 51m. 6⅘s., made in his race with W. G. George at London Eng., Sept. 28, 1885. 3. The first of his three races with George, one mile, came off at Lillie Bridge, London, Aug. 31, 1885; the second, four miles, at Edinburgh, Scotland, and the third, ten miles, at Lillie Bridge.

J. O., De Taymar.—Duncan C. Ross, the Canadian athlete, informed us that he was born at Glasgow, Scotland, on March 16, 1855.

TRACK, Helena.—If a mans runs to beat a certain record, and fails to beat it, of course he loses.

J. G., Cambridge.—Communication received. It will be necessary, however, to have also the affidavits of another timer, with such other officials, if any, as may have been present.

J. G., Clinton.—The affidavits of the officials who supervised the performance are requisite before the feat can be placed among the records.

RING.

J. D., Salt Lake City.—1. The fight between the late George Seddons and "Punch" Morris at Fort Erie, Can., in 1869, was an off-hand affair, and the names of the referee and seconds were not published at the time. 2. You may procure a picture of Seddons by writing to Ed. James & Co., as per advertised address.

R. K. W., Boston.—In Australia Frank P. Slavin is popularly known as "Paddy" Slavin. He formerly was a laborer there.

TURF.

J. B. D., Lakewood.—We do not publish reports of the races at that place, consequently cannot give you the desired information. Write to Goodwin Bros., 241 Broadway, this city.

E. S.—There is no record for that exact time. See the tables of fast time and long distance riding in THE CLIPPER ANNUAL for 1891, issued this week.

W. H. T.—1. The fastest trotting time on record, going singly, for one mile, is 2:08¾, by Maud S. 2. What sort of a park do you mean?

DICE, DOMINOES, ETC.

W. N. N., Cocoa.—A was wrong. The three forty-one men win both prizes. The forty men were not second highest, their throws having thrice been beaten.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. B., Toledo.—We have no data to refer to. Give us the year, and state some particulars of the occurrence, and we will hunt it up and answer in a future issue.

B. M. S.—We hesitate to recommend boarding schools, etc., of any kind, and must positively decline to say "which is the best." As you are the parent, we feel that you should assume the responsibility of selection. Use your best judgment.

J. K., Wellington.—Address E. & H. T. Anthony, 591 Broadway, or Scovill Manufacturing Co., 423 Broome Street, this city.

N. M. H., Military Home.—Several firms advertise juggling goods. See our business columns.

HARLEM.—We prefer that you submit this query to Mr. S. himself. We cannot concern ourselves with his private life, affairs or antecedents.

T. S., Providence.—Census of 1881: 3,816,483.

W. S., Harrisburg.—1. They are built just off shore, but the water space is not navigable. 2. May 30, 1883.

DRUGGIST, Fall River.—1. Yes. 2. No answers by mail or telegraph.

NO SIGNATURE.—Write to the Attorney General of that State.

M. K., Ogden.—Harry Karpe 66 Norfolk Street; Emil Sabel, 234 East Seventy-fourth Street.

CHECKERS.

BREVITIES.—The Portland, Me., players, Messrs. Walker, McLaughlin and others, are agitating a tournament to decide who is the strongest player.....D. G. McKelvie, the noted Scotch expert, intends to start a draughts column in The Glasgow Citizen. His well known ability ought to make it a success.....W. C. Parrow, the old Boston expert, is endeavoring to inaugurate a tournament to decide who is the best. We are glad to learn that Mr. Parrow has again taken up checkers.

....Signor Succi terminated his forty-five days' fast at 11 P. M., Dec. 20, at Koster & Bial's Hall. At the time he commenced to live without nourishment, Nov. 5, he weighed 147¼ lb. and at the close of the forty-five days, he scaled but 104¾ lb.—a loss of 42½ lb. The faster was watched by a number of interested physicians and medical students throughout the time he was punishing himself, and an examination was made daily, the result of which was bulletined for the benefit of visitors. The last was as follows: Weight, 104¾ lb.; temperature, normal at 98.2; pulse, 62; respiration, 19; dynamometer, 44; general condition, weak; tongue, clear, moist and steady; water drank during the twenty-seven hours from 3 P. M. Friday, natural, 7 ounces; seltzer, 20 ounces; Hunyadi, 4 ounces. The bulletin was signed by Drs. Ramon Guiteras, R. G. Mason, Henry W. Wildman, H. H. Hagan, W. W. Lynde, W. L. Bauer, Frank A. Ingram and Students P. J. Reinhardt, J. S. Timpon, E. M. Lane, F. H. Forshee and J. Field. Succi was very feeble and emaciated during the last few days, and only his indomitable will kept him at his task. The feat was fairly accomplished, and is the greatest performance of the kind recorded.

....George Kleinman achieved a victory over the American champion wing shot, J. A. R. Elliott, of Kansas City, Mo., in a pigeon match, one hundred birds each, thirty yards rise, using 12 guage guns, at Grand Crossing, Ill., Dec. 19. He killed 91 to 83 for Elliott, who seemed nervous and did not shoot with his usual accuracy.

CHESS.

Brevities.

AT HOME.—There are several rumors of matches, personal, teamical and clubical, some of which seem to have foundation enough to warrant a hope of eventuation.....Especially do we hope this is true of the revived on dit of a team match, Manhattan C. C. vs. New Orleans.....We confess to some disappointment at not having the second game of the championship match this week. However, Mr. Gunsberg's altogether masterly and magnificent victory in the fifth game will be the treat for our readers next week.....As it is, our problem lovers are to the fore this week, with a banquet, a worthy reminder of "the days of '76, my boys."..... The Boston C. C. has anew signalized its devotion to chess by opening its rooms free on three evenings of each week, and furnishing a competent teacher, to those wishing to learn the game. This club has also entered upon a two class Winter tourney.....We see it positively stated that an amateur of this city has closed a bet of $50 with Gunsberg that he (the amateur) can take the defence of the Tchigorin-Steinitz Evans, as it now stands, and draw it.

ABROAD.—The second supplement to Nuova Rivista degli Scacchi for 1890 is at hand, completing the Gunsberg-Tchigorin Havana match. It contains forty pp., instead of the promised thirty-two.....Nuova Rivista's seventh problem tourney is exclusively for four move direct mates, without any conditions.....The Chess Monthly gives a portrait, sketch and collection of games of Wordsworth Donisthorpe, Esq., an eminent London amateur master.....The North London C. C. seems to have recovered its wonted vim and push and is now, as formerly, just wiping up the earth with every antagonist that falls into its hands. Even its third team was inclined to feel eastdown at being defeated the other day—or evening.....Mr. Blackburne achieved a more than usually brilliant success at a peripatetic exhibition recently given at Birmingham. Thirty-two antagonists appeared in the lists, and the attendance ranked among the most numerous and enthusiastic ever seen at a similar exhibition. The final score stood—lost, 1; unfinished, 2; drawn, 4; won, 25.....Mr. Bird is seriously ill at St. Thomas' Hospital, the hopes of his sufficient recovery to finish his games in the Divan's last handicap not having been realized. A subscription for his relief has been set on foot. It should amount to someting substantial.....The testimonial purse to Captain Mackenzie is now reported at £80; coupled with a hope that at least an equal amount may be added in this country.....The Spanish national correspondence tourney, though not commanding a very long list of players, was successfully carried through. Senor M. Herrero, of Lerida, won first prize, and A. F. Poso, of Gijon, second.....In the sixth correspondence tourney of La Strategie, eight entrants came in, and six fought, more or less completely, to the close. MM. Gaspary and Normand came out first and second ex æquo. They play a supplementary match of two games, and, if that is drawn, divide the prizes.....Dr. Tarrasch on his return to Nuremberg was tendered a grand banquet, at the conclusion of which he was honored by a crown of laurel by his enthusiastic admirers.....Fritz at Gailjerstam, the eminent Scandinavian problematist, died Oct. 18, at Carlstadt, at the early age of thirty-eight.

The third championship game.—N. Y. Tribune.

QUEEN'S GAMBIT EVADED.

White, W. Steinitz.	Black, I. Gunsberg.	White, W. Steinitz.	Black, I. Gunsberg.
1..P to Q 4	P to Q 4	15..Q B × B	K Kt × B
2..P-Q B 4	P-K 3	16..Kt-his 3	K B-Kt 3
3..Q Kt-B 3	P-Q B 3	17..Q Kt-R 4	Q Kt-Q 4
4..P-K 3	K Kt-B 3	18..Q-her 2	P-Q Kt 3 (c)
5..P-K B 3	K B-Kt 5 (a)	19..Q R-K sq	Q-her 2
6..K Kt-B 3	Q Kt-Q 2	20..Q R-K 2	Q R-Q sq
7..K Kt-B 4	Castles	21..K R-K sq	K Kt-R 4
8..K-Kt P (b)	Q P × P	22..Q Kt-B 3	K Kt × Kt
9..K B × P	P-K 4	23..R P × Kt	Q Kt × Kt
10..K Kt-K 2	K P × P	24..Kt P × Kt	K R-K sq
11..K P × P (c)	Kt-his 3	25..Q-K B 4	K R × R
12..K B-Kt 3	Q B-B 4 (d)	26..K R × R	K-B sq (f)
13..Q B-Kt 5	K B-K 3	27..K-B 2	Q-her 3,
14..Castles	K Kt-Q 4	and the game was drawn.

Notes condensed.

(a) Certainly superior to B to K 2, as played in a similar position in the first game.

(b) Probably not so good as 8..Q B to Q 2.

(c) 11..Q × P was undoubtedly stronger.

(d) The B here is exposed to attacks, and to being shut in; B to Q 2 was much preferable.

(e) Black conducts his defence in an extremely difficult position with very good judgment.

(f) For if R to K sq at once; 29..Q to B 7, Q home!; 28..Q × Q, followed by R to K 7, with an excellent game.

....The Referee Wheelmen, of Philadelphia, held their annual election last week, with this result: President, O. Lally; vice president, J. S. Breis; secretary, G. Steinmets; treasurer, W. F. Kryder; captain, J. Stafford; first lieutenant, C. Linton; second lieutenant, J. L. Breitinger.

....Luca Francis and Raffaele Cuanciulli contended for the championship of the Italian hair cutters of New York and Brooklyn and a stake of $100, together with a gold medal, at Tammany Hall, evening of Sunday, Dec. 21. All the Dago barbers of the two cities were on hand to witness the contest, together with many other members of the fraternity. The conditions were that each operator should cut the hair of four men, in as many different styles of the art. It was not only a novel but a close contest, Francis being declared the victor by a few hairs, amid the cheers of his many partisans.

....Captain Brewer, of Philadelphia, has been endeavoring to arrange a match with J. A. R. Elliott, of Kansas City, Mo., to shoot pigeons on any ground within one one hundred miles of New York City, for $1,000 a side, and bet as much as $5,000 on the outside. Elliott, while willing to make a match for a big stake, declines to shoot in the East, preferring Chicago. They were unable to agree upon terms, but may do so when the season of 1891 opens.

....During the hunting trip of the Prince of Wales and party in Hungary they bagged the following game: 21,218 partridges, 5,734 hares, 4,102 pheasants, 80s rabbits and 77 other birds, making a total of 31,668.

....J. A. R. Elliott, the great Western bird shot, was forced to lower his colors to Abe Kleinman in a match at one hundred pigeons each, at Chicago, Ill., Dec. 20. The stakes were $500 a side, the American Association rules governed, and Abe won by a score of 94 to 91, three of Elliott's birds falling dead out of bounds. On the previous day Elliott had been defeated by George Kleinman, in a match shot under similar conditions, the score being 91 to 83. Elliott left for Kansas City in disgust, but promises to have satisfaction out of the brothers later on.

Robert L. Lowe, the young and brilliant player of the Boston Club, of the National League, was born July 10, 1865, at Pittsburg, Pa., and learned to play ball in 1885, with an amateur team of New Castle, Pa. He remained there throughout that and the following season, when his excellent fielding and fine batting soon brought him into prominence. His professional career commenced in 1887, with the Eau Claire Club, of the Northwestern League. During that season he filled, with credit to himself, the positions of short stop, left and right field, in all taking part in 108 championship games. At the close of the season his services were in demand, and he received offers from managers of several Western clubs. Among them was a tempting one from the Milwaukee Club, of the Western Association, which he finally accepted, and signed with that club for the season of 1888. The management was so well pleased with his excellent work that he was re-engaged for the season of 1889. In the two seasons he took part in no fewer than two hundred and eleven championship games. When the baseball war broke out at the beginning of last season, Lowe was signed by the Boston Club, of the National League, and during the season of 1890, took part in fifty-two championship games, filling the positions of third base, short stop and left field. As an all around player he ranks high, being a hard batter, clean and sharp fielder, and an excellent base runner. Another thing that makes him a particularly valuable man is, that he never lets his love of a good personal record interfere with his work for his club, and will take chances that most players would selfishly shirk.

THE RING.

Two Battles in One Night.

The members of the Minneapolis (Minn.) Athletic Club were treated to a brace of glove fights at their rooms on Tuesday night, Dec. 23. The principal event was a match for a purse of $1,000, offered by the club, $800 to the winner and $200 to the loser, between Johnnie Van Heest, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Tommy Hogan, of St. Paul. Van Heest weighed 119lb and Hogan 118½lb. Hogan had the advantage in height and reach, but was outfought at all points by Van Heest. The latter rushed his man from the beginning, but broke his hand in the second round, thus prolonging the fight. Hogan showed himself a glutton for punishment and a good general, but could not land effectively. Van Heest finished his man in the twenty-second round with a hard swing on the neck. It was the best in that section for many a day.

The other fight was for a purse of $200, offered by the club, between Charley Johnson, of St. Paul, and Jimmy Griffin, of Minneapolis, two well known middleweights. Griffin did most of the leading, and held the advantage until the tenth round, when Johnson floored him with an upper cut. Griffin came up groggy, and another upper cut in the twelfth round knocked him out.

GEORGE KESTERSON and Done Nelson, young farmers who had been avowed enemies for several years, met at a spot within a few miles of Parkersburg, W. Va., on Dec. 22, and settled their difficulty by an appeal to arms. They fought with hands bare, without having been trained for a day, and one of the hardest battles, if unmarked by science, was the result. Finally, when both were well punished, in the sixteenth round Kesterson knocked his antagonist flat, and as the latter was not able to again toe the mark, George got the verdict.

ALFRED GRIFFITHS, alias "Griffo," and Paddy Moran fought with gloves, for $750, at the rooms of the Sydney (N. S. W.) Gymnastic Club on Nov. 14. The fighting during the first twelve rounds was heavy and quite even, but in the next Griffo brought his right around on his adversary's jaw so hard that the latter was unable to again respond to the call of time, and Griffo got the purse.

PETER JACKSON arrived at San Francisco from Australia, on the steamer Mariposa, Dec. 20. He is reported to have said to an interviewer that his matches with Slavin and Goddard are off for the present, as his (Peter's) health is not of the best, and he proposes to try the efficacy of the Byron Springs, in California, for some weeks.

GUS LAMBERT, the Canadian boxer and athlete, commenced a two weeks' engagement at Washington Music Hall, London, Eng., Dec. 22. During the first week him and Charley Mitchell were to wrestle in two styles (Greco-Roman and catch as catch can), and at each performance during the second week they were to box a few brief rounds.

"SWIPES THE NEWSBOY" defeated Jack Brennan, of the City of Churches, at a sporting resort on Long Island on the afternoon of Dec. 23. Although his antagonist was much the bigger man in every way, "Swipes" had little difficulty in polishing him off in five Queensbury rounds.

.... A sharply contested match at five pigeons, fifty each, under Hurlingham rules, the loser to pay for the birds, came off at Erb's grounds, near Newark, N. J., Dec 27. Oswald Von Langerke defeating Frank Walker by 43 to 42.

STRAY SPARKS FROM THE DIAMOND.

The minority stockholders of the Athletic Club, of Philadelphia, have organized with a capital stock of $50,000 and propose making a determined fight for the American Association franchise for Philadelphia. They claim to have the promise from Allen W. Thurman, president of a American Association, that the franchise will not be awarded elsewhere until they have had a hearing, and furthermore, President Taurman has promised to do all that he can for them. It is conceded that A. G. Spalding, president of the Chicago Club, of the National League, and chairman of the National League Conference Committee, may have promised the franchise to the Wagner Brothers, of Philadelphia. The club will not want for grounds, A. J. Reach, president of the Philadelphia Club, of the National League, having already given his permission to the new Athletic Club directors to use his grounds with a non-conflicting schedule. This will, in addition to avoiding the possibility of conflicting dates, lessen the running expenses, since there will be only one ground and grand stand to keep in repair. Mr. Shellemberg, the leading stockholder, says that he is positive that the Wagners have not yet been awarded the Philadelphia American Association franchise. "And why should they get it?" said he. "We went into baseball legitimately, and lost our money. I have sunk $8,500 and Mr. Shibe has lost $4,500. The other minority stockholders have lost proportionately." As a proof that the American Association is inclined to treat them fairly he showed a letter from the receiver of the old club that President Thurman had assured him at Louisville that the American Association franchise for Philadelphia would not be given to any one until the minority stockholders of the Athletic Club had time to straighten out their affairs, and that the Conference Committee would then give them a hearing and consider their claims before taking final action.

Indoor baseball has become such a success at Chicago that it is going to be given a trial in this city. The first game played which attracted any attention was at Chicago, in the armories. It has developed there rapidly until now there are four leagues, fully equipped, with several teams each. Besides, several teams are in the field which have no connection with the leagues. The game in that city is a perfect craze. It attracts a good class of people. Each league game draws from 1,500 to 2,000 people. The interest is not confined to the male sex, as the ladies show as much, if not more, enthusiasm than the men. New Yorkers have not really had a taste of indoor baseball as yet. Three games have been played, it is true, but circumstances have worked against the public knowing that there was a game of this kind, and besides they did not know when a game was to be played until Dec. 20. At that game were nearly one thousand persons. While the contest was one sided and not altogether interesting, yet those who saw it were of one voice in saying that, if properly managed, indoor baseball should have a decided hold on the New York public as a Winter sport. Other parties think well of the game, and have made arrangements to see how the public will take to it. This attempt will be made by baseball magnates and professional players. They will not play the game upon a board floor, but upon a regular covering of earth. Madison Square Garden has been engaged for that purpose. President Day and Manager Mutrie, of the New York Club, of the National League, are the promoters of the enterprise. If they make a success of it on the opening night there will be little else but professional indoor games for the rest of the season. This is the first attempt to play the game by professionals, and will be the first attempt at playing the game on solid ground enclosed in a building.

Walter W. Burnham of New Haven proposes to manage the reorganized Pittsburg Club in 1891 or know the reason why. In a letter received Dec. 22, at Pittsburg, he says that on Nov. 20 he visited that city and made a contract with W. A. Nimick and others of the majority interest to manage the team. This agreement he claims has not been annulled. The letter is considered equivalent to a notification that Burnham proposes to contest with President O'Neill, of the Pittsburg Club, in court if the latter persists in his intention to retain Edward Hanlon as manager.

The Second National Bank, of Allegheny, Pa., on Dec. 23, issued an attachment against J. P. O'Neil and W. A. Nimick, of the Pittsburg Club, of the National League, garnisheeing any money in their possession belonging to H. K. Brown, formerly a director of that clnub. The writ is on a judgment obtained against Mr. Brown for $1,532.

It is predicted that there will be plenty of news after the holidays. The American Association circuit will be fixed up then as soon as possible, then the tripartite agreement will follow, when the various teams will be made up for the next season.

George Hoffman defeated Capt. Anson, of the Chicago Club, of the National League, at pigeon shooting, Dec. 22, at Chicago, for $100 a side.

Walter Wilmot, the outfielder of the Chicago Club, of the National League, recently visited Chicago for the purpose, it is said, of obtaining his release from President Spalding. It is claimed that he has been offered the management and captaincy of the St. Paul team, of the Western Association. While Manager Anson would prefer to retain him, it is believed that he will release him, providing, of course, Wilmot succeeds in getting the appointment at St. Paul.

It is said that a number of medals are to be distributed among the players of the California League excelling in their respective positions, but in the absence of the official averages nothing can be done in the matter for the present.

Cal Broughton, of the St. Paul Club, of the Western Association, is mentioned to coach the University of Wisconsin team for next season.

Chris Von der Ahe, of St. Louis, arrived in Columbus, O., Dec. 26, for the purpose of consulting with President Thurman, of the American Association. Mr. Barnie, the other member of the Association Conference Committee, being detained at his home at Brooklyn on account of illness. Messrs. Thurman and Von der Ahe were in close conference all day Dec. 27. There was much to talk over, Mr. Von der Ahe not having been present at the late meeting in New York. Everything done at that time was explained to him and he gave it his hearty approval. This makes the Association Committee unanimous. Mr. Barnie having been in New York and approved of the proceedings at the time. Thurman and Von der Ahe will go to Toledo for the purpose of coming to an understanding with Mr. Ketcham, of the Toledo Club, about retiring from the American Association. If they are successful with him they will probably go on to Rochester. They don't anticipate any difficulty in settling with Mr. Ketcham, who is a level headed business man and will appreciate the situation when it is properly presented to him. The committee is anxious to do the fair thing and is willing to pay all it can afford for the Toledo franchise. President Thurman will leave Columbus for the East about Jan. 3 and will investigate matters in Washington and Philadelphia. Absolutely nothing has been done in the Philadelphia case and nothing will be done until all parties have had an opportunity to make a showing. All applicants for the franchise will be granted a full and complete hearing. Mr. Thurman expected to have matters in such a shape that he can call the joint Conference Committee together as early as Jan. 15.

Secretary Brunell, of the Players' League, says: "The Chicago trouble between Spalding, of the National League, and Addison, of the Players' League, over unpaid salaries, is one likely to spread. The Chicago Players' League players are creditors for $5,900, divided about as follows: Comiskey, $1,300; Baldwin, $350; King, $450; Pfeffer, $400; Ryan, $480; Duffy, $400; Farrell $300; Boyle, $350; Williamson, $230; Shugart, $150; Bastian, $250; Dwyer, $380; Darling, $350; O'Neil, $400. Spalding's point about a resolution guaranteeing salaries is true so far, that last August when the gate receipts were falling below salaries, Addison wanted his Chicago associates to pay the men according to their contracts, which meant as the money came in at the gate. After a long discussion the club directors resolved that the salaries should be paid irrespective of the receipts. They were so paid until Phil Auten sold his stock, when they again fell behind. So far as the Players' League is concerned, no salaries were guaranteed unless by special contract. The only legislation on the point was a resolution permitting clubs to guarantee contracts to their players on demand. Not a dozen such contracts were executed. The legal debt question is thus a local one to Chicago, and, so far as the courts are concerned it is very doubtful whether the salaries can be collected from Addison. If they can, other clubs will have to meet claims of the same kind, as it is claimed Pittsburg owes its players about $1,000; Brooklyn, $3,000; Philadelphia, $5,000, and Buffalo, $10,000."

A Cleveland correspondent says: "Albert Johnson, the well known backer of the Cleveland Club, of the Players' League, at the present time appears to be getting the short end of everything. One of the most ungrateful features of the affair is the mean way in which Mr. Johnson has been referred to by certain capitalists of the Players' League, and one or two players connected with that organization. At least three times during the season he came to its rescue when it was well nigh engulfed in the waters of adversity. As far back as last June he bolstered the organization up at a critical stage, when there was trouble in Chicago, and threats by both players and capitalists. Later on, when other misfortunes were met, Mr. Johnson was called upon and never failed to respond. Now, that he has made an attempt to protect his own interests everybody appears to think that this is the special occasion when he should be denounced. It is stated that had it not been for him the Philadelphia Club would have gone to pieces at the time of the Love-Fogarty embroglio. Such instances as that and the one at Chicago show how valuable he was to the Players' League."

President Spalding, of the Chicago Club, of the National League, is quoted as saying that the stories are absurd that he offered J. E. Wagner the Philadelphia franchise of the American Association. "I had no power to do such a thing, and would not have assumed it. I met Wagner when I was in the East, and the latter told me he would compromise on the basis of $25,000 and American Association franchise. I said that the $25,000 wouldn't go, but the franchise might. Wagner then considerately withdrew the $25,000, and I went to Thurman and suggested that he give Wagner a franchise, as the Athletics were defunct, and the American Association wanted a club at Philadelphia. That was the extent of my interference in the matter."

A game was played Dec. 20, at San Francisco, Cal., between the All California team and a picked nine. The contest was made notable by the presence of King Kalakaua, of Hawaii, who occupied a private box. The All Californias won by a score of 12 to 8. Nash, of the Boston Club, of the Players' League, umpired. On Dec. 21 the All Californias met and defeated another picked nine by a score of 9 to 1. The features of this game were the pitching of Van Haltren for the victors, and Coughlin, for the picked nine, and the base running of the All Californias. Only five safe hits were made by each team. The time of the game was one hour and twelve minutes, it being one of the quickest ever played at San Francisco.

J. P. O'Neil, of the Pittsburg Club, of the National League, is quoted as saying: "Now let me give you our batting order; that is, as I would like, and tell me what you think of it. Supposing we had a team to go to the plate in this order: Hanlon, Ward, Beckley, Van Haltren, Miller, Carroll, Bierbauer, Burke, Staley. All the energy that I possess will be devoted to getting for Pittsburg the best team it has ever had. Nimick and myself will work together harmoniously. He has not sold out to me, and will continue interested in the game, and give it whatever encouragement he can."

The affairs of the Western Association remain unchanged. Sioux City and Omaha are the only clubs that have not secured managers for next season, and none of the clubs are making any especial effort to sign players. Since the season closed about twelve players only have been signed by Western Association clubs. The fact that thirty per cent. of the Players' League men are wanted by managers of Western Association teams has placed the several club owners in a position in which they feel that they can afford to wait in the hope of getting good material even cheaper than the prices at which it is to be had now.

Manager Barnie, of the Baltimore Club of the American Association, who was laid up sick at the home of his father, in Brooklyn, is able to be about again. He makes his headquarters in Brooklyn, at Kife's, on Fulton Street. When seen recently, he said his team for next year would be about as follows: "Townsend, Robinson and Tate, catchers; a choice of McMahon, Kilroy, Cunningham, Baker and German, pitchers; now first and second basemen, Gilbert, third base; Shindle, short stop; Griffin, Welch and Kay, in the outfield, and Sommer, substitute."

When Holliday signed with President Stern, of the Cincinnati Club, last year, the latter agreed to pay Holliday $50 at the end of the season if Pitcher Duryea should be signed for more money than the other players got. Holliday forgot all about the incident and was agreeably surprised when Stern recently sent for him and paid him the $50.

Spalding, of the Chicago Club, of the National League, was prepared to pay Addison, of the Chicago Club, of the Players' League, $20,000 for the Players' League club, Dec. 26, at Chicago, but as $7,000 in salaries is due the players and Addison said he wouldn't pay it, the sale was not consummated.

Pitcher Foreman, of the Cincinnati team, says his arm is all right again, thanks to a cure for sore arms recommended by McGlone, of the Denver team. It is very simple. The sore arm must be rubbed in a brisk manner, then let cold water run on it for fifteen or twenty minutes and then it must be given another good rub, and that will help it.

The Toronto papers state that there is nobody in that city who can be found to put money into a club to enter the new International League, embracing Toronto, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Troy, Albany, Toledo and Detroit.

Mike Kelly is getting up a team to play indoor games at Boston and elsewhere. Among the players he has selected are: Ed Crane, M. Murphy, Tom Brown, Blovey, Arthur and John Irwin, C. Daily, McCarthy and Radford.

The opening game of the Southern California League was played, Dec. 13, at San Diego, Cal., between the San Diego and Los Angeles teams, when the former won by a score of 14 to 3. Darby pitched for the home team and Young for the visitors.

Rube Levy, of the San Francisco Club, of the California League, was recently presented with a diamond badge,

There were more people at the course on Christmas afternoon than had been previously seen there since the Winter meeting opened, and this in face of the fact that the day was one of the coldest of the season. The track, however, was in splendid condition, and the attractions offered furnished excellent sport, while favorites and second choices divided the honors save in the opening event, which was won by a clean outsider. The judges were dissatisfied with the manner in which C. Hild rode the Alma filly in the first race, and ruled off the jockey. Result: Purse $300, of which $50 to second, for all ages, weights 20lb above the scale, selling allowances, five and a half furlongs—C. C. Although after the heavy snow storm of the preceding day it was to have been expected that the track would have been in very bad condition, and the sport consequently not good, nearly five thousand persons visited the course on Saturday afternoon, 27. They were surprised to find that the track was entirely free from snow, and was in pretty good condition. This was the result of the effort of the track superintendent and his large corps of Italian laborers, who worked all night to prepare for the afternoon's racing, which was very good, five of the finishes being close. Result: Purse $400, of which $50 to second, for all ages, weights 10lb above the scale, seven furlongs—W. H. Racing at Clifton.

The Winter meeting of the Passaic County Agricultural Association at the Clifton, N. J., course was continued on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 24, when the weather was cold and clear, the gathering large, the track fast, the fields large in all but one event, and the racing first rate, with winners of but two races being favorites, so that the "bookies" must have carried home the great bulk of the cash that went into their strong boxes. Result: Purse $300, of which $50 to second, for three year olds and upward that had run and not won since Nov. 15, selling allowances, five furlongs—C. H. Post's Freedom, by Fonso-La Traviata, 5—106, Lambley, first, in 1:04¾; Dixie, by McHenry-Babe, 4—112, Monahan, the favorite, second, by a head; Australand, by Reform-Australind, 3—109, Bergen, third, the same distance behind.....Purse $400, of which $75 to second and $25 to third, for three year olds that run and not won in 1890, weights 15lb below the scale, one mile—Athenia Stable's Ganymede, by Grinstead-Jennie B., 4—107, Bender, first, in 1:46; Gettysburg, by Glenelg M. The weather was bitterly cold on Christmas afternoon, but this did not deter thousands of people from journeying to the track, which was in capital condition, and, as the contests were highly interesting, the spectators came away well satisfied. W. C. Daly's filly Glory for the third time won the Christmas Handicap which was a glory enough even for "Father Bill." Result: Purse $3.0, of which $50 to second, for three year olds and upward, selling allowances seven furlongs—Parkville stable's Prince Edward, by Spendthrift Piccadilly, 4—110, Viut, first, in 1:31; Gardner 4—107, Mullaly second, by a length and a half; Rhody Pringle, aged, 107, Barton, third a length behind.....Purse $3.0 of which $75 to second and $.5 to third, for three year olds and upwards, weiter weights, six and a half furlongs—Whitehall Stable's Basil Duke, by Enquirer Bonnie Meade, 3—135, Vignes, first, in 1:25; Joe Courtney, 4—130, McClay, second, by half a length; Fabian, 3—110 Lambley, third, three lengths away.....Purse $400 of which $75 to second and $25 to third, for two year olds, selling allowances, six furlongs—S. The weather having moderated somewhat, those who went to the course on Monday afternoon, 29, had quite an enjoyable day, especially as four well supported second choices and one clean cut favorite carried off the money. The track was slightly soft and heavy, owing to a fall of snow in the morning, followed by a bright, warm sun. Result: Purse $300, of which $50 to second, for maidens of all ages, selling allowances, five furlongs—A. The Belmont Sale.

The racing establishment of the late August Belmont, which for a period of twenty-five years was an honor to the American turf, was disposed of at auction at the old Nursery Stud Farm, at Babylon, L. I., on Saturday, Dec. 27. The sale attracted many of the best known owners in the country, while others were represented by proxy. The number of animals disposed of aggregated twenty-eight, and the total sum realized was $123,600, being an average of $4,414. The star of the sale was the speedy two year old Fotomac, the winner of the Futurity Stakes, and who is entered and eligible to start for some of the big stakes of next season. Many thought that he would command at least $40,000 but M. F. Dwyer was fortunate enough to get him for $25,000, which, all things considered, is below his value. The same fortunate was also lucky in securing Rockland for $7,000 while his brother Phil got Prince Royal for a comparatively low price of $5,000 and St. Carolis, a brother of St. Carlo, for $5,100 The second highest price was paid for the fleet filly La Tosco, the Hough Bros. securing her. Full details of the sale are herewith given: Potomac, 2yrs., by St. Blaise-Susquehanna, M. F. Dwyer, $25,000; La Tosca, 2yrs., by St. Blais Tocuiches, Hough Bros., $13,000; Rockland 5yrs., Billet-Calhomel, M. F. Dwyer, $7,000; St. Florian, yearling by St. Blaise-Feu Follett, P. H. and A. H. THE FAMOUS TROTTING STALLION SMUGGLER, by Blanco, by Iron's Cadmus, out of a pacing mare bred in Virginia, died at the farm of his owner, F. H. Babcock, of Hornellsville, N. Y., on Dec. 27, aged twenty-four years. He was foaled by Josiah Morgan, of Columbus, O., and in the Fall of 1873 was bought by Col. H. E. Russell, of Massachusetts, for $30,000, after Charles Marvin had driven him three heats in 2:19½, 2:21½, 2:21. His best record was 2:15¼. Although a great trotter, he was not a success as a sire.

BILLIARDS.

The Cincinnati Tournament.

The cushion carom tournament held at the Francis Billiard Hall, Cincinnati, O., beginning Dec. 8 and closing Dec. 20, was a success and enlivened the game in the Queen City considerably. The players entered were comparatively amateurs, but the playing was worthy of a higher class. Averages from 2½ to 3⅝ were made, and some of the finest games ever played in that city were brought out in this tourney. The prizes offered were $75, $50, $25 and $10. One hundred dollars were added by Mr. Francis the players paying an entrance fee of $10 each. Harry Furst took first money, while the second, third and fourth prizes were divided between Horn, Meyers and Perry. The last mentioned players were tied, played off their game and were tied again, when it was necessary to divide, as Perry, who also gave an exhibition of finger billiards, had to leave the city to give exhibitions elsewhere. By the way, this gentleman is wonderful in his way, and many who saw him (including some prominent players) say that he is better than "Yank" Adams ever was. The following table gives the standing of the players at the close of the tournament:

	Furst	Horn	Meyers	Perry	Choate	Bruning	Won
Furst	..	1	1	1	0	1	4
Horn	0	..	1	0	1	1	3
Meyers	0	1	..	1	1	1	3
Perry	0	0	0	..	1	1	2
Choate	1	0	0	0	..	1	2
Lost	1	2	2	2	3	5

The games were 100 points, cushion caroms, played on a B. B. C. Co 4½ table. Referee, Hy. Bowman, the local billiard instructor.

The N. Y. A. C. Pool Championship.

The members of the New York Athletic Club have witnessed a series of exciting pool contests for the championship of the club, in which many expert players have been engaged. The games were at continuous pool, 50 points up. In the second round Robert Weld defeated C. C. Goffe, by 50 to 47; W. G. Demerest won easily from S. Russell, by 50 to 38; J. W. Carter beat H. S. White, by 50 to 32, J. H Booth won from W. F. Shaw, by 50 to 40. In the third round W. G. Demerest defeated Robert Weld by 50 to 36; J. H. Booth disposed of J. W. Carter, by 50 to 43. This left Demerest and Booth in the final game. The number of points was increased to 100. The game took place in the gymnasium of the club, Dec. 23. Both men were in fine form, and a good game resulted. Booth took the lead at the start and, although closely pressed by his opponent, won by 100 to 62.

John Keane,

one of the best known of the men connected with billiards whose names never appear in print, died at his home at Long Island City, N. Y., on Dec. 16. He was born in Dunlin, Ireland, in 1831. His disease was paralysis of the brain. His connection with the billiard business dates back about thirty-five years, when he entered the firm of Phelan & Collender, and continued with the late Hugh H. Collender Co. up to and after the consolidation of the latter with the Brunswick-Balke Co. For some time past Mr Keane has been mentally suffering, particularly since the death of Mr Collender, whom he had regarded as an old time friend. He had visited every city of prominence in the United States as a setter up of billiard tables, and had no superiors in that branch of the business. In his prime John Keane was a splendid specimen of phy ical manhood. He was buried in Calvary Cemetery on Dec. 21. The funeral was largely attended by his fellow workingmen.

IN A LETTER recently received from him, Alfredo de Oro, authorizes a friend in New York to make a match for him with Manning for $1,000 a side, or as much more as the latter and his backers care to play for. Manning's backers are two responsible business men, who stated, after the last match between Manning and Powers for the B. B. C. Co championship emblem, that they would back him against anybody for "big money." De Oro has means of his own, and wants the entire stake for himself, which should insure a genuine old fashioned contest for the pound of flesh with blood included, and be a treat for the patrons of the game.

MURPHY, of The Chicago Tribune, won first prize, $150 and the championship medal, in the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. tournament for the working journalists of the Chicago press; Honseman won the "booby" prize, a cue donated by Manager Joe Locke for low man in games won and lost; Wardrup won $10 for best average for those handicapped between 100 and 150; Sheridan and Brown won $5 each for a tie for highest run among those handicapped between 100 and 150; Seymour, formerly of the Bad Lands, finally won second prize of the tournament, Bernard third prize, and on Dec. 20 Payne beat McDonald in playing off their tie for fourth place.

JEROME KROOH, Scranton, Pa., won the first prize, $50 in cash, and the medal in the Binghamton, N. Y., pool tournament, which was concluded Dec 19. F. Sherman, Athens, Pa., won second prize, $25; Stewart, Michigan, and Smith, Binghamton, divided third and fourth prizes, $15. Stewart and Squire, Binghamton, and Enright, Elmira, were tied for last place.

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLLENDER Co. has offered to put up $1,000 and a suitable emblem for a fourteen inch, balk line tournament, with Carter, Ives, Maggioli, Catton and such other players of their class who care to enter. The firm thinks there should be at least five entries.

IN FRANK LAWRENCE'S handicap pool tournament this city, concluded Dec. 72, Welsh won first prize, Wernick second and Erickson third. Powers did not win a game.

J. L. MALONE has reached San Francisco in his travels westward and has arranged a pool match with Benjamin Saylor, of the Pacific Coast.

Among the Leather Kickers.

The weather on Christmas Day, barring the sharpness of the north wind, was very favorable for outdoor sports, and the footballers took advantage of it to bring off some interesting games, the results of which are herewith given: The teams of the Gaelic Athletic Association and the Irish American Athletic Football Club met at the Polo Grounds, this city, about two hundred persons standing their ground till the finish of the contest, which was in favor of the latter, by a score of 10 to 3.....A Rugby game was contested at Prospect Park by the teams representing the Throop Avenue Presbyterian Church and the Mt. Olivet Church, the latter being defeated by a score of 20 to 0.....A number of persons assembled at Monitor Park, Weehawken, N. J., and witnessed the playing of the West Side Shamrocks and the Sons of Erin. The former won by a score of 3 to 0.....The Aroma Athletic Club and the West Bergen Athletic Association met at Jersey City Heights, N. J., the Bergens winning by 2 to 1.....The well known teams of the Longfellows of Brooklyn and the Thistles of Paterson encountered each other at the Ridgewood Grounds, and the Jerseymen were beaten by 5 to 1.....The team of the Columbia Athletic Club of Washington, D. C., was defeated by a picked local team, the figures standing 6 to 4.....At Fall River, Mass., the Champion Rovers, of that place, met the Nonpareils, of New York, and took them into camp, the score being 4 to 2 in favor of the Bay State lads.....The Chace Rovers, of Fall River, visited Boston, and there encountered the Clippers, of the same place, the Rovers winning by two goals to one.

Another Victory for Donoghue.

Joe Donoghue, in addition to the victories of which the cable brought intelligence, won a five mile race at Christiania, Norway, on Dec. 12. His opponent was the crack Norwegian skater, Oscar Fredriksen, and the contest took place at the rink of the Norwegian Skating Association. The skaters were started from opposite sides of the track 180yds. apart and on the eighth of the twenty laps required to complete the distance Donoghue caught Fredriksen, and thereafter they remained close together. Joe finally winning by half a lap in 16m. 28⅘s. The course over which Donoghue skated when he won the international amateur race at Lingay Fen, near Cambridge, Eng., involved three rather sharp turns, and to the clever way in which he accomplished the turns, almost without any diminution of speed, is attributed his easy defeat of his competitors. The winner of that race received a piece of plate valued at $125, known as the Prince of Orange Prize (it having been presented by the late Prince Alexander of the Netherlands, Prince of Orange) and a gold medal.

McClelland Defeats McCabe.

A fifteen mile foot race, for $100 a side and the gate money, amounting to $157, between E. C. McClelland and J. D. McCabe, came off at Exposition Park, Pittsburg, Pa., on Christmas Day. The weather was bitterly cold, and the track for more than half its surface was covered with snow and ice, making the work doubly hard for the contestants and preventing anything in the way of fast time. About three hundred persons were sufficiently interested in the result to brave the discomfort attendant on witnessing the race, and most of them stood their ground to the finish. The exact length of the track was not positively known, and there was no official time keeper, so that the time returned unofficially goes for naught. The contest throughout was of an interesting character, the men remaining in close company till the last lap, when McClelland increased his efforts, and, as his antagonist could not meet the challenge, the former gradually drew ahead, and finally won in the stated time of 1 h. 25m. 30s., McCabe stopping forty yards from the goal.

THERE WERE TWENTY-TWO STARTERS in the handicap cross country run, under the auspices of the Iroquois Athletic Club, that took place on Christmas Day. They ran over a course of over four miles, from the New Jersey Athletic Club House, Bergen Point, to Bayonne, N. J., and return, and the roads were in capital condition, while the wind was sharp enough to keep the athletes moving at their best pace from start to finish. Result: Fred Dod-on, Iroquois A. C., 6m. start, first, in 26m. 56s; Clarence Trewin, New Jersey A. C., 5m., second; Willie D. Day, New Jersey A. C., scratch, third, in 22m. 23s.

THE New England Amateur Skating Association held their annual carnival at Hammond's Pond, Newton, Mass., on Christmas Day. The ice was in splendid condition, and was covered with skaters. The event of the occasion was a contest in fancy skating, for which there were half a dozen contestants, but no one of them could compare with the recognized Boston champion, A. F. Bacon, who easily won with a score of 3:8 points, the possible score being 428. H. G. Barnes was second, 231; H. S Evans third, 195; A. A. Judge fourth, 181½; W. L. Littlefield fifth, 156; A. L. Bryant last, 138.

SPORTS ON CHRISTMAS.—The West Bergen Athletic Association held a set of members' games at Jersey City Heights, N. J., on Christmas morning, which were witnessed by a goodly crowd. Summary: One hundred yards run—Won by S. King, G. Sanders second. Time, 11¾s. Two hundred and twenty yards run—Won by William Darmer, H. Townsend second. Time, 26s. Quarter mile run—Won by B. Acker, William Darmer second. Time, 61s. Half mile walk—Won by William Darmer, G. Sanders second. Time, 4m. 25s. One mile run—Won by B. Cummings, N. Cummings second. Time, 5m. 30s.

MEMBERS of the Mercury Harriers contended for five medals in a cross country run on Christmas Day. This is a new Brooklyn organization, and the start was made from J. Barnett's road house, the country traversed being rather rough going. Result: W. J. McCarthy first in 34m. 42⅘s.; F. Collins second, G. Langdon third, T. Maltran fourth, and W. Kirkwood and E. Andrews running a dead heat for fifth place. The latter two tossed for choice, and Andrews won.

THE BOSTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION held another cross country run on Christmas Day, in which twenty-eight participated. The course was nearly the same as that laid out for the Thanksgiving run. The roads were in good order, and the weather clear and cold. Result: M. J. Doyle first, in 47m. 8⅕s.; J. D. Stults second, 47m. 23s.; F. F. Carr third, 47m. 33⅘s.; J. L. Dodge fourth, 47m. 33⅘s.; J. J. Kilty fifth, in 47m. 43⅖s.

A FOOT RACE took place on the ice at Branch Brook, Newark, N. J., Dec 25. The distance was two hundred yards, the principals were Martin Weiss and James Keegan, the stakes were $50 and the event of a novel character inasmuch as the men ran with feet bare. It was a very exciting race until near the finish, when Weiss spurted to the fore, and finally won by five yards. No time taken.

AN ELEGANT TROPHY was offered by Ernest Thorpe for competition in a handicap road race by members of the Varuna Boat Club, of Brooklyn, on Christmas Day. The start and finish was at the boat house at Bay Ridge, and the result of an exciting race in frosty air and over good roads was as follows: Morgan J. Quill Jr., 6m. start, first, in 36m. 18¾s.; Michael Leonard, 6m., second; Ernest Dunn, 4m., third.

THE RIDGEWOOD HARRIERS, of Brooklyn, N. Y., held a handicap road run of five miles, open only to members, on Christmas Day, starting from headquarters on the Glendale road. The winners of the three medals constituting the prizes were: James B. Murphy, 1m. 2½s. start, first, in 26m. 12¾s.; John J. Gourdin, scratch, second; Harry Jackson, 3m. 30s. start, third.

A THREE MILE RACE took place at Tom Clark's Athletic Grounds, at Kearny, N. J., on Christmas Day, half a dozen men facing the starter and finishing the distance. Result: E. Cox, scratch, first, no time being taken; Wahnock, 300yds. start, second; R. Collins, 230yds., third. It was a professional event, and was witnessed by a goodly crowd.

THE Titan Athletic Club have secured new quarters at 414 West Forty-fifth Street, this city, which will soon be in readiness for occupancy. A gymnasium, supplied with all the modern apparatus, will be put in, and for the purpose of swelling the membership, the announcement is made that the initiation fee will be waived till Jan. 1. The club address is P. O. Box 775, N. Y. City.

GEORGE S. ROBERTSON, a member of the Boston Athletic Association and an amateur jumper of repute, recently failed in the grocery business, at Boston, Mass., and has disappeared. Robertson had not been behind the counter of his store for ten days previously to its being closed by the sheriff.

DENNY GALLAGHER was defeated in a wrestling match at Buffalo, N. Y., Dec 23, by Hugh Leonard. It was a mixed contest, for $250 a side.

Inter-State Polo League.

The interest in polo has fallen off in Meriden and New Britain, Ct., but in the other cities the teams are making money. The following games were played last week: Dec 20, New Haven, at Hartford, 3—10; 30, Bridgeport, at New Britain, 4—14; 20, Springfield, at Meriden, 2—11; 22, New Britain, at New Haven, 2—7; 23 New Britain, at Springfield, 1—7; 23 New Haven, at Bridgeport, 17—5; 24 Hartford, at Meriden, 5—8; 24 Bridgeport, at Hartford, 6—11; 24 Springfield, at New Britain, 5—9; 25, Hartford, at Springfield (afternoon), 7—3; 25, Bridgeport, at Meriden (afternoon), 3—12; 25, New Haven, at New Britain (afternoon), 10—4; 25, Springfield, at Hartford (evening), 8—10; 25, Meriden, at Bridgeport (evening), 4—7; 25 New Britain, at New Haven (evening), 5—9; 26, Meriden, at Springfield, 4—11; 26 Hartford, at New Haven, 4—11. The following table will show the standing of the teams at the end of the eighth week, Dec. 26:

	Springfield	Meriden	New Haven	Hartford	Bridgeport	New Britain	Games Won	Games Lost	Per Cent.	Goals Won	Goals Lost
Springfield	..	3	3	6	3	6	21	60	.700	198	167

A special meeting of the Inter-State Polo League was held at the Elliott House, New Haven, Ct., Dec 26. The charter of the New Britain team was revoked and McKay, the captain of the team, was expelled. All games played with the New Britains are to stand. It was voted, too, and the rule adopted, which imposes a fine of $10 on any player loafing or sulking on the polo surface and such player may be expelled. It was decided, also, to transfer the Meriden team to Worcester on Dec 29. Messrs Bancroft of Springfield and Harris, of Bridgeport, were appointed a committee to place the New Britain franchise in proper hands, either in Boston or Holyoke.

THE SIX days' go as you please at the Natatorium, St. Louis, Mo., came to a close on the night of Dec 28, with the following result: D. J. Herty first, 518 miles; E. C. Moore second, 509; D. Messier third, 503; Peter Golden fourth, 500; P. N. Campana fifth, 450; Nolan sixth, 426; Howley seventh, 325. The winner, it is stated, was entitled to about $1,000.

CHARLES F. MORSE, of Jackson, Mich., was the winner of a twenty-seven hour race at Cheyboygan, ending on Christmas night. His score was 137 miles, the others finishing as follow: W. A. Smith, 128 miles; S. Peters, 114; D. McMullen, 111; it was a close race between Morse and McMullen for the first one hundred miles.

SHOW NEWS.

AMONG THE PLAYERS EVERYWHERE.

—W. A. Brady's "Nero" Co. will open its tour at Washington, D. C., Jan 5.

—T. L. Diggens has recovered from his recent indisposition, and has resumed his duties with Susie Howard's "Nell the Waif" Co.

—Charles Tompkins, assistant treasurer of the People's Theatre Chicago, and nephew of Manager Baylies, was married to Edith Gutman, Dec. 22, at Chicago. Miss Gutman was for a long time Manager Glover's cashier at the Eden Musee, that city.

—Millie Price replaced Myra Goodwin in "Natural Gas," at Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 27.

—Manager W. T. Keogh, of "The Hustler," is sick at Topeka, Kas.

—Charles De Kress has joined Trelegan's Acme Theatre Co.

—Cero Alonia and Annie Gardner were married on the stage at Smith's Opera House, Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 16.

—Kittie Edwards and her husband, John E. Kelly, are doing well with Peck & Fursman's "U. T. C." Co. No. 1.

—Archie and Den Delmanning, two well known ex minstrels, are now playing character parts in "Blue-beard Jr."

—T. J. Ford, one of the managers of the late "Southern Cross" Co., writes us a very lengthy letter, rehearsing the manifold woes experienced by him during his connection with the piece. He accuses his late associate, Frank R. Parker, of a great many things which we can hardly be expected to promulgate publicly; for it is not the province of THE CLIPPER to promote or perpetuate personal feuds. There is plenty of law in this large country. Mr Ford and Mr. Parker should settle their difficulties in the courts.

—Harry Williams, of Gracie Emmett's "Waifs of New York" Co., and H. S. Taylor, the well known agent, are jointly interested in the production of "The Miser's

SPECIAL NOTICE.
Cronheim's Theatre, Hoboken, N. J.
In answer to numerous inquiries from managers of combinations, I would state that week of Jan. 12, 1891, I booked for the "PARISIAN FOLLY CO.," C. W. Williams, manager. The manager of the above company seeks to ignore his contract, and even refused to receive a registered letter addressed to him from me. I hereby warn all managers who intend to play said combination on that date to abstain, as I insist upon my rights, and will enforce them to the full extent of the law.

★Westminster Musee★

PROVIDENCE, Rhode Island.

MESSRS. STONE & SHAW, Sole Owners and Managers of AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM, Boston, Mass., have purchased this palatial home of refined recreation and entertainment, and will hereafter conduct it on substantially the same plan adopted at their Boston establishment, which is universally conceded to be the most successful place of amusement in America. The name has been changed from "Westminster Theatre" to "Westminster Musee," by which it was formerly known, and over fifteen thousand dollars expended in alterations, decorations and improvements, including an entire new set of scenery, making it by far the largest and most magnificent combined Museum and Theatre in the Unites States.

WE WANT FOR BOTH MUSEUMS Everything that is strange, odd and unusual in the line of remarkable living freaks of nature, and all that is rarest and best in the "Curio" world (both animate and inanimate); also Vaudeville entertainers who are "artists" in every sense of the word.

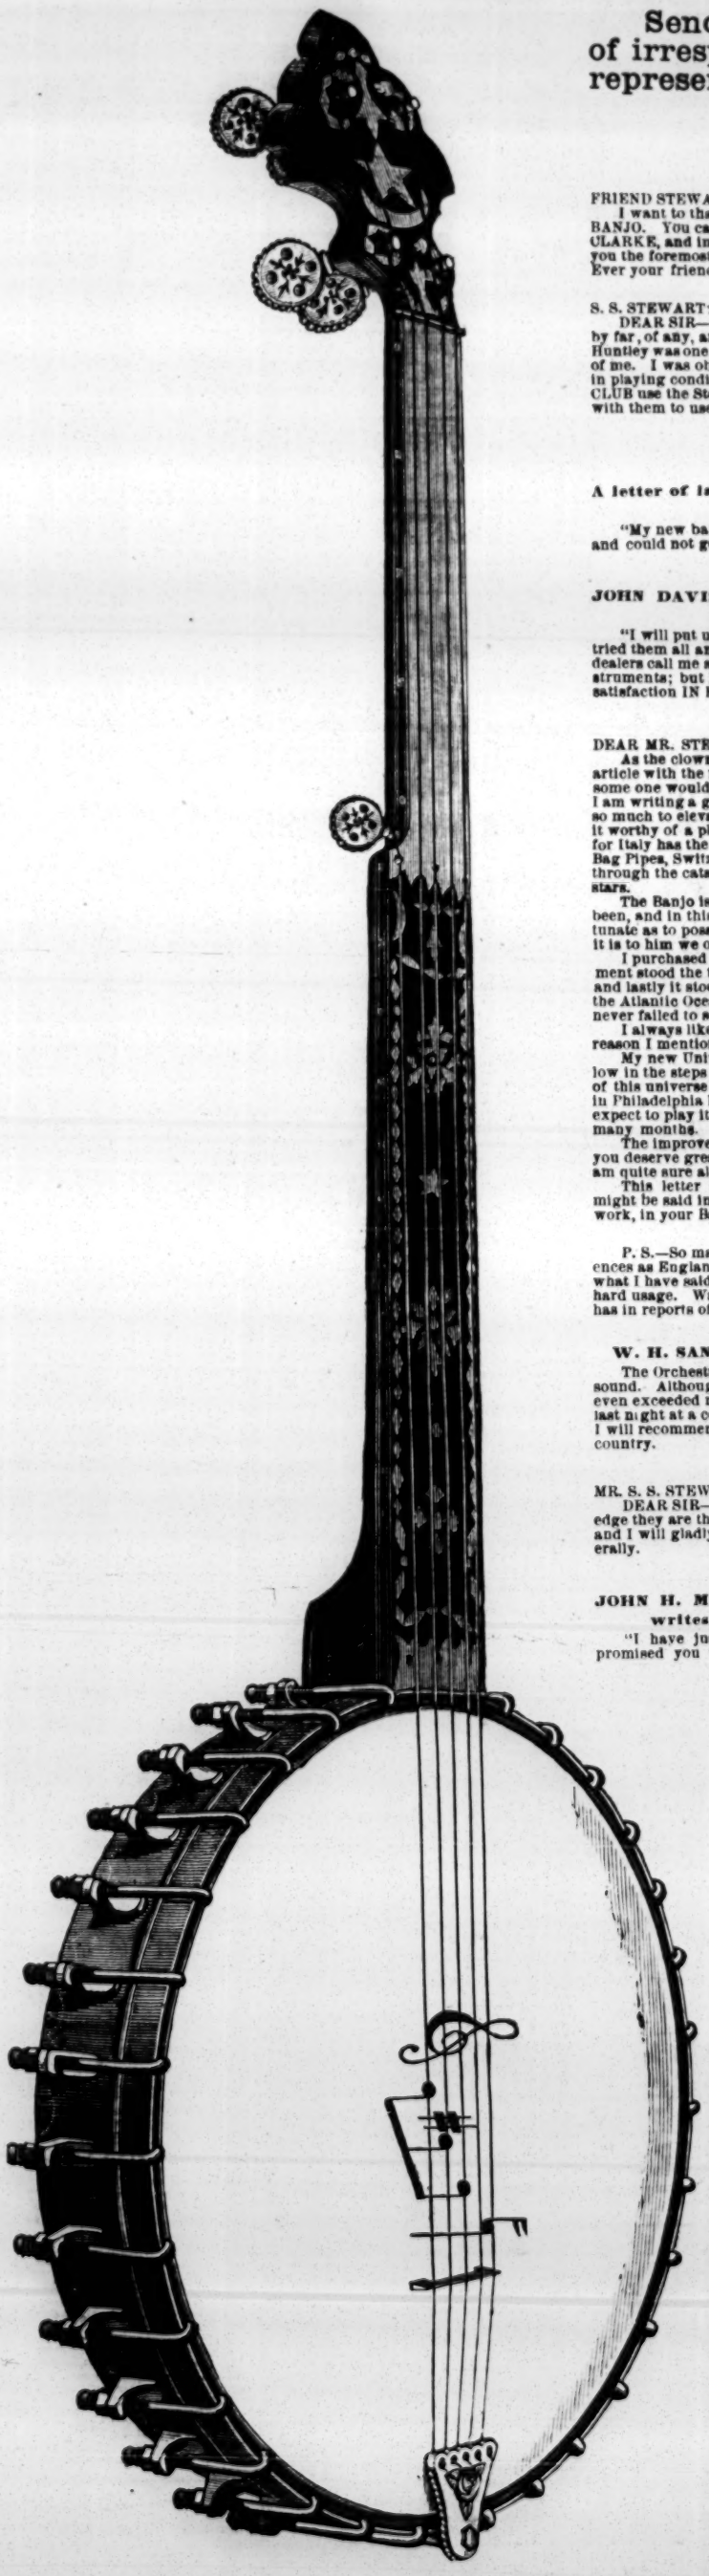
THE CELEBRATED S. S. STEWART BANJOS,

Universally Acknowledged the Most Perfect in Tone and General Construction in the World.

THE S. S. STEWART BANJOS ARE IN USE BY MORE PLAYERS OF RECOGNIZED ABILITY THAN THE BANJOS OF ALL OTHER MAKERS COMBINED.



Send for complete catalogue giving detailed information and prices. Beware of irresponsible parties who make an effort to dispose of inferior instruments by representing them as "EQUAL TO STEWART'S."

CAREFULLY READ THE FOLLOWING LETTERS AND EXTRACTS:

CARNCROSS' MINSTRELS.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6, 1890.

FRIEND STEWART:

I want to thank you again for coming to my timely rescue with the LARGE BANJO. You can imagine my surprise to find it equal in tone to my OLD CLARKE, and in finish far superior to any instrument I ever had. I consider you the foremost maker of the age. May success always attend your efforts. Ever your friend, E. M. HALL.

BOSTON, May 8, 1888.

S. S. STEWART:

DEAR SIR—I have always claimed that your banjeaurines were the finest, by far, of any, and do now. I don't think I stated that the one I loaned W. A. Huntley was one of yours however. I merely said that he borrowed a banjeaurine of me. I was obliged to let him have the other make, as my Stewart was not in playing condition, having poor strings. I wish it understood that the IDEAL CLUB use the Stewart Banjeaurines exclusively, and only carry another make with them to use in case a string breaks or a head gives out.

Yours truly, GEO. L. LANSING,
Director of Boston Ideal Club.

A letter of later date from Mr. Lansing (Jan. 6, 1890), contains the following:

"My new banjeaurine is turning out finely. I do not want a better one and could not get it if I did. The boys all send their best wishes."

JOHN DAVIS, Banjo Teacher, of Springfield, Mass., writes under date of December 9, 1890:

"I will put up $500.00 on the 'Stewart' against any banjo made; for I have tried them all and know that THERE IS NO BANJO but the Stewart. All the dealers call me a 'Stewart crank' because I will not recommend inferior instruments; but I can stand it, for I never sold a banjo but what gave perfect satisfaction IN EVERY WAY."

NEW YORK CITY, June 3, 1889.

DEAR MR. STEWART:

As the clown says in the circus, "Here we are again," I ought to head this article with the remark: "What I know about Stewart's Banjos," but was afraid some one would imagine I was writing an advertisement, which I am not, but I am writing a genuine letter, voluntarily, to the quiet little man who has done so much to elevate the tone of our National instrument, the Banjo, and make it worthy of a place amongst the representative instruments of each nation; for Italy has the Guitar, Ireland the Harp, Germany the Zither, Scotland the Bag Pipes, Switzerland the Flute or Pipes and China the Tom Tom, and so on through the catalogue of instruments. We have the Banjo and a Flag with 42 stars.

The Banjo is quite as much improved in the last 10 years as the flag has been, and in this Centennial year we ought to return thanks for being so fortunate as to possess a "Stewart" whose first name ought to be "Progress," for it is to him we owe so much improvement in the instrument of our nation.

I purchased a Stewart brand in London some six years ago. That instrument stood the test of foggy England, misty Scotland, and the bogs of Ireland, and lastly it stood the severe test of 4 trips across that big pond (12,000 miles), the Atlantic Ocean, and hundreds of miles through "God's Country," and it never failed to secure triple encores for the player wherever it was played.

I always like to speak well of the bridge that carries me over, and for this reason I mention this old friend here.

My new Universal Favorite, which I have now purchased, will, I hope, follow in the steps of my first Stewart, and if I am alive and an active member of this universe six years from today, I shall report to "the quiet little man" in Philadelphia how much of a "Favorite" the "Universal" has become, as I expect to play it in Old England, Bonnie Scotland and Merry Ireland before many months.

The improvements made in the Stewart Banjos in six years are many, and you deserve great credit for your faithful Stewardship of the instrument. I am quite sure all well thinking people will agree with me in this.

This letter may be long, but it is much too short to express all I think might be said in your favor for your excellent work, and good results of that work, in your Banjos. With my best wishes, I am, faithfully,

CARRIE DANIELS.

P. S.—So many Banjos are addicted to warping after such damp experiences as England compels one to endure in her fogs, that I feel bound to say what I have said herein about the condition my Stewart was in after all the hard usage. Warp might be scratched out of the dictionary for all the use it has in reports of Stewart Banjos.

W. H. SANDLAND, of the Waterbury Banjo Club, write:

The Orchestra Banjo I ordered of you reached its destination safe and sound. Although I have not yet brought the head down to its proper place, it even exceeded my expectations as to tone, and the finish is superb. I used it last night at a concert with the club, and all the members were struck with it. I will recommend your instruments to the best of my ability in this part of the country.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Nov. 23, 1884.

MR. S. S. STEWART:

DEAR SIR—I received the two banjos (11 inch rim), and I must acknowledge they are the best tone and best finished banjos for the price I ever saw, and I will gladly recommend them to the profession and to my friends generally.

BILLY McALLISTER,
Baird's Minstrels.

JOHN H. MACK, the well known banjoist and comedian, writes, under date of 26th September, as follows:

"I have just sent a card to THE CLIPPER for next week. Now, I promised you when I bought the banjo that I would mention you in my card, but have been so busy that I did not get a chance to put card in CLIPPER. As for that Grand Orchestra banjo I bought, it is a WONDERFUL instrument. People remark, 'whata fine toned banjo that is.' I tell them it is a Stewart banjo, and it is, without doubt, one of the best banjos I ever had, and, in recommending your banjos, you can always use my name if you wish."

Wallace M. GOLDIE, Musical Artist and Comedian, writes as follows:

I received the Banjo in Allentown, Pa., all O. K., and I must say it is one of the BEST I ever had the pleasure of playing upon, and I feel it my duty to write you this short letter and thank you for making me such a fine toned instrument.

It is made just as I ordered it, and suits me to perfection. The tone is LOUD and BRILLIANT, and it is certainly the easiest fingered Banjo I ever saw, and I am well pleased all around with it, and I will speak of it to my friends, in and out of the profession, as the champion of the world, and advertise it in every way I can, for I think you are deserving of all the credit I have given you for the Banjo, and I sincerely hope you may realize some satisfaction from the good word I will always speak of your Banjos.

ARLING SHAEFFER, the Denver, Colo., Teacher, writes concerning a Stewart "Presentation Banjo:"

"It is just a wonderful little beauty, and more than convinces me that Stewart is the only man in the world who can make a really fine banjo."

CHARLES H. PARTEE, Banjo Soloist, Teacher and Composer, of St. Louis, Mo., writes under date of November 7, 1889:

You are at liberty to state that I use only the Stewart Banjos, and after years of constant service your instruments have invariably improved in tone, while none of them have warped or sprung in any manner. If you have any intelligent competition I have not yet been informed of its existence.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6, 1890.

I have been teaching the Banjo now for nearly five years, and in that time have had a chance to try all makes of Banjos, and I have come to the conclusion that the Stewart is, by far, the best Banjo in use. There is something in the tone and touch of your instruments which cannot be found in any other make.

The $75 Banjo I bought from you some years ago is still doing good work at my studio, and has sold lots of your Banjos. O. H. ALBRECHT.

PINE VIEW, Shasta Co., California,
August 22, 1887.

MR. S. S. STEWART:

DEAR SIR: Your letter dated November 10, in answer to mine from Honolulu, H. I., is received, and I now write to say that the Orchestra Banjo you made for me is decidedly the best instrument I have ever used. Hitherto I have been using different makes and styles on all parts of the globe, as well as Clarke's, and I pronounce yours the most perfect instrument I have ever handled. I would have written before, but have been taking a year's rest on my ranch in California (having decided to settle in this part of the world, on account of the climate), after an extended second tour of ten years around the world. I am also much pleased with the tambourine you sent me, and as I now resume my profession I hope soon to use it. Your instrument is like some fruit that grows on my ranch—splendid. Yours faithfully,

WASH. NORTON,
Late Lessee and Proprietor of the Opera Comique, London, England.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 17, 1890.

DEAR MR. STEWART:

It you will kindly allow me space in which to briefly testify to the merits of the S. S. Stewart Banjos, I shall consider it a special favor.

I have used your instruments exclusively ever since my entre to the banjo fraternity, and I can positively assert, that without exception, they are the BEST, in all the essentials that go to produce a first-class instrument, and I never hesitate to recommend them to my pupils and all inquiring for, or in need of, a banjo that will fulfill every claim made for it.

I feel that I cannot speak too highly of your excellent productions—having sufficiently experimented with other makes to know that they do not begin to compare with YOUR instruments. Truly, "Stewart IS King." Very sincerely yours,

FRANK H. LOCKWOOD.

GEO. W. POWERS, the celebrated banjoist, of Primrose & West's Minstrels, under date of May 16, 1890, says:

"I have used the S. S. Stewart Banjos exclusively for about ten years, and pronounce them, without doubt, the best banjos manufactured. I have played them in the Grand Opera House (Philadelphia), in the Boston Theatre and many other large theatres throughout the country. For quality of tone they cannot be excelled."

WM. A. HUNTLEY, the Celebrated Banjoist and Composer, writes from Providence, R., I., under date of Feb. 10, 1890. The following is an extract:

"I have used your banjos, both on and off the stage, for over ten years, which is proof of my high appreciation of them—and of which make of banjo I prefer to use. I never have seen or heard a banjeaurine that had the tone of the Stewart, and I have tried all makes."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 5, 1890.

MR. S. S. STEWART:

MY DEAR SIR: I have in my possession some thirty or forty banjos of different sizes and different makes. I have banjos of nearly every make in this country, and one or two English banjos, and my intention is to increase my store until I have at least one banjo of every prominent maker in the world.

Many of the manufacturers have been gunning me for letters of testimonials for their banjos, but I have made it a rule in my business, when a man asks my opinion as to which is the BEST banjo, to RECOMMEND the best.

I find, after years of comparison with all other makes, that the banjos of your manufacture excel all others in workmanship, tone and finish. The fact of my owning and collecting banjos of other manufacturers does not imply that I acknowledge their superiority over the Stewart banjo. I claim your banjo to be the best in the world, and will continue to do so until some one else makes better instruments than you do.

Yours, very truly,
THOS. J. ARMSTRONG.

HORACE WESTON, the World Renowned Banjoist, writing from New York under date of February 5, 1890, says:

"After using your celebrated banjos for over nine years, I can only say again that I have never found any banjo to equal them."

FRANK SIMPSON, wholesale and retail music and musical instrument seller, of Glasgow, Scotland, writing under date of October 11, thus expresses his opinion of the S. S. Stewar Banjos:

"All we sell give entire satisfaction, and it is very pleasing to know that, of the large number we have sold, not one has been found fault with."

LEW KEYES, Banjo Teacher, of Lewiston, Me., writing under date of November 20, says:

"I still play the Orchestra Banjo you made for me a few years ago, and it is a 'DANDY.' I am teaching here, and this season promises to be better than ever. Five years ago I was the only one that used a Stewart Banjo here, and now there are over a hundred in use in Lewistown and Auburn. This speaks well for the Stewart."

JAMES H. KINE (of Kine Bros.) writes from Maspeth, L. I., as follows:

"The banjo received all right. Candidly speaking, for TONE and FINISH, it surpasses any of the banjos I have ever heard or played on. I have now in my possession a 'Farnham' and two of 'Clarke's' best, which I thought never could be equaled for tone, but I find your banjo excels them in every way."

E. H FREY, Musical Director at Chillicothe, Ohio, writes under date of Nov. 8, 1889:

The Banjeaurine arrived O. K. I am delighted with it; the tone, workmanship, etc., cannot be excelled, and there is no doubt that the Stewart Banjo is the KING OF ALL OTHERS. I like the Banjeaurine much better than the Banjo, as it has a shorter neck, and as I play the violin, can execute difficult passages much more readily. There were several parties called to see my Banjeaurine this A. M.; they were more than surprised with the tone of it.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5, 1890.

S. S. STEWART:

DEAR SIR: Having used your Banjos for the past five or six years, I feel perfectly satisfied in indorsing them as the BEST BANJOS made.

They possess a clear, sweet, yet powerful and carrying tone, that no other Banjo has. I have used them in all kinds of halls, and have no trouble filling the largest of them. Prior to using your instruments, and even since, I have tried every other known make in the United States, and can safely say there are none that equal the Stewart. Very truly yours, GEO. B. ROSS.

Those who are in any way interested in the Banjo should write to S. S. STEWART for his newly issued Catalogue and Price List. (A quarto volume of more than fifty pages).

This volume will be mailed to any address in the U. S. Postal Union on receipt of five cents in U. S. postage stamps. At the same time, he will mail you, with the same, a specimen copy of FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

FOREPAUGH'S TEMPLE THEATRE IN BALTIMORE

Was destroyed by fire on Christmas morning, Dec. 25. I have already notified by telegraph all combinations holding contracts for time at the above house for the balance of the season, that their dates are canceled. Should some of the telegrams not have reached their proper destination, I take this manner of publicly notifying said combinations that their contracts are hereby canceled, and I also wish to return my heartfelt thanks to the numerous friends who have expressed their sympathies for my loss.

Open time for first class attractions only at FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE IN PHILADELPHIA. The highest class and best paying popular priced house in America. For the present season: Weeks of Jan. 19, 26; weeks of Feb. 2, 16; weeks of March 2, 30; weeks of April 6, 20, 27; weeks of May 4, 11, 18, 25. Prefer attractions which have not played Philadelphia during the present season. Address

JOHN A. FOREPAUGH, Proprietor Forepaugh's Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa.

FRENCH'S TROUPE

The best scientific and most laughable COMIC SKATERS in the World. Also TRICK BICYCLISTS and MONOCYCLISTS, 4 in number, 2 Ladies, 2 Gents; 2 distinct specialties; now meeting with enormous success through South America and West Indies, with F. A. Gardner's Grand Circus.

AT LIBERTY, TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FROM JAN. 12, 1891. Address all communications to G. FRENCH, care of CLIPPER.

A FEW OPINIONS OF THE PRESS:

Gardner's Circus.—The best treat of the evening was the grand roller skating by the French troupe. This act provoked roars of laughter, and frequent applause sounded from all parts of the house.—JAMAICA POST, Kingston, Aug. 7, 1890.

The Bicycle Act by the Family French created quite a sensation, and was loudly applauded. Mr. Harry French, on his unicycle, performs some prodigious feats, which must be seen to be believed. It is incomprehensible how he can girate at such lightning like rapidity on only one wheel of his bicycle.—GLEANER, Jamaica, Aug 2, 1890.

The part played by the French Family was simply first class, and new, as it is to us, delighted the audience, and the comic business brought forth roars of laughter.—HERALD, Barbadoes, Aug. 22, 1890.

After the intermission, a grand roller skating entertainment, along with a new sort of pantomime, engaged the audience a while amid continuous bursts of laughter.—GLOBE, Barbadoes, Aug. 28, 1890.

The bicycling and roller skating by the French Family it would be difficult to eclipse.—DAILY CHRONICLE, Georgetown, Demerara, Sept. 10, 1890.

THE TALK OF PHILADELPHIA.

LA PETITE KITTIE,

The Only and Original Liliputian Wonder,

Has made the hit of the show last week at B. F. Keith's Theatre in her character songs, dances, imitations, etc. Read what Tuesday evening's ITEM says, Dec. 23, 1890: "LA PETITE KITTIE delighted the audience with her singing and dancing. She claims to be the very smallest comedienne in the world, and she is probably right. In a few years she bids fair to exchange this title for 'one of the cleverest,' if not the cleverest in the world." This week, B. F. Keith's Bijou Theatre, Boston, Mass. Would be pleased to hear from managers of all first class variety houses. Permanent address, care of CLIPPER.

OPEN TIME.

Owing to change of route I have the following OPEN TIME: Week commencing January 26, '91, February 2, '91, February 16, '91, February 23, '91, March 23, 91, for Chas. MANAGERS AND PERFORMERS, NOTICE.

THE LIVINGSTONES,

THE GREATEST THREE AERIAL BAR PERFORMERS.

Not one of the strongest acts, but the best. We are pleased to see that some of our brother performers have reached the top of the ladder, and do an act that is impossible for any one else to perform, as they are the only ones that possess the talent, and need not patent their apparatus. Now, our performance can be done by any FIRST CLASS ARTIST, and as we think it is worth protecting, have done so. Where did they get the idea? Happy New Years to our friends.

Cuticura Soap For Bad Complexions Red Rough Hands and Baby Humors.

BAD COMPLEXIONS WITH PIMPLY, BLOTCHY, oily skin, Red, Rough Hands, with chaps, painful finger ends and shapeless nails and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP. A marvellous beautifier of world wide celebrity, it is simply incomparable as a Skin Purifying Soap, unequalled for the Toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, CUTICURA SOAP produces the whitest, clearest skin, and softest hands and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, and most complexional disfigurations, while it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps, and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps.
